BIG INSURANCE PLUM FALLS TO ROOSEVELT FIRM

Account Switched by U. S. Ship Agency.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—The capital buzzed today over the announcement that the insurance firm in which James Roosevelt, son of the President, is interested has landed the insurance contract covering the American President Steamship line, which is controled by the United States government.

Announcement of the contract was made in Boston by John A. Sargent, president and treasurer of Roosevelt & Sargent, Inc., the insurance firm founded by Jimmy. The President's wife is a director of the concern, looking after her son's interests. James Roosevelt resigned from the company when he entered the motion picture industry, but the White House admitted that he still maintained an interest in it.

McAdoo Chairman of Line.

The chairman of the American President line is William Gibbs McAdoo, a New Deal senator who was defeated in the Democratic primaries in 1938. After his defeat, the Californian was given the $25,000 a year job as head of the steamship concern, which formerly was known as the Dollar Steamship Lines.

The federal government now controls the line thru 90 per cent of the common stock held by the United States Maritime commission. This stock interest was obtained when the famous old Dollar lines were reorganized in 1938.

The government had come into the picture by an accumulation of about $7,000,000 in mortgages on the line's ships after the company ran into financial and labor troubles.

Mother Becomes Director.

The line resumed active operations under government control after obtaining an RFC loan of 4½ million dollars, and an annual operating subsidy of 3 million dollars from the maritime commission for a 5 year period. The line's insurance account had been held by a San Francisco firm.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt became a director of Roosevelt & Sargent on Dec. 14, 1938, after her son resigned from the firm to accept a position in Hollywood as vice president of Samuel Goldwyn, Inc. He recently resigned that position to head his own picture producing company.

Jimmy Roosevelt had resigned from the insurance firm after a magazine article accused him of using his father's office to promote insurance business. Previously he had served as the President's secretary for a while.

Denies Making Large Profits.

James answered the article with a denial that he had ever written any insurance "that might by any definition be called political." He also denied that his insurance earnings amounted to between $250,000 and $2,000,000 a year, and insisted that his earning in 1933 and 1934, the years in question, ranged between $21,000 and $49,000. It was later disclosed that James had split his insurance income with his wife, whom he is now suing for divorce, in order to avoid income tax payments.

TIP FOR BRIDES: YOUR HUSBAND IS REALLY A BABY!

Men are babies. They must feel that they are loved and looked after. Baby them—but not too much!

Such, in brief, were the observations and advice sagely offered the junior membership of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs last night by Miss Evelyn DeRango at a "school for brides" meeting held in the Hotel Sherman. Miss DeRango, pretty, rosy faced, a very junior member of the second district federation, spoke on "Choosing a Partner."

"I am a firm believer in the theory that men are what you make them," Miss DeRango declared. "If a wife lets her husband slouch, mumble, interrupt, hem and haw, and do things like that he will surely betray his lack of social training when among friends—and he'll have to take the consequences.

"But a wise and affectionate wife knows how to sugar the pill and make her advice acceptable. Don't forget that a leading sociologist said that a husband is heaven's gift to a woman."

2% SLUSH FUND AGENT ACCUSED OF JOLIET LEVY

Vandalia Farm Head Named in Theft.

Two employes of Gov. Horner's administration were indicted by grand juries yesterday—one in Joliet, another in Vandalia. One is accused of collecting Democratic campaign funds from Illinois civil service employes in violation of state law; the other of stealing state property. The news follows:

SLUSH COLLECTOR INDICTED

Harold A. Stone, collector of the Horner administration's 2 per cent levy on the salaries of state employés, was indicted yesterday by the Will county grand jury in Joliet. The jury had been investigating activities of the campaign fund collecting agency — known as the Illinoisans —for three weeks.

Harold A. Stone.

Stone was named in three indictments charging him with unlawfully and feloniously receiving political contributions and assessments from state civil service employés. The indictments were returned before Circuit Judge James V. Bartley.

Judge Bartley said an order for Stone's arrest would be issued today and turned over to State's Attorney James E. Burke. Bond on each of the indictments was set at $2,000.

Agent Reported to Be in Florida.

Stone, who was given a leave some time ago from his state job in the old age assistance division, was reported last night to be in Florida. He was said to have gone there after a subpena had been issued for his appearance before the grand jury.

Stone appeared in Joliet early last fall and made his collecting headquarters in the Joliet and Statevill) prisons. Later he moved his office to the Louis Joliet hotel in Joliet after being threatened with prosecution under a state law prohibiting the solicitation of state employés on the premises of state institutions.

The indictments charged Stone with receiving political assessments from three guards in the Joliet penitentiary. The guards are Lee R. Arnold, Roy Carlton, and Robert F. Crobie. The indictments charged that each paid Stone an assessment of 2 per cent of a month's salary—in their cases $2.35.

Forced Payment Charged.

The collection system was exposed after many state employés complained of what they described as forced political payment for their jobs. A formal complaint was made to the state civil service commission that one state employé had lost his job after refusing to pay the levy.

Henderson Gibson, a former civil service guard in Joliet penitentiary, was one of the witnesses before the grand jury. He told how he paid the 2 per cent assessment from his salary.

"There wasn't much explanation except that it was for the Democratic campaign fund," Gibson was reported to have testified. He told how Capt. James McGuire of the prison guards told him: "You know what this means. Pay up—or else."

Provisions of Law.

The state civil service law reads: "No officer or employé shall solicit, orally or by letter, or receive, or be in any manner concerned in soliciting or receiving any assessment, subscription, or contribution from any member of the classified service for any party or political purpose whatever."

State's Attorney Burke called the grand jury investigation after Attorney General John E. Cassidy refused to act on evidence given him by the Union League club of Chicago.

VANDALIA CHIEF INDICTED

Vandalia, Ill., Feb. 23 [Special].—George E. Ray, superintendent of the state penal farm here, who has been a political storm center, was indicted today by a grand jury on a charge of theft of farm machinery belonging to the state.

WORKING ON THE CUT-OFF VALVE

FINNS FLUSH OUT LAST REMNANTS OF RED DIVISION

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE FINNISH FRONT, Northeast of Lake Ladoga, Feb. 20 [Delayed].—In making a tour of this great battlefield where the Finns are mopping up the remnants of the destroyed Russian 18th division, we had to make a wide semi-circle around isolated Russian positions to reach the latest mopped up motti.

[The Finns give the name motti to a nest of Russians who have been isolated in their dug-in position.]

This motti was flanked by two others, one containing the remains of a soviet tank battalion, whose commander, Gen. Conradiev, and many other high officers recently were decorated with the title, "Hero of the soviet union."

Two Generals Trapped.

Together with Conradiev was the commander of his army corps, Gen. Cheripanov, who was making a tour of inspection of the front Russian lines when Finnish counterattacks trapped them and prevented their return.

Other mottis, much larger, were being shelled and attacked by Finnish patrols as we walked down the road where the Finns the night before had surprised the Russians and where more than 1,200 men were killed and 250 taken prisoner.

On both sides of the road were tanks and cannon and cars and sleds. Russian bodies were lying everywhere —under the wagons, in the trenches, and half out of the tar , their faces frozen blue-black.

At one point on the road, the Finns had placed a number of bodies upright in the snow, making a ghastly group of figures which looked as tho they had been turned to stone while running for shelter.

Sees Captured Booty.

Along a two mile stretch of road we counted 20 tanks, 23 field pieces, including several 6 inch howitzers, 30 antitank guns, 25 motor cars, 70 tractors, 6 antiaircraft guns, 4 barreled machine guns, and 32 field kitchens. This material indicated the detachment was the remainder of an entire Red army brigade.

The Finns were busy collecting the booty, and, to the delight of the officers, most of the field pieces were in good condition, with plenty of usable ammunition.

The Russians had converged along the road into trenches, but had only constructed a few salients. The thick forest enabled the Finns to approach close to the Russian defenses. Shell holes along the road and the cadavers of horses killed by shell fire testified to the accuracy of the Finnish artillery fire.

Besieged for Six Weeks.

The Russians had been besieged at this place for six weeks and altho the colonel directing the Finnish attack appealed to them to surrender, informing them of the Finns' determination to destroy them, they refused to give in. The captives related how their political commissars had told them they would be tortured to death by the Finns.

The road was crowded with Finnish troops and sleds which were busy hauling away the spoils. The officers who showed me the dugouts told how the Finns had destroyed 28 such mottis during the last few weeks. Others still remain to be attacked.

The Finns' first lines really consist of a few posts and between these the ski patrols creep into the forest towards the Russian positions.

Pressed to Exhaustion.

In the forest, on both sides of the road, we continually heard short bursts of fire from submachine guns and occasional rifle shots while every few minutes some Finnish field gun spoke and we heard the shell explode in the Russian positions. This activity, the Finns explained, is kept up week in and week out until the final attack is made upon the demoralized and exhausted foe.

The captured motti which we visited is located on a road leading up toward Suojarvi. This is far in front of the real Finnish defenses. From Lake Ladoga the Mannerheim fortified zone continues northward. Several invading divisions of the Russian army whose objective was to capture Sortavala and continue around the shore of Lake Ladoga have made small progress here since the middle of December.

Of both men and material, the Russian losses on this front have been large. I heard estimates as high as 40,000 men. Finnish casualties have been kept secret by the authorities.

FINNS FALL BACK IN BATTLE ALONG 30 MILE FRONT

Russians 10 Miles from Key City.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Feb. 23 (AP).—The Russian army thrust forward at several points along a jagged 30 mile front in an intensified drive thru the western half of the Mannerheim line today, but at tremendous cost. The Reds lost about 2,800 men killed in yesterday's combat, a Finnish communique said.

The Russian penetration at one point was 10 to 12 miles from Viipuri, in the vicinity of Naykki lake. The lake is 4 miles northwest of the Kamara railway station, where fighting began Thursday.

The Russian dead, the communique said, approximated two battalions—about 2,000 men—in one sector and 800 in another in the fighting on the isthmus.

Several Factors Favor Finns.

The widened front and the indication of the soviet advance toward Viipuri, together with the fact that this was acknowledged by the Finns, might seem to present a serious picture for the defenders, but there were several additional factors weighing strongly in their favor. These were:

1. The Finnish army is making the most of its man made fortifications, aided by deep gullies between forested plateaus and along ice crusted lakes thru which a large army can penetrate only slowly. The Finnish retreat from frontal positions was calculated to save men; it was done slowly and, according to Finnish military sources, with loss of thousands of men to the Russians.

2. The Russians have advanced only a few miles thru the Mannerheim line, altho their concentrated drive already is 23 days old and the Finns mentioned fighting in the Summa sector as far back as Jan. 22. Foreign military observers said there is no reason to believe the advance will be speeded up in the near future.

Face Hard Path to Capital.

3. Should the Russians capture Viipuri they would gain a considerable advantage, but to reach Helsingfors they would still have to drive thru natural barriers of hundreds of lakes and thru a series of well laid military fortifications.

4. Finnish military strategy appears to be to hold every position as long as possible without causing heavy Finnish losses, then to withdraw slightly, exacting from the enemy heavy tolls in dead and taking from them artillery and other war materials.

5. The Finns are receiving some foreign help. Altho it is not now bringing the quantity of planes and men they would like, there always is the prospect that great quantities of either or both would change the picture quickly.

Fighting in Six Regions.

Today's communique said that there was fighting in six regions yesterday. The areas of combat were along the line from Ylasomme, near the Gulf of Finland, curving slightly northward to Lake Naykki, jagging south to Kamara, almost directly south to Leipasuo, between Lake Muolaa and Ayrapaan and on Lake Ayrapaan itself. A seventh minor effort was at Salmenkaita.

Altho the western side of the isthmus saw the most intense fighting, the Finns reported having repulsed a Russian attack also at Taipale, on the eastern end of the line on the shore of Lake Ladoga.

"Between Lake Muolaa and Lake Ayrapaan the enemy attacked twice," the communique said, "leaving behind him each time as he withdrew about a battalion killed. An enemy force that attacked across Lake Ayrapaan at Sikniemi was repulsed and lost about 800 killed and 100 prisoners."

22 Tanks Reported Destroyed.

The Finns reported destroying 16 tanks on the isthmus and six more north of Lake Ladoga, where they also said they captured large quantities of war material. They said they wiped out patrols farther north at Kuhmo.

The Finns said the Russians killed 12 women and children in an air raid

Manteno Jury, Out 32 Hours, Takes a Rest

After 32 hours of almost continuous session, the jury of eight women and four men considering the case of A. L. Bowen, state welfare director, recessed at midnight last night in the Kankakee county Circuit court at Kankakee. At that hour the jurors were reported to be standing 7 to 5 for conviction, without a verdict in sight.

Clair Mann, jury foreman, summoned the bailiffs at midnight, and told them it was impossible for the jurors to continue without sleep. Tired and bedraggled, the men and women jurors at once repaired to their separate quarters. They planned to resume deliberations at 7 a. m.

Charged with Negligence.

Bowen is charged with gross omission of duty as an outgrowth of the typhoid epidemic at the Manteno state hospital last summer and fall. The epidemic took the lives of 60 persons and caused the illness of 453 other.

Judge James V. Bartley, who presided at the trial, sent word from his home in Joliet that he would hold the jurors to their task until a verdict had been reached. With the exception of a five hour nap early yesterday, and time out for food, the jurors had been deliberating the case since 3:42 p. m. Thursday.

Their marathon had set a record for long jury sessions in Kankakee county. In Cook county there have been a few longer sessions—of 41 and 48 hours—but, generally speaking, a jury is discharged here if no verdict is reached after two days.

Judge Awaits Verdict.

Judge Bartley said he would be in Kankakee this morning, if the jury wanted to ask him any questions. However, since their deliberations began, the jurors have expressed no interest in seeking further instructions.

Separate sleeping quarters have been arranged for the women, most of whom seemed to be in need of rest when they were observed on their walk to a courthouse room where they had dinner. Unprepared for such a long session, the women were caught without a change of clothing. Several washed their stockings in the washrooms.

All the women are housewives. The oldest is 64, the youngest 36. One was the envy of her colleagues. She had had the foresight to bring carpet slippers.

In general, according to the bailiffs, John Stack and Mrs. Lillian Lund, who spent the night sitting on pillows, the women seemed to be standing the hardships better than the men. All the male jurors were unshaven.

Defendant in Seclusion.

Bowen, who is 70 years old, has not been in the courtroom since late Thursday. Last night he remained in seclusion at an apartment in the Kankakee state hospital.

The state charged during the trial that polluted water caused the Manteno epidemic, and that Bowen knew of dangerous conditions, but ignored them. The defense blamed the epidemic on a human carrier.

The charge against Bowen carries a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine or removal from office, or both. If convicted, Bowen's punishment would be set by Judge Bartley.

PACK OF WILD DOGS RAIDS GAME FARM; 40 TURKEYS KILLED

Wild dogs raided the Clearbrook farm, a private game and fish preserve north of Elgin, yesterday, killing 40 wild turkeys and injuring many more. Carl Effers, gamekeeper, heard the uproar, seized his shotgun, and killed one of the dogs. The others escaped thru a hole they had dug under a high wire fence.

This was the second serious loss for the farm, which is owned by Max McGraw, electrical appliance manufacturer. Last fall 2,700 pheasants were found dead, apparently the result of eating fermented grain.

Wild dog depredations in northern Illinois counties have become increasingly serious in recent years.

GENEROUS OZARK UNKNOWN SENDS OUT $100 CHECKS

Springfield, Mo., Feb. 23 (AP).—A generous but mysterious "sunshine friend" had the Missouri Ozark country beside itself waiting for the mail man.

Cashiers' checks of $100 or more are arriving unexpectedly at homes with this penned admonition:

"Use this and try to make somebody as happy as this makes you."

The gifts to charitable and other organizations in Springfield total $12,900. Now three former merchants and a widow living in nearby Ava, Mo., have received checks. One check was for $150, the others for $100 each.

Empires Plan to Pay Billion for U. S. Planes

New York, Feb. 23 [Special].—Additional orders for aircraft that may amount to as much as a billion dollars will be placed with manufacturers in the United States, the British and French purchasing commissions announced today. The announcement was the first official disclosure of the possible size of the empires' purchases here.

The British and French governments have decided to place as much aircraft business in America as possible, the announcement revealed. This decision, now a definite policy of the allied powers, "was, in a large part, reached on the basis of the highly satisfactory reports that have been received on aircraft which has already been delivered."

Want All Above Needs.

The announcement indicated that the decision amounted to one to buy up all the production above American defense needs that the American aviation industry is capable of turning out in so far as this is suited to empire requirements, for it pointed out that the billion dollar figure was contingent on the production of the industries allied with aircraft manufacture.

"The placing of vast additional orders for American aircraft depends on a number of factors," the commission said. "The two most important include the demands of the United States government and commercial aviation, and the solving of the production problems of those industries closely allied to aviation.

Make Study of Problems.

"These problems, the allied commissions stated, are being carefully investigated at the present time. Altho it is difficult to estimate the quantities or types of planes that will be required, the commissions express the opinion that the business to be placed with American manufacturers may reach a billion dollars."

The decision was taken only after "the closest coöperation and consultation with the federal government's synchronization committee." This committee is intended to insure that the empires' war orders will not interfere with the administration's preparedness program and that the permanent interests of American industry will be safeguarded, avoiding, if possible, industrial overexpansion.

The commissions' announcement confirmed previous unofficial reports that the empires would look elsewhere for other products.

yesterday on the town of Iisalmi, in central Finland. The communique said Vartsila, Nurmes, Lieksa, Kajaani, Kontiomaki, Rovaniemi, and certain other localities also were raided.

The Russians dropped a few parachute patrols behind the lines again, the communique said, but they were either killed or taken prisoner.

Snow and Fog Hinder Reds.

MOSCOW, Feb. 24, Saturday (AP).—The command of the Leningrad soviet military area announced today that heavy snow and fog had hampered the Red army offensive on the Karelian isthmus, but that 12 Finnish fortifications had been occupied yesterday. The Reds now claim to have captured a total of 687 fortifications in the Mannerheim line.

FIGHTING RUSSIAN ATTACKS NOTHING NEW TO VIIPURI

Viipuri [Viborg], Finland's second largest city and the objective of Russia's present offensive, has seen many armed sieges and fierce battles in its long history as the bulwark against attacks from the east. In recent years the city has been the eastern commercial center and principal timber port of Finland.

From its early days, even before the city grew up around the castle by Torkel, the son of Knut, during the Swedish crusades in 1293, Viipuri has been a fortified area. Its position on a cape and islands guarding the Bay of Viipuri make the city an important military objective. It is the junction for five railroads and seven main highways besides being the outlet for extensive inland waterways running to the sea.

During the 15th and 16th centuries the entire city was confined within walls. In 1495 Russian attacks were repulsed with flaming barrels of pitch and tar. Since then Viipuri has been in and out of Russian hands several times. The last occasion was when the Finns captured the city on April 29, 1918, as the last outstanding victory in the war of independence.

URUGUAY FACES CRISIS; DEFENSE MINISTER IS OUT

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Feb. 23 (AP).—Representative government faced a crisis in Uruguay today as President Alfredo Baldomir accepted "with reluctance" the resignation of his minister of national defense, rebuked congress and suggested a revision of the constitution.

These developments follo ved several days of maneuvering behind the scenes, during which the president had striven to keep the defense minister, Gen. Alfredo Campos, at his post.

In a letter to Campos, the president said that he was forced to accept his resignation because of the same opposition that other ministers had previously met in the "careless, misguided and unenlightened congress."

VATICAN ENVOY TO VISIT GERMAN AREA IN POLAND

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 23 (AP).—A Vatican news service said today it had been announced in Berlin that Msgr. Cesare Orsenigo, papal nuncio to Germany, will go to Poland soon to observe religious conditions there. The news service said the proposed trip resulted from a special meeting of cardinals at the Vatican.

The Polish embassies to the Holy See and Italy recently issued reports charging the German secret police occupied section of Poland with persecution and atrocities allegedly aimed at extermination of Catholic and other authorities of the German Polish inhabitants. German officials denied the charges.

Abide by Rules, British Censor Warns the Press

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP).—Sir Walter Monckton, the British chief censor, said today that he had submitted to the public prosecutor papers in cases of censorship dodging, but added that none has been prosecuted.

He told a press club luncheon that certain newspapers which "prefer to do their own censorship" will not be allowed indefinitely to escape regulations which others have accepted.

Reds Push Three Drives Against Finns

RED ARMY IS 22 YEARS OLD; GETS NO BIRTHDAY GIFT

Blocked by Tiny but Mighty Foe.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Feb. 23.—The anniversary of the founding of the Red army 22 years ago today finds that military organization, which Russia began to build in preparation for a world revolution, held up by Finland, a country of less than 4,000,000 population.

Each year the military might of Russia has gone on display in a great martial parade in Red square in Moscow. This year the army's birthday was to have been marked by the capture of Viipuri, key city behind Finland's Mannerheim line. But after 12 weeks of fighting this has not yet been achieved.

Called Voroshilov Offensive.

The drive of the Red army against the Mannerheim line is called the Voroshilov offensive. Klementi Voroshilov is Russian commissar for defense. His objective was an important victory for the birthday celebrations.

Thruout Russia the Red army again paraded today and its leaders again proclaimed the fighting forces the mightiest weapon ever organized by man.

Gen. B. H. Shaposhnikov, chief of general staff and the only remaining officer of the Red army who received his military education in the czarist army, now is in command of operations against Finland. According to the soviet radio he is supposed to have promised Dictator Stalin a bridge of Finnish corpses across the Mannerheim line to celebrate the army's birthday.

Reds Use 300,000 Men.

During their attacks on the Mannerheim defenses, which still continue with fresh divisions, the Russians are supposed to have used 300,000 men without counting tank regiments and the air force. In these attacks the Reds have suffered large losses. The Finns claim that the Russians have lost 60,000 men in the past three weeks. As a result of the attacks the Russians have gained a few outposts in the Mannerheim defense zone and have not advanced a foot on any of the fronts in northern Finland.

[The Red army in 1918 was first composed of workers, sailors, and professional revolutionaries to guard the republic against attacks by white armies and interventionist forces. Gradually the army was enlarged and mechanized. The original soldier's oath of allegiance to the communist cause of liberating the world's workers was changed in 1938 to allegiance to superiors.]

Bomb symbols mark cities reported attacked by soviet planes yesterday.

Whip Up Military Ardor.

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (AP).—The press, radio, and countless meetings on the 22d anniversary of the Red army today tolled off glowing accounts of recent successes against the Finns and used such words as "liberator of oppressed peoples," "humanity's hope," and "Invincible guard of the socialist fatherland" to describe the nation's armed forces.

The occasion also was used to stress the necessity for civilians to become proficient in military sciences, organization of air raid precautions units, and the training of pilots, parachutists, skiiers, and nurses.

France Approves Marriage of Soldiers After Death

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The chamber of deputies today approved the government's proposal to authorize marriages of French soldiers and sailors after death if the men before death had expressed the intention of getting married. Such marriages will make their children legitimate. Under the scheme the widows will have pension rights.

ASSERTS EMPIRE PLAN IN BALKANS BOTHERS ITALIANS

Spread of War Predicted by Fascist Press.

ROME, Feb. 23 (AP).—Italy has "no reason to regard future British-French plans in southeastern Europe with complete tranquility and confidence," Il Giornale d'Italia said tonight in an article many observers took as authoritatively inspired.

The statement was published above the signature of the newspaper's correspondent in Sofia, Bulgaria. It attracted great interest in diplomatic circles as going further in interpreting Italian policy than fascist newspapermen are accustomed to do on their own initiative.

It appeared on a day when imminent extension of the European war to new fronts was forecast widely in the Fascist press.

The possibilities cited nearly boxed the compass. They ranged from the Caucasus, where Russia has rich oil fields near the Turkish border, to the Balkans, Scandinavia, Finland, and the Barents sea, that body of Arctic water off northern Russia, Finland, and Scandinavia.

Il Piccolo said in a headline: "Intensive war preparations in the east—the allies are seeking a near battlefield." Il Popolo di Roma said: "London threatens the Kremlin with war." Il Messagero asserted: "London wants decisive action."

Criticizes Fascist "Mysticism."

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 23 (AP).—L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican City newspaper, in an article dealing with Fascist mysticism, today questioned unrestrained use of any order to obey and believe where human beings are concerned.

The motto of the Fascist party held up to all Italians is "believe, obey, fight." It is Premier Mussolini who is to be believed and obeyed.

L'Osservatore Romano's comment was inspired by a speech by F. Mezzasoma, vice secretary of the party, in Milan before the Congress of Fascist Mysticism.

Says Motto Inspires Mysticism.

Mezzasoma had said that "in fascism all is mysticism because all is inspired by the motto, 'Believe, obey, fight'."

"When one speaks of God," L'Osservatore Romano said, "the duty of unconditional belief is legitimate. But when one is dealing with human beings, there should be ends and limits. This must be said in order not to justify the dangerous spirit of ideologies which always lead to damaging practical consequences.

"This language of myths and political mysticism seems very alien to our Italian and Christian mentality and it is permitted to hope for a return to soberer, truer expressions."

France Ousts 61 Communist Municipal Councillors

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Georges Bonnet, French minister of justice, today signed a degree expelling 61 communist municipal councillors from their posts.

TURKS DECLARE AN EMERGENCY, BELGRADE HEARS

Trouble Reported on Russian Frontier.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Feb. 23.—The supreme defense council of Turkey, presided over by Field Marshal Fevzi Karmak, commander in chief of the armed forces, was reported today to have declared a state of emergency thruout the country.

After meeting in Ankara for nearly a week, the council was said to have taken this decision under an emergency law voted a few weeks ago by the Turkish parliament. That law specified three circumstances in which a state of emergency might be declared:

1. Partial or general mobilization.
2. War between Turkey and another power.
3. War between two third powers which might constitute a threat to Turkish interests.

Phone Communication Cut.

All telephone communication between Turkey and the outside world was cut off yesterday. It is not known here which of the three conditions might have been invoked as justifying a state of emergency. It is believed in authoritative quarters here, however, that reports of a serious Russian-Turkish frontier incident are true, altho such an incident has been denied in Moscow.

The reports said that a detachment of Russian troops crossed the Caucasus frontier into Turkey and declined to withdraw. It was authoritatively reported here late this evening that Russian troops still are in Turkish territory, tho it is not known whether there has been any clash.

Facts of the incident are obscure. One report said that a battalion of soviet troops crossed the frontier and was disarmed by the Turks. The Turks, it was reported, then invited the soviet authorities to send a detachment to recover the arms but interned the soldiers, who seemed to have been deserters.

The Russians, thereupon, one account said, sent a cavalry detachment to pick up the equipment. Once over the frontier, however, this second detachment declined to return to Russia. Whether they are genuine deserters or agents provocateurs is unknown.

The Turkish supreme defense council also decided, it was reported, to form a council to coördinate emergency measures. It is to be presided over by the prime minister and includes the ministers of defense, finance, commerce, economics, and communications. Parliament, it is reported, will be summoned to ratify these measures.

An Istanbul dispatch announced early in the week that Russia had recalled hundreds of Russian experts from Turkey.

Germans Go to Iran.

Considerable interest has been aroused by the unusually large traffic of German citizens inexplicably traveling to Turkey at a time when German experts there are being expelled.

These Germans describe themselves as merchants. It was noted, however, that they are going to Turkey at a time when genuine German business men are steadily departing from Turkey.

A considerable number of Germans also have been traveling thru the Balkans en route to Iran and Arabia. It is believed all these men are German officers. While their purpose can be only surmised, their passage is remarked on here as coinciding with the known development of German economic plans in the near east.

The Deutsche Levant Line, which has established headquarters in Odessa, is prepared to organize a steamship service this spring to carry Persian goods from Trebizond and Batum to the Danube.

BULGAR AND RUMANIAN DIPLOMATS TOSS HATS AS SIGN OF FRIENDSHIP

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 23 (AP).—Bulgarian and Rumanian diplomats, their countries bitter enemies since 1913, threw tophats into the air and cheered a new found friendship tonight in an unprecedented scene at the Sofia railway station. The demonstration was touched off when Rumanian Finance Minister Mititza Constanttinescu, departing after a two day conference here, shouted: "Long live Bulgaria!"

Diplomatic observers said that during his visit Constanttinescu gave the impression his government might be willing to end the long standing dispute with Bulgaria by returning part of her war lost Dobruja territory, provided it would not incite Hungary and Russia to move to get back their former territories now held by Rumania.

BELIEVE EMPIRES TRY TO PLUG FLOW OF IRON TO NAZIS

Germany Gets Ore from Norwegian Port.

BULLETIN.

BERGEN, Norway, Feb. 23.—Reports reached here today from Vardoe to the effect that a British troopship escorted by three destroyers had been sighted by fishermen. The troopship was headed in the direction of Petsamo, Finland.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Feb. 23 (AP).—British and French action in thrusting an arm of the blockade against Germany into the Arctic off northern Norway, Finland, and soviet Russia was interpreted here tonight as possibly aimed primarily at halting German transport of high grade iron ore from Kirkenes, northern Norwegian port.

Scandinavian commercial circles said they believed a secondary motive was the blocking of any effort by German vessels which may be taking refuge in Murmansk, Russia's ice free port in that region, to get back to Germany.

[Authoritative British sources in London declined to discuss Scandinavian advices that British and French warships had begun a blockade of arctic waters off Murmansk. The admiralty said any comment might give information to the enemy. French officials said they had "no information."]

Scoff at Rumors of Aid.

Scandinavians shrugged off rumors that the British intended to land troops and equipment in the Petsamo area—occupied early in the Finnish-Russian war by Russian forces—as an aid to Finland. They said that weather, if no other factor, would be against such a procedure.

Likewise there was no support for rumors that a clash with the soviet Arctic navy already had occurred.

Both Norwegian and Swedish iron ore is loaded at Kirkenes, a modern little port with a good harbor.

Must Leave Norse Waters.

Commercial circles asserted that as a rule ships must proceed outside territorial waters there, on account of the weather, before gaining the shelter of the numerous islands dotting the Norwegian coastline.

They said they believed the British intended to safeguard their own shipments of ore from Kirkenes while trying to halt the flow of supplies to Germany.

Meanwhile, with Baltic sea transport stopped by ice, Germans were reported busy shipping Swedish high grade ore from Narvik, on the west coast of Norway. From Narvik German ships have the protection of Norwegian territorial waters, merging into Swedish and Danish waters en route to Germany.

Assails Sinking of Ships.

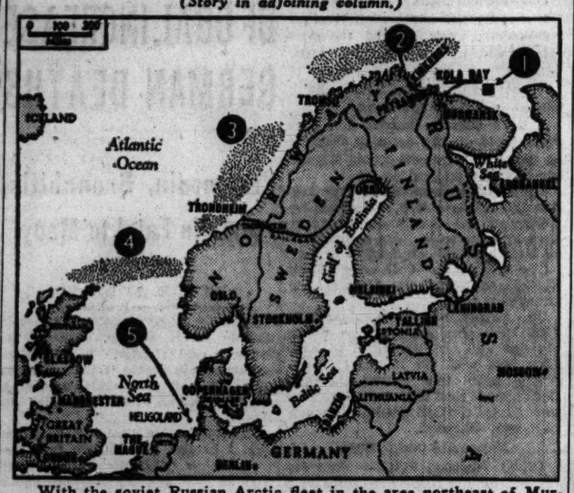
The Oslo newspaper Arbaider Bladet, mouthpiece of the Norwegian government, asserted in a stern editorial that "that big power which torpedoes our ships and murders our sailors while causing enormous financial loss to us has its ore boats plying along our coast.

"They have the right to navigate our coast according to present international law. We respect this law. Should not this respect for their ships from our side be of a certain value to those who steadily pursue our commercial ships?"

The same newspaper charged that submarine warfare had developed to "purest piracy."

Britain and France Extend Blockade

(Story in adjoining column.)



With the soviet Russian Arctic fleet in the area northeast of Murmansk (1), British and French warships have set up a blockade in dotted area off Kirkenes, Norway (2), believed to be intended to prevent shipment of iron ore to Germany. In addition, British and French navies have intensified their blockade in dotted area off Scandinavian coast (3) to prevent German use of territorial waters. Meantime the blockade across the north mouth of the North sea (4) continues. The British announced yesterday that their planes had bombed German warships in Heligoland bight (5).

NORWAY MAY ASK ARBITRATION OF ALTMARK CASE

Refloat Prison Ship; Open Inquiry.

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 23 (AP).—Authoritative sources said tonight that the Norwegian government would propose to Great Britain that the Altmark incident be settled by arbitration if the two countries fail to reach an agreement soon.

No details of the arbitration plan were disclosed pending further negotiations, but it was recalled that the Oslo newspaper, Shipping Times, had suggested that the matter be submitted to a tribunal headed by President Roosevelt.

Norway Asks Compensation.

The negotiations began immediately after the incident of Feb. 16, when the British destroyer Cossack entered Norwegian territorial waters, cornered the Altmark in Josing fjord and removed 299 British seamen which the German vessel was transporting back to Germany as prisoners of war. Six German sailors were killed in the clash, another died later in a hospital and an eighth has been reported missing.

The principal stumbling block to closing of the incident has been Norway's demand that Britain return the prisoners for internment in Norway and that it pay suitable compensation. Thus far Britain has shown no disposition to meet these demands.

The Altmark was refloated tonight under its own power and was riding high in Josing fjord, clear of the rocky bank onto which it was forced by the British. Divers examined the vessel and reported that there was no damage except for a smashed rudder.

Norwegians Open Inquiry.

Norwegian authorities opened a formal investigation at Akersund, near Josing fjord, of the British raid on the Altmark. Norwegian naval officers and eyewitnesses of the encounter between the Cossack and the German vessel will be questioned.

The newspaper Aftenposten said the authorities would seek to find out who began the shooting, whether Germans who fled ashore from the Altmark were fired upon from the Cossack and whether it was true that a German sailor who jumped into the fjord from the Altmark was not allowed to go aboard a Norwegian torpedo boat.

HITLER TO CONFER WITH ROOSEVELT PEACE EMISSARY

Arrange Details of Visit by Welles to Berlin.

BERLIN, Feb. 23 (AP).—Adolf Hitler will receive Sumner Welles, American undersecretary of state, when he arrives in Berlin, possibly next Tuesday or Wednesday, on his fact-finding tour of European capitals as President Roosevelt's personal emissary.

Alexander C. Kirk.

Welles' tentative program here, as disclosed today, calls for a meeting first with Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop. The conference with Hitler will follow immediately.

Alexander C. Kirk, American chargé d'affaires, conferred for 40 minutes today with Baron Ernst von Weizsaecker, German undersecretary of state, apparently to arrange details of Welles' visit.

Confer with Dieckhoff.

Both Von Ribbentrop and Von Weizsaecker have kept in close contact with Dr. Hans H. Dieckhoff, who still holds the title of German ambassador to the United States despite his absence from Washington, D. C., since late in 1938.

Dieckhoff was ordered home on Nov. 18, 1938, to explain American views on the German anti-Jewish campaign, two days after Hugh R. Wilson, American ambassador to Berlin, was summoned to Washington "to report."

Welles, who will study possibilities for peace, is understood to have been represented favorably to official Berlin by Dieckhoff. Thus German authorities appear disposed to coöperate in giving him the information he desires.

Italian Ship Gets Quick Search.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Feb. 23.—Sumner Welles, American undersecretary of state, today saw how England slips the boats of neutral Italy thru the blockade while American ships are delayed for days and sometimes weeks.

The strategic Strait of Gibraltar was crowded with waiting ships, mainly freighters, as the liner Rex arrived at 3 p. m. with President Roosevelt's peace envoy aboard.

In four hours British naval officers examined the passenger list, seized 334 sacks of German mail, and sent the Rex on her way to Naples. It was the shortest time the Rex had been held here. Some persons remarked that it represented a distinct compliment to Welles. The American liner Manhattan recently was held 22 hours at Gibraltar.

Watches Officers Arrive.

Welles, author of the American protest against British discrimination, watched from the deck as a British boarding tug appeared. The British contraband control officers did not visit the first class sections of the liner where Welles is quartered.

Still convalescent from influenza, the undersecretary of state declined to go ashore to lunch with the commandant at Gibraltar, but several British officials came aboard to pay their respects and to report on the control system.

BILL FOR FINNISH LOAN FROM U. S. MOVES UP NOTCH

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Finland's chances for an additional $20,000,000 loan for nonmilitary purchases advanced a step today when the house banking committee recommended a $100,000,000 increase in the Export-Import bank's lending capital.

Altho refusing to eliminate the restrictions on use of the funds for military equipment, the committee adopted an amendment to the senate approved bill to exempt commercial aircraft from that ban. It also wrote in a provision which would deny loans to any country in default on its war debt payments to the United States. Representative William B. Barry [D., N. Y.], sponsor of that provision, asserted the restriction would not affect Finland. The committee's final vote on the bill was 18 to 5.

The bill did not specify any country to which loans could be made, but Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, had told the committee the intention was to lend Finland $20,000,000 in addition to the $10,000,000 that country previously borrowed. Jones said loans of $10,000,000 each also would be made to Sweden and Norway.

SWEDEN ASSERTS QUIZ SHOWS REDS BOMBED VILLAGE

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 23 (AP).—The Swedish foreign office, commenting on a denial by Tass, soviet official news agency, that Russian planes had bombed the Swedish frontier town of Prajala, tonight said an investigation showed that the bombers were Russian. It was said that fragments of Russian made bombs were found in the village.

The foreign office said that when the Swedish chargé d'affaires called at the Kremlin yesterday to deliver a protest against the bombing, he was given an oral denial similar to the one carried today by Tass. No formal reply has been received from Moscow.

Foreign Minister Christian Gunther postponed his departure for a conference of Scandinavian foreign ministers at Copenhagen to meet tomorrow morning with the foreign affairs committee of the rigsdag [parliament]. He will leave for Copenhagen by plane as soon as the meeting is over.

ATTACK RUSSIA! HORE-BELISHA'S PLEA TO BRITAIN

London Throngs Honor Spee Conquerors.

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Great Britain and France were exhorted tonight by Leslie Hore-Belisha, ousted war minister, to make real war on soviet Russia on land, air and sea—to save Finland and to shorten their own ordeal by fire.

Hore-Belisha spoke to his parliamentary constituents in Devonport only a few hours after vast crowds had lined London's old streets from Westminster to Guildhall to acclaim the seamen who won the Plate river victory over the German raider Admiral Graf Spee. Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, spoke with mingled exultation and sober warning of "this hard and novel" war at sea.

King Decorates Men.

King George VI. himself came to horseguards' parade to review and decorate the 760 men of the cruisers Ajax and Exeter—and widows of the dead.

Hore-Belisha told his Devonport audience:

"The risk of helping Finland may be great, but the risk of not helping her may be greater.

"She is holding the pass of civilization."

If Russia wins the war in the north, he went on, she will not be satisfied with her spoils in Finland—she will force advantages for Germany in Scandinavia, where both Britain and Germany are hungry for food, iron ore, timber, and other supplies.

"Well planned, adequate, decisive action" in Finland, Hore-Belisha argued, would prevent this—give new strength to the British and French economic arm and "curtail the duration of the war."

Germany's strategy, he declared, is to force the western powers to keep a great force inactive on the western front, "particularly in a position where there can be no fighting unless the enemy chooses to violate neutral territory. Meanwhile, they can, in conjunction with Russia, by intimidation if not by domination, obtain from their neighbors sufficient supplies to sap the effects of our blockade."

The former war secretary pointed to stubborn Finnish resistance to soviet power as providing "reason to believe that the might of Russia rests on an insecure foundation."

"Is there not an opportunity," he asked, "to throw in the weight of France and Britain by sea, land, and air?"

Wait Five Hours to See Sailors.

Londoners who had waited more than five hours broke police lines to give the men of the Exeter and Ajax a tumultous greeting.

Queen Elizabeth watched the flag waving, shouting pageant from a window of the admiralty, then took her place beside the king as he took the men's salute while the bands played "Hearts of Oak."

The king shook hands and spoke warmly to Mrs. W. Russell, widow of a marine, in presenting her the conspicuous gallantry medal. Russell's citation said he refused first aid when his arms were shattered and remained on his feet exhorting his comrades until he died.

Churchill, speaking at a banquet in Guildhall, told the battle veterans their victory "warmed the cockles of British hearts" but sobered his listeners by saying 3,000 compatriots had lost their lives in the "hard and unrelenting struggle on the sea."

Another Battle Cry.

The rescue of the 299 British merchant seamen held aboard the German prison ship Altmark "under the nose of the enemy and amid the tangles of one sided neutrality," Churchill said, proved that "the long arm of British seapower can be stretched out not only for foes but also for faithful friends."

"To Nelson's immortal signal that 'England expects that every man will do his duty' there may now be added last week's 'the navy is here,'" Churchill said—referring to the destroyer Cossack's raid on the Altmark.

"The admiralty and the fleet," he said, "are learning together of the special conditions of this hard and novel war."

The welcome for the Ajax and Exeter seamen coincided with a similar reception given in Auckland, New Zealand for those aboard the cruiser Achilles, third British ship in the battle with the Graf Spee.

GERMANS CLAIM MINE DAMAGED BRITISH WARSHIP

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—The British battleship Nelson, 33,950 tons, struck a mine and suffered severe damages, it was stated today by Voekischer Beobachter in a report from Amsterdam.

The article said that "rumors which have been persistent for some time concerning the flagship of the British home fleet are confirmed."

"The British battleship struck a mine and provisional repairs were made in a small British port before the Nelson could be towed into a south England shipyard for overhauling. The damage is still being repaired."

The article said the Nelson struck the mine in December.

Letter Censored Far from War Zone

Cover of letter received by a state highway employe at Springfield from a friend in Thailand (Siam). Altho the letter never went near the war zone, it was opened by a British censor at the crown colony of Hongkong.

A letter mailed to Illinois from Thailand [Siam], more than 15,000 miles from the European war zone, was opened by British censors, it became known yesterday.

This reach of the long arm of the British censor—in this case more than half way around the world—to pry into America destined mail, was revealed by Steven L. Mills of Springfield, a state highway employé. On Dec. 21, a friend in Bangkok, Thailand, sent Mills a personal letter, knowing that Mills, a stamp collector, would be additionally interested in the postage from such a faraway spot.

The letter traveled more than 1,500 miles to Hongkong, a British possession, thousands of miles away via America from the war zone. In Hongkong, censors opened the personal letter. Mills received it on Feb. 7. On the right margin appeared the British royal seal, and below it the notation—"Opened by Censor—Hongkong."

LOTHIAN VISITS HULL TO CONFER ON MAIL SEIZURE

Congress Resounds to Criticism.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 [Special].—After half an hour's conference with Secretary of State Hull today, the British ambassador, Lord Lothian, declared that the problems existing between the United States and England over censorship of mail and search for contraband were comparatively of small importance when it was considered that 150 neutral ships have thus far been sunk by the Germans.

Lord Lothian said Britain was within her rights in censoring mails at Bermuda, and that he believed this matter would be worked out to American satisfaction.

Says Millions Are Seized.

Meanwhile, Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] said he had received information indicating that British censors had removed between 14 and 17 million dollars in United States currency and negotiable securities from mail destined to Germany and intercepted at Bermuda.

Pepper said his information did not come either from an official source or from the Pan American Airways, but that he considered it accurate.

He said he had been informed that much of the money was in $100, $500, and $1,000 bills in envelopes which bore no return addresses and for that reason the money was being held by the British.

Denies Getting Official Report.

With reference to reports from an eyewitness that on Jan. 18 the British removed mails from an American Clipper plane by bayonet point, the state department stated it had received no advices indicating the British used force.

The statement said that a telegram concerning the censorship had been received from Juan Trippe, president of Pan American Airways, and that reports on the affair were sent in by the American consul in Bermuda. No mention was made in these documents that "any force was used or threatened in connection with this removal of mails from the plane," the department said.

Another Supports Story.

However, a second eyewitness corroborated the story of force today. He said that when Capt. Charles A. Lorber of the Trans-Atlantic Clipper displayed unwillingness to surrender the mail, the chief British censor said:

"If you are going to be unpleasant about this, we shall have to resort to taking the mail by force."

"Then I am afraid you will have to do that, "Lorber was quoted as replying.

Then, the second eyewitness said, marines or soldiers were called to enforce the censor's demands. He said he was unable to say what kind of arms the boarding party carried. Lord Lothian said here that reports of force were "eyewash."

Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.] suggested today a plan to lessen difficulties over the censorship. He proposed an agreement under which mail destined for Germany or adjacent countries be sacked separately for inspection and that other mail go thru unhampered.

Pittman, chairman of the foreign relations committee, has said the British have the right to examine mail at Bermuda but are making foolish use of the right.

Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] declared tonight that "arrogant Britain" would come quickly to terms regarding the seizure of mail if the United States would pass up Bermuda as an airmail stop.

Representative Melvin J. Maas [R., Minn.] introduced in the house today a resolution which would require Secretary of State Hull to inform the chamber how many United States merchant ships and airplanes have been stopped by belligerent nations since last Sept. 1.

PRODUCE SHOW OF FORCE.

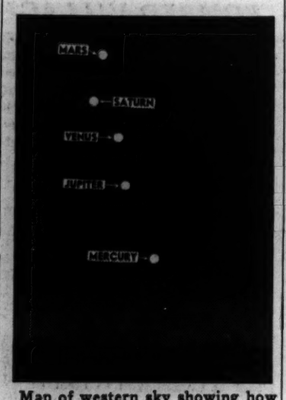
HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 23 (AP).—An official statement issued here tonight said British censorship officials produced "a show of force" during the removal of the first Pan-American Clipper mail to be censored here on Jan. 18 to enable the Clipper's captain "to yield the mail without failing in his duty as a United States mail carrier."

The report insisted that this "show of force" was produced by unarmed special constables, "without even a truncheon between them."

In the language of the report, the special constables supervised the unloading of the air mail from the Clipper after bringing a boat alongside the airport upon arrival of the plane.

Their presence was explained officially as needed for "production of a show of force large enough to enable the captain to yield the mail without any question of failing in his duty as a United States mail carrier."

Planets Grouped



Map of western sky showing how all of the five planets which are visible to the naked eye will appear to be grouped within a small area for the next week.

On every clear evening for the next week Chicagoans may see a spectacle in the western sky which, according to Maude Bennot, director of the Adler planetarium, won't appear again in a hundred years. This is the appearance of all five of the visible planets in one group.

They are, in the order in which they may be seen counting from the horizon, Mercury, Jupiter, Venus, Saturn, and Mars. Venus, the brightest, and Jupiter, the largest, may be seen before sunset. Mercury appears about one half hour after sunset, and continues in sight for a half hour, during which time Saturn and Mars appear. The five planets then appear as a sort of diagonally staggered string of brilliants.

The astronomical problem of the five planets' juxtaposition may be seen from the fact that Mercury takes 98 days in its orbit around the sun, Venus, 225; Mars, 687; Jupiter, 12 years, and Saturn, 30 years. Mercury is the nearest the earth—a mere 82 million miles. Saturn is the farthest away—919 million miles.

London Workers Send War Supporter to Parliament

LONDON, Feb. 23.—By an overwhelming majority the working class voters of the Silvertown division of London have sent to parliament a Laborite candidate pledged to fight the war to a successful conclusion. They rejected communist and Fascist anti-war candidates. The result of the by-election, announced today, gave J. H. Hollians 14,343 votes against 966 for Harry Pollitt, communist, and 151 for Thomas Moran, Fascist. The losers forfeit their nomination deposits of about $600 each, having failed to get one-eighth of the total vote.

BRITISH PLANES BOMB WARSHIPS IN GERMAN BASE

Make Night Flights Over Austria and Bohemia.

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP).—British warplanes have bombed German warships in a raid on German North sea naval bases in Heligoland bight, the air ministry announced today as the German-British air war continued at a stepped up pace.

The British did not mention the results of their bombing, said to have occurred during a flight Tuesday night and Wednesday morning previously announced as a reconnaissance flight. They acknowledged losing one of their planes, but blamed it on the weather.

[Germany said the raider had been shot down.]

Last night Britain sent scouting planes deep into Germany over Austria and Bohemia and today German bombers were reported to have returned to Britain's east coast after raids yesterday in which they lost two planes.

Germans Open Fire.

Today the air ministry stated:

"As already announced, royal air force aircraft were active over Heligoland bight during Tuesday night and the early hours of Wednesday.

"Warships observed near Heligoland [German North sea naval fortress] were attacked with bombs. Anti-aircraft fire was encountered from ships and from shore batteries.

"One of our aircraft reports having been attacked by three enemy fighters without success and it is believed that one of the enemy fighters was forced down. No casualties or damage was suffered by any of our aircraft during the operation, but the homeward journey was made in very bad weather conditions which accounted for failure of one aircraft to return."

Shoot at German Planes.

One German plane was reported off Essex today and another off Norfolk. Antiaircraft guns greeted the first plane, which was reported, altho without immediate confirmation, to have been shot down. British fighter planes pursued the second.

A third German bomber flew over Sunderland on the coast of Durham so low that witnesses could discern the swastika painted on it.

The reconnaissance flight over Austria and Bohemia was the second excursion of the war to have gone so deep into the reich. The planes took off from a British air field in France.

The sinking on Wednesday of the Netherlands vessel Alja, 385 tons, was announced today.

The British steamer Leo Dawson, 4,330 tons, was nearly three weeks overdue and was presumed to have been lost with all hands.

The 2,429 ton British steamer Gothic made port after being machine gunned by German planes. The captain was wounded.

Norwegian Ships Sunk.

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 24, Saturday (AP).—Two more Norwegian ships were reported sunk and a third set afire today in the North sea. Two of the ships were said to have been bombed by German planes. A British vessel was searching for the crew of still another Norwegian ship which was sunk by bombs on Thursday.

Belgian Ship Attacked.

HEYST, Belgium, Feb. 23 (AP).—The Belgian fishing boat Alex Gabriel reported by radio today that she was being attacked in the North sea by machine gun fire. Another Heyst boat, the Helena, was stopped by a foreign warship and conveyed to an undisclosed port.

British Search Russian Ship.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Feb. 23 (AP).—The soviet Russian steamer Svanetia, 4,125 tons, was stopped and searched by a British cruiser near the southern entrance to the Dardanelles, it was learned today.

Two Italian freighters also were reported held and searched at Istanbul in the first such general British action in these waters.

FOUND HANGED IN HOTEL ROOM.

William Christie, 64 years old, a retired proofreader, was found hanged yesterday in his room in the New Michigan hotel, 2135 Michigan avenue.

COLD AND A LACK OF COAL INCREASE GERMAN DEATHS

Pneumonia, Bronchitis, and Flu Fatal to Many.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—Germany's unusually severe winter, with its attendant coal shortage has brought an increase in deaths from bronchitis, influenza, and pneumonia, according to the official Reich Journal of Health.

The publication disclosed that from Jan. 1 to Jan. 27 inclusive fatalities from these afflictions were higher than in 1938 and considerably above those of 1939.

In 63 German cities with populations exceeding 100,000 in the four week period in January, 1938, 1,652 persons died of pneumonia. Last year the figure was 2,349 and in 1940 it increased to 2,675.

497 Die of Influenza.

Influenza, which claimed only 221 lives in 1938, resulted in 414 deaths in 1939 and 497 this year. Bronchitis was fatal to 271 persons in 1938, 428 in 1939, and 497 this year.

No figures were published on the number of reported cases of these diseases, but it was believed that the long cold wave this winter resulted in a heavy increase. In addition to unheated homes and working places, the lack of fats, fresh fruits, and vegetables in the German diet since the war began was said to have lowered the resistance of the people to diseases of all types.

In the same January period deaths from traffic accidents have risen from 549 in 1938 to 650 in 1939 and 827 in 1940. Some of this year's increase may be attributed to the blackouts.

Main Streets Free of Snow.

Berlin's main streets were free of snow today for the first time since Christmas. Since the first of the year the populace has been attacking the ice and snow with shovels, axes, and scrapers. Aged women worked in streets beside girls as young as 7 or 8. Together with men they responded to the Nazi party officials' door to door demands that everybody turn out to dig snow.

The workers were aided by the thaws of the last few days. Streets and sidewalks are covered with pools of water.

FRENCH PROPAGANDA LAXITY FLAYED; NAZIS' LEAD IN MOVIES CITED

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Some outspoken remarks were made again today in the debate in the chamber of deputies on censorship and the information and propaganda services. The propaganda system came in for the hardest blows. Gaston Gerard said Germany issued 21 propaganda films between September and January, while France issued only two.

Louis Marin urged that the information and radio diffusion services be put under a man who is a member of the government and that he be made an undersecretary to either the premier or foreign minister.

"Excessive severity" of the censorship must be ended, he said, and liberty of opinion respected. He accused the censors of letting false news pass and said the censorship was used to prevent criticism of the government.

HOUSE RENEWS TRADE POWERS OF ROOSEVELT

Approves Resolution for 3 Year Extension.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—The house late today approved by a vote of 216 to 168 and sent to the senate a resolution extending for three more years the President's authority to negotiate trade agreements with foreign nations.

Bowing to the tremendous pressure of a state department drive, the Democratic majority beat down a series of 24 amendments intended to lift the veil of secrecy from treaty negotiations between Secretary of State Cordell Hull and other countries and to subject the terms of such agreements to congressional approval.

Final passage came amidst bitter protests from both Republicans and Democrats concerning the ill effects on agriculture and industry of the 22 treaties thus far completed. These complainants charged that the agreements have permitted a flood of cheap foreign products to engulf the American farmer and producer while the nation's foreign market has dwindled.

Probable Campaign Issue.

The numerous votes taken in the house during the day were an indication of the importance of the trade treaty program as a political issue in the forthcoming campaign.

On the passage vote, 210 Democrats joined with five Republicans and one American Laborite to roll up the majority of 216. Voting against the resolution were 147 Republicans, 19 Democrats, one Farmer Laborite, and one Progressive.

A "kiss of death" amendment, so labeled by an administration leader, was defeated, 177 to 157, a narrow margin of 20 votes. This amendment, sponsored by Representative Harry B. Coffee [D., Neb.], provided for senate ratification of any trade agreements negotiated by the President and secretary of state.

Expected Support Vanishes.

Representative Coffee had counted upon the support of 40 Democrats, together with solid Republican assistance. Some 25 Democrats ran to cover, however, under the threat of reprisals in the coming primaries and elections. When the test came less than 15 Democrats voted for the amendment, under the stern eyes of the administration leaders. The Republican minority came thru, more than 140 strong, but their ballots were insufficient to put the amendment over.

This vote came upon a count by tellers, between whom the members marched without having their names officially recorded. Democratic leaders wiped perspiring brows when the result was announced.

A Republican effort to render the trade agreements subject to the approval of both houses of congress was also narrowly defeated on a teller vote, 161 to 144.

The Opposition Falters.

These two votes broke the back of the opposition. Amendment after amendment intended to moderate the program was beaten down, usually by voice balloting. Among these were a proposal that tariffs should not be reduced on farm products selling at prices below parity; an amendment requiring the President to hold public hearings on any treaty before it became effective; an amendment requiring that cost of production be considered in lowering tariffs, and many similar proposals.

Four of the main amendments were included in a motion to send the bill back to committee for revision. A roll call vote on this suggestion gave a count of 221 to 163 against the motion.

Disgruntled members began to offer frivolous amendments as it became apparent that the administration cohorts were well in command of the situation. Hoots and yells arose in the chamber. An amendment to prevent the importation of dead [illegible] duty free was cheered but voted down.

One-Minute Gag.

The leaders clamped a gag upon the excited legislators, putting over a motion that all debate should cease an[illegible] voting start at 6 p. m. The chairman thereupon restricted would-be speakers to one minute each. Representative Usher L. Burdick [R., N. D.] received an ovation when he ironically used his minute to wish his colleagues a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

The presidential powers extended by the house will expire June 12 unless prolonged by congress. They were first delegated in 1934 and renewed for a three year period in 1937.

Senate hearings on the trade program will begin o[illegible] Monday. Administration leaders were confident of victory in that body also. They claimed a majority of 49 votes against the amendment requiring senate ratification on the treaties and a still larger majority for the resolution itself.

The "Kiss of Death."

It was Representative John W. McCormack [D., Mass.], who applied the "kiss of death" label to the Coffee amendment requiring senate ratification of the program. He noted that the President at present has the constitutional authority to negotiate any form of treaty which becomes effective, however, only with senate approval. Therefore, if the amendment carried, he argued, there would have been no reason to proceed with passage of the pending resolution.

Representative Coffee pleaded in behalf of his provision for senate ratification that the trade treaties, which are now secretly negotiated by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull, should be open to public and legislative inspection and approval.

"This amendment is in line with the constitutional provision which says that all treaties with foreign nations must be ratified by the senate," he told the house. "These agreements, which permit foreign products to be imported at reduced duties to compete with American products, are treaties. We should subject the terms of these agreements to public scrutiny and senate approval.

Points to Other Nations.

"The amendment will insure agriculture, labor, and industry an opportunity to be heard on proposed agreements. We recognize the desirability of negotiating agreements mutually beneficial and advantageous but we demand the same legislative approval of them that other countries require before they enter into such agreements.

"Of the 22 trade treaties negotiated thus far, 19 were not agreed to by the foreign countries concerned until after their legislatures had given their approval. Why does the United States congress not have the same opportunity to study these treaties that other countries insist upon?"

ROOSEVELT IS PLEASED.

Aboard the U. S. S. Lang, at Sea, Feb. 23 (AP) [Via Wireless].—Advised tonight of house approval of a bill extending Secretary Cordell Hull's reciprocal trade treaty powers, President Roosevelt immediately radioed Speaker Bankhead that the bill would "make more possible peaceful and prosperous relations between nations."

Wins Third Divorce

Frances Williams as she appeared at court when decree was granted.

Frances Williams, the blonde musical comedy star, got her third divorce yesterday. It was her fourth marital adventure. One was annulled. Judge Joseph Sabath signed the decree, parting Miss Williams and Frank Lovejoy, a New York radio actor. They were married last June 29.

Miss Williams testified that Lovejoy came home drunk on Jan. 13 and hit her so often she couldn't rehearse for a new show. On Jan. 20, she testified, Lovejoy again was drunk and struck her. Miss Williams waived alimony and was allowed to resume her maiden name of Frances Maude Jellineck.

Miss Williams, who gave her address as the Croyden hotel, 616 Rush street, has always obtained her divorces here. Her first husband was Lester Clarke, a trumpet player; her second, Miguel de Sousa, Spanish polo player, and her third, Robert Alexander Wachsman, a theatrical agent and producer, who got an annulment.

DEMANDS HOUSE VOTE INQUIRY ON DEFENSE COSTS

Suggests One Department for Efficiency.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—An investigation of the administration's huge military and naval expenditures was demanded in a resolution introduced in the house today by Representative Paul W. Shafer [R., Mich.].

The resolution provides for the appointment of a commission, constituted of civilians to be appointed by the President with the approval of the senate, to determine upon a definite national defense objective for the United States.

The commission would be called upon to investigate the feasibility of combining all defense organizations of the United States, land, sea, and air, into one department of national defense, with a secretary of national defense as the directing head and with assistant secretaries of the army, navy, marine corps, and air corps.

Points to Rivalries.

This combination of defense arms, Shafer said, might eliminate cost rivalries between the various branches, avoid duplication of activities, reduce expenditures, and help formulate a harmonious defense program.

"The United States has at present no definite defense policy," Shafer declared. "The present huge military and naval expenditures are haphazard and bear no relationship whatever to an established military program.

"No adequate defense policy can be formulated until the defense objectives of the nation are defined. It is impossible for the army and navy to know what to defend, and how and where to defend it, without first establishing such a defense policy.

Raises Issue of War.

"The primary defense question for the United States is whether this nation is to defend only its own shores or again to fight abroad. Vast expenditures are being made without the slightes' guarantee that they make for a saner and better defense. Wasteful, uncoördinated and undirected military expenditures are being annually increased.

"There is a definite and costly rivalry and lack of coöperation between the war and navy departments. There are amazing shortages in supplies of fundamental military importance.

"There is no hope of balancing the federal budget while there exists the present uncertainty as to the nation's defense objective and without placing a definite limit upon army and navy expenditures."

The resolutions proposed an appropriation of $200,000 for the commission to pay for the expenses of its inquiry.

NEW HATCH BILL IS APPROVED BY SENATE GROUP

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—A bill to outlaw "pernicious political activity" by any of the half million state employés who receive part of their pay from federal funds was approved by a vote of 6 to 3 today by the senate elections committee.

The legislation, drafted by Senator Carl A. Hatch [D., N. M.], would extend to such state employés the prohibitions which the Hatch act of last year placed on federal employés.

Opposing the measure were three Democrats who have been uniformly friendly to New Deal proposals—Sherman Minton [Ind.], Scott W. Lucas [Ill.], and Tom Stewart [Tenn.]. Those voting to report the bill, in addition to Hatch, were Chairman Walter F. George [D., Ga.] and Senators Theodore F. Green [D., R. I.], Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], and Alexander Wiley [R., Wis.].

As approved by the committee, the bill would leave it to the civil service commission to enforce the prohibitions against political coercion of state employés in any presidential, senatorial, or congressional election. The bill would provide for prosecution of state administrative officials who used their authority to interfere with or control elections in which federal officers were elected. Penalties for violations would be a year in jail, $1,000 fine, or both.

FRANCE STUDIES RATION SYSTEM TO STEADY PRICES

Finds Nation Not Short of Food Supplies.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The question of introducing ration cards in France is being raised again. This move apparently is not because of any lack of supplies, but in order to exercise price control to a greater advantage.

France's agricultural front is able to assure an adequate food supply even for a long war, according to farmers' organizations here, and especially since it has been decided by the military authorities to release some agricultural workers.

At present France has three meatless days weekly, but this really does not mean that meat is not available, for fowl, fish, liver, kidney, hearts, and similar edibles do not rank as meat in the regulations.

Army Gets the Beef.

On the other hand, there is talk that in the near future imported meat may replace native brands.

Beef is the mainstay of the French army commissariat, principally because it is easy to cook and is sustaining.

Henri Queuille, minister of agriculture, in referring to the army's consumption of meat, said recently that big centers for refrigerated meat are being set up.

Pig production is being intensified, for pork has a quicker return in farm produce than cattle raising.

To Eat More Pork.

The civil population will consume more pork this year because of restrictions on the sale of beef and because a smaller amount of fish is coming into ports.

French colonies also are being counted on to fill a bigger rôle than ever in feeding this country. Many colonial products already have replaced those which France previously bought from foreign countries.

Negotiations now are underway to import more fruit from plantations of French colonies in West Africa. Nearly 2 million tons of cereals now come from Indo China, and 1 million tons of oil products and nearly 1 million tons of coffee and cocoa from Africa. The coffee shortage which has prevailed here for some weeks now is over, and this drink again is being sold freely in public places.

ROOSEVELT FISHES OFF ISLAND ONCE A PIRATE HIDEAWAY

COCOS ISLAND, Feb. 23 (AP).—President Roosevelt fished today in the waters off this remote Pacific island famed for centuries as a pirate hideaway and the reputed burial place of millions in treasure.

The cruiser Tuscaloosa and her attendant destroyers, the Lang and Jouett, anchored in picturesque Chatham bay from which rise mountains in which may be hidden loot which Mr. Roosevelt said was estimated at from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000.

Also anchored in the bay was the 50 foot schooner Fiddlers Green which brought three adventurers—Dr. Edmund Kelly, his brother, F. H. Kelly, and their nephew, Howard A. Kelly, from Baltimore on a 6,800 mile trip which started last July. Invited aboard the Tuscaloosa, the Kellys talked to the President and told of meeting another treasure hunting party headed by a Californian named Davenport, who reported finding treasure signs and sailed for Panama for digging equipment. The island is uninhabited.

Johnny Likes His Movies; He Just Lives with Them

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 23 (AP).—Johnny Masgai, 14 years old, likes movies so well he lived with them for 22 nights. Found asleep in a theater today, Johnny told police he had spent every night there since running away from home Feb. 1. "I panhandled every day and made enough money to buy my meals," he said, "but I'd save enough to get into the last show every night."

CROWDS BESIEGE SHOPS IN PEKING FOOD SHORTAGE

Starvation Perils Millions as Prices Soar.

PEKING, North China, Feb. 23 (AP).—Hungry crowds besieged grain shops today as a growing food shortage, resulting from last summer's floods which destroyed North China's wheat crop and war conditions, threatened millions in the Peking-Tientsin area with starvation.

Soaring prices put even bare necessities out of reach of wage earners.

Living costs for the low income groups have risen nearly 400 per cent above prewar prices, while wages have increased less than 50 per cent.

Little Flour Available.

Flour, the principal staple, was quoted at 44 dollars [about $4.40 in American money] per hundredweight in the currency of the Japanese dominated "Federal Reserve bank"—the equivalent of about two months' wages for the average native. Course native grains, like millet and kaoliang, were quoted at 20 to 25 dollars [from about $2 to $2.50] a hundredweight.

Even at these prices little flour was available. Many shops were closed. Tho there have been no serious disorders, the public temper was rising and some looting was reported.

People Turn to Japs for Aid.

In the face of the scarcity of food it was reported that 400 prisoners in the Peking municipal prison had been turned out to fend for themselves.

The affected area is under Japanese military occupation, and the populace generally appeared to believe the Japanese army would not allow Peking's 1,500,000 people to starve.

Some foreign observers, however, believe the Japanese will be unable to finance or carry out any adequate relief program.

Generals Reported Bombed.

HONGKONG, Feb. 23 (AP).—Domei, Japanese news agency, today reported "a number of casualties" resulted yesterday when massed Japanese planes bombed a house at Liuchow, eastern Kwangsi province, in which Chen Cheng, Pai Chung-hsi, Chang Fa-kuei, and other Chinese generals were in conference.

At the same time a Chinese spokesman at Chungking denied as "laughable ghost stories" a Japanese report that two Chinese generals had been killed in an air raid at Maiping, central Hupeh province, Feb. 10, and that another was missing and a fourth executed.

Central News, an agency of the Chungking government, reported 2,500 Japanese had been killed and war materials seized in Chinese counterattacks near Siaoshan, Chekiang province.

TRIES TO RECALL ENVOY TO SOVIET BY STOPPING PAY

Lone Republican Loses in Committee.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., the only Republican present, fought a losing battle in a senate appropriations subcommittee today. He sought to stop the appropriation of funds for the salary of the American ambassador to communist Russia and the maintenance of a private brain trust for Harry L. Hopkins, secretary of commerce.

The bill which makes appropriations for the departments of state, justice and commerce was reported to the full appropriations committee at a figure approximating $107,225,660 which was voted by the house.

Moves to Strike Out Salary.

Senator Lodge moved to strike out the appropriation of $17,500 for the salary of Laurence Steinhardt, ambassador to Moscow, for the purpose, he said, of putting communist Russia on the same footing as Nazi Germany. Such action, he explained, would leave the Moscow embassy staff intact, under a chargé d'affaires, like the American embassy in Berlin. Hugh Wilson, former ambassador to Germany, was recalled late in 1938, for special duties in the state department, and has not been replaced.

Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the foreign relations committee and an ex officio member of the appropriations committee on diplomatic and consular matters, led the fight against the Lodge motion. Other administration supporters argued that the question of breaking off diplomatic relations with soviet Russia should not be determined by withholding the ambassador's salary.

Defeated in House.

A similar move by Representative John W. McCormack [D., Mass.] was defeated by administration opposition in the house. Senator Lodge will renew his fight before the full committee and later in the senate.

The subcommittee restored an appropriation of $175,000 for the salaries of "specialists and experts" and their clerical help in the office of Secretary Hopkins. This was the amount requested by the budget bureau, but eliminated in the house.

Senator Lodge called attention to the total amount carried in the bill for the "office of the secretary," which is $546,500, as against $355,000 for the fiscal year 1939, under former Secretary Daniel C. Roper.

The budget lists a total of 223 positions in the office of secretary Hopkins, many of them with remarkable titles, Senator Lodge said.

RUNS AWAY AT 16; COMES HOME AT 19—$1,000 RICHER

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—Mrs. Margaret Krauss called up the missing persons bureau today and as calmly as she could told the police it wasn't necessary any longer to look for her son, Eugene, who ran away from home in October, 1936, when he was 16. "He's back home with us now," she said.

She and her husband had difficulty recognizing the boy, now 19. Besides looking much older, he had a new suit, new overcoat—and $1,000 in his pocket.

Eugene was a student at Commercial High school when he left home with $50 and boarded a bus for Portland, Me. He joined the CCC, working in Maine, Massachusetts, and Colorado. A year ago when he was honorably discharged he had $500. He worked in a restaurant and saved another $500. Then he thought he ought to come home.

FATHER AND SON SEIZED ON BOGUS CHECK CHARGE

James Callan, 57 years old, and his son, Preston Callan, 30, were seized by Town Hall police last night on suspicion of passing 15 bogus checks amounting to about $500.

Callan formerly held jobs in the county building and city hall and is said by police still to be a hanger-on in the building, altho not politically employed. He was sentenced to 10 days last November on a charge of passing checks bearing the forged name of Congressman Ralph E. Church.

His son, police said, has served several sentences for check passing. The elder Callan gave his address as 22 South Clark street, the son as 2016 Leland avenue.

Red Wing, Minn., Feb. 23 (AP).—Three kidnapers were sentenced up to 40 years each by District Judge Charles P. Hall today for the abduction and slugging of Kazimer Pelakouchas, 56 years old, of Red Wing. The crime netted the trio $2.75, taken from Pelakouchas after he was beaten and thrown from an automobile.

The three, who pleaded guilty to kidnaping, are Stanley Allen, 24 years old, Wabasha, bridegroom of five months; Stanley Bateman, 21, South St. Paul, CCC camp member, and Alfred Tyler, 21, of Plainview.

Prison Head Indicted

George Ray, superintendent of state penal farm at Vandalia, who was indicted yesterday on a charge of stealing a cream separator from the state.

HORNER'S SLUSH AGENT INDICTED FOR 2 PCT. LEVY

Vandalia Prison Head Accused of Theft.

Democratic committee, was appointed superintendent of the penal farm in 1933 by Gov. Henry Horner. In recent months his official conduct at the institution has been subjected to a series of investigations from which political battles arose.

Altho he previously has been accused of misuse of state funds and property, the indictment returned today before Circuit Judge J. T. Bullington charges him only with the theft of a cream separator in November, 1937.

Warrant to Be Issued.

Judge Bullington said he would issue a bench warrant for his arrest tomorrow morning.

Controversy has raged over Ray almost since the day of his appointment. It has virtually evolved into a fight between the Democratic political organizations of Fayette and Marion counties. Until his appointment, wardens of the penal farm had been residents of Fayette county, in which the institution is located. Fayette citizens, feeling the post was local property, were incensed when it was given to Ray, who was then and still is Marion county Democratic chairman.

Last April there were stormy hearings before the state legislature's economy committee on charges that he purchased, partly with state funds, 14 horses kept at the penal farm for his own use; that he purchased a 200 acre farm and equipped it with state farm machinery, and that he operated a packing house at Centralia which used products taken from the penal farm.

"Mistakes" Admitted.

Under questioning by Representative Clinton Searle [R., Rock Island], who assumed the rôle of the committee's chief examiner and thereby enraged its Democratic members, Ray denied that he had ever taken a dishonest dime from the state but admitted that he had made some "mistakes." No action against him resulted from this investigation.

Early last November Ray suspended five employés of the penal farm, charging they conspired with an inmate to steal records of the institution's kitchen. Ray said the five admitted the plot was an effort to find something to discredit him. Later he admitted that at least 50 employés had been discharged during his régime for what he called attacks on the authority and discipline of the institution. These attacks, he said, were activities designed to cause his ouster.

ILLINOIS SLEEPY HOLLOW FACES LOSS OF CHARTER

Hainesville, a sleepy little village in Lake county which hasn't elected village officials for more than a quarter of a century, may lose its charter, it was disclosed yesterday.

State Representative Nick Keller [R., Waukegan] said he will ask the legislature to dissolve the charter in order to release gas tax funds allotted to the village and to permit the state highway department to improve the Hainesville road.

The village, which had a population of 81 in 1930, was named after Elijah M. Haines, speaker of the Illinois house of representatives in 1875. It formerly was a stagecoach stop on the road between Waukegan, Dubuque, and Galena.

HURT AS SCAFFOLD FALLS.

Christ Lund, 56 years old, 5729 Cornelia avenue, was injured seriously yesterday when he fell from a scaffolding at 2215 Wabash avenue. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

ROAD FRAUD LAID TO SOUTH DAKOTA STATE OFFICIALS

G.O.P. Chairman Accused with Others.

Pierre, S. D., Feb. 23 (AP).—Attorney General Leo A. Temmey today accused an oil broker, South Dakota's Republican state chairman, and some state officials of participating in four schemes to sell oil and other materials to the highway department at "excessive prices."

In an official report to Gov. Harlan J. Bushfield, who ordered an investigation of the highway and purchasing departments several weeks ago, Temmey declared J. B. Dennis, the broker, through two fictitious companies and by means of forged bids, obtained contracts in return for pledged contributions to the Republican party.

Temmey's report advised the governor that J. D. Coon, Republican state chairman; Andrew Norstad, former highway commission secretary; J. M. Berry, state purchasing director, and others participated in the schemes.

Sees Evidence of Collusion.

"It would be almost impossible for forged bids to be submitted on such requisitions [for purchase of oil and materials] without some collusion between the successful bidder and some officer in the department of purchasing," Temmey stated. "Nor can we escape the conclusion that this requisition and purchase order originated at a meeting between Coon, Berry, and Dennis."

At least one of the deals, the attorney general said, was halted by ex-Gov. Leslie Jensen and again by Gov. Bushfield. Temmey and the two governors are Republicans.

The attorney genera' said there was no basis for successful criminal prosecution under present statutes.

Disagree on Amount.

The investigation report said witnesses did not agree as to the amount which Dennis was to pay the Republican party. The amounts ranged from $8,000, which T mmey said Dennis testified he agreed to pay, to as high as $60,000.

Temmy said his evidence showed Dennis paid Coon $1,500 as a contribution to the 1938 Republican campaign fund, but that several months later Coon returned the money on orders of Gov. Bushfield.

Coon, reached at Sioux Falls, declined immediate comment on Temmey's report. The others involved could not be located.

2 BANDITS WAIT FIVE HOURS; ROB SCHOOL TEACHER

Mrs. Florence C. Knight, principal of the Holden elementary school at 1104 West 31st street, was robbed of $1,300 in jewelry last night by two bandits who waited nearly five hours in her apartment at 4615½ Drexel boulevard for her return. During their wait they held Mrs. Knight's maid, Alberta Haskins, colored, a prisoner, tying her hand and foot.

At 3 p. m. the maid answered the doorbell and one bandit forced his way into the apartment. He tied her up. He was joined soon afterward by a second man. The two ransacked the apartment, but took nothing. Then they sat down to wait for Mrs. Knight's return. During that time there, they listened to police calls on her radio. Mrs. Knight appeared at 7:45 p. m. She was forced to kneel on the floor while the bandits removed three bracelets and two rings from her wrists and fingers. Before leaving they cut the telephone wires.

OAK PARK THIEF RAIDS CHURCHES, GETS TWO COATS

Oak Park's church-going sneak-thief turned up last night at two meetings, in the First Congregational church and the First Baptist church of the suburb.

Because a suspicious janitor kept an eye on him at his first stop, the thief left hurriedly in his cream colored coupe. At the Baptist church, however, he raided the office of the Rev. Carl S. Winter, who was formerly head of the Michigan Crime commission. There the prowler got the coats of Dr. C. Prodiazla, 4301 Cullerton avenue, and the Rev. N. S. Jacobs, 517 North 6th avenue, Maywood, and the hat of Edwin A. Bell, 1108 South Bell avenue.

A police squad, which has been trying to trap him, drove up to the church a few minutes after the thief left.

HELD TO JURY IN ROBBERY.

RULES U. S. MAY MOVE 102 BODIES FROM LAKE SITE

Federal Court Speeds Up Crab Orchard Project.

East St. Louis, Ill., Feb. 23 (AP).—The last obstacle to completion of Crab Orchard lake in Williamson and Jackson counties was removed late today by Federal Judge Fred L. Wham in giving the government the right to transfer 102 bodies from five privately owned cemeteries.

Plans for reburial in a new 15 acre site near Carterville have been announced by the soil conservation service of the department of agriculture, which is constructing the 31,000 acre project.

Five Cemeteries Involved.

Judge Wham made his ruling, granting the government the right to proceed, after condemnation proceedings had been completed against four of the family burial plots. The government already had title to the Hinchcliff cemetery, the fifth involved in the litigation. A jury awarded the four owners—Mike Williams, S. M. Elders, Joseph T. Beasley and the estate of E. H. Bullinger—a total of $110.

In upholding the government's right to remove the bodies, Judge Wham ruled that relatives of the persons interred in the cemeteries had no equity in the property and were not entitled to damages.

Charles Hamilton, manager of the Crab Orchard project, said the land was the last needed for the 7,000 acre lake basin proper and flooding of the area would begin as soon as the bodies were removed.

Injunction Suit Dismissed.

Relatives had sought to prevent transfer of the bodies, but their injunction suit was dismissed by Judge Wham last Jan. 29.

Trial of the condemnation suit followed Judge Wham's ruling Feb. 7, dismissing motions to quash the proceedings. He upheld the constitutionality of federal legislation under which the government was constructing the lake project and ruled acquisition of the tracts was essential in carrying out the program.

JARECKI TO BACK STELLE-BARRETT PRIMARY TICKET

Pledges Renewed Fight on Kelly-Nash Machine.

BY PARKE BROWN.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said yesterday he will support the insurgent Democratic state ticket, which includes Lieut. Gov. John Stelle for governor, State Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski for United States senator, and State Auditor Edward J. Barrett for renomination.

In declaring his preference for this combination, Judge Jarecki said he is continuing the fight he made against the Kelly-Nash regular organization in 1938, when he was dropped from the regulars' slate. Therefore the fight is expected to involve once more the entire structure of the election machinery, which is under the jurisdiction of the County court.

Hope for Gutknecht Aid.

It is known the Stelle group is hoping also for an alliance with Municipal Judge John Gutknecht, candidate for state's attorney with the backing of an independent committee. State's Attorney Courtney, now in Florida, has the support of the regular organization this year and is not expected to resume his 1938 alliance with Judge Jarecki.

After making an engagement in advance, the Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett trio appeared at Judge Jarecki's chambers where reporters and photographers were waiting. The visitors made the customary approach to Judge Jarecki concerning anxiety about an honest primary and were given his usual assurances on this score. Then the politics came out. Judge Jarecki stated his position.

An hour after he had made his statement it was read to him over the telephone for verification. It also was read to him a second time. This was done because of his repeated declarations in the past that his judicial office coupled with the administration of election machinery thru his appointment of the election commissioners always compels him to be neutral between candidates.

The Jarecki Statement.

The statement he verified as correct was as follows:

"Naturally I am supporting Ben Adamowski. My sympathies are with this group rather than with the other. These men are fighting the battle and carrying on the fight I fought two years ago. It is not true, as has been printed, that I am going along with the so-called regular slate."

The last sentence referred to the fact that last Monday the Democratic county central committee headquarters in the Morrison hotel announced that Judge Jarecki had given definite assurances that he would not support Adamowski, that he did not see how Adamowski could link himself with Stelle and Barrett. The headquarters construed this to mean that Judge Jarecki would be regular this year.

Inquiry yesterday disclosed that the conversation on Monday was between Judge Jarecki and Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], vice chairman of the county committee, who in the absence of Chairman P. A. Nash acts as its head. Incidentally it was recalled that Ald. Arvey's ward has been the most frequent target of Judge Jarecki's election fraud investigations.

Ald. Arvey was asked yesterday about that telephone conversation. He confirmed the headquarters report and gave further details.

"Judge Jarecki said it would be a terrible mistake for Adamowski to run for senator," said Arvey, "and that he already had advised him against it. He said that he would talk to Adamowski again and let me know the result.

Denies Arvey Version.

"The judge called me back and said he had learned that Adamowski had already taken a train for Springfield, where he filed his petition later. The judge said he had sent him a telegram there asking him to telephone him the moment he got off the train.

"I asked Judge Jarecki if he would back Adamowski and he said: 'Certainly not. I wouldn't back him after advising him not to run.'

"This is astounding. I'm beginning to believe that I don't know anything at all about the human mind."

Judge Jarecki, when asked about it, said that he did have the conversations with Arvey, but that it was Arvey that called him for the first talk. He denied that he said it would be a "terrible mistake" for Adamowski to run. He said he told Arvey that he thought Adamowski was determined to run and that nothing could be done about it. And the judge concluded: "Jack cannot do anything for me."

DEMOCRATS QUIT EFFORTS TO WIN IN 12TH DISTRICT

Oglesby, Ill., Feb. 23 (AP).—Democrats in the 12th congressional district, embracing a rich section of northern Illinois, are not going to fight for a seat in the house of representatives this year.

For 88 years the Democratic party has been unable to elect a congressman in the district which includes Boone, De Kalb, Grundy, Kendall, La Salle, and Winnebago counties. When the time for filing nominating petitions expired last Monday it was disclosed the field had been left open for the Republicans.

It is the only district in the state in which a Democrat is not running for congress.

The two Republican candidates are Representative Noah M. Mason of Oglesby and Lincoln B. Evans, a La Salle real estate operator.

LYONS, BROOKS AND SONS TAKE STUMP TOGETHER

Speak at Father-Son Church Gathering.

The sons of two major Republican candidates in the April 9 primary sat with their fathers last evening at the 16th annual father and son banquet in the Salem Evangelical church, 6820 Emerald avenue. Richard J. Lyons, a candidate for governor, was accompanied by his son, Richard E., 16 years old. Wayland Brooks, candidate for United States senator, was there with his son Russell, 15.

Lyons, the principal speaker, urged that business and industry be given a chance to put to work the thousands of sons who now cannot find jobs.

Asks Equal Opportunity.

"I ask no more for my boy than for yours," he said. "All I ask is an opportunity for him to make a future for himself. The greatest opportunity of youth is in business and industry—give youth a chance to make good there.

"The American way has been that of school, apprenticeship and of working one's way to the top. Today, even if we are able to put them thru school, there are very few jobs to start them on their way. It is estimated that one-third of the unemployed workers in this country are between the ages of 15 and 24."

Hits Material Emphasis.

Lyons said he feared too much emphasis had been placed on the material side of life in America. He asked that fathers and sons join in seeking a more spiritual attitude toward their problems and the problems of other men.

Young Lyons and young Brooks made brief speeches. Both said they had seen very little of their fathers during the last few months, because the candidates were away from home campaigning.

"I see my dad about once every two weeks lately," said Lyons Jr.

The dinner was attended by 200 fathers and sons. The Rev. H. E. Koenig is pastor of the Salem church.

HOW TO REMOVE SIGN REMOVERS PUZZLES HOTEL

Police were called to the Great Northern hotel yesterday when W. A. Greenholt, treasurer of the Pick Hotels corporation, found that he had too many sign-taker-downers.

Greenholt had arranged for removal of all signs on the outside of the hotel, which is to be torn down.

Trouble developed when two gangs of rival workers appeared. Richard Ross, an organizer for the United Construction Workers, local 64, a Congress of Industrial Organizations union, said his men had the contract to do the work, thru the Monarch Sign company. His claim was disputed by Ben Greenberg, secretary of the A-B Sign Service, whose employes are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Greenholt told police he first gave the contract to the C. I. O. group, then changed his mind, and hired the rival workmen. When Robert Hogan, 867 Nelson street, a C. I. O. worker, started up the ladder, he was arrested on complaint of Greenberg, who charged him with attempting to commit a crime, to wit, stealing signs.

The signs are still up, and the dispute is expected to be resumed today.

CONGRESS RACE DOWNSTATE WILL BE 2 RING CIRCUS

Belleville, Ill., Feb. 23 (AP).—The race for the Democratic nomination for congress in the 22d district became all the more entertaining today with the announcement by one of the candidates that he had hired a magician to assist him.

A. L. Bedel, former WPA timekeeper, said he had engaged "the great Chandu" to offset the audience attraction of Henry N. Frees, former vaudeville and circus juggler and clown, another of the four candidates in the race.

Grapples with a Bandit; Saves Employer's $290

Frank Jamroz, 3245 Morgan street, saved $290 yesterday by acting without thinking. Jamroz, a truck driver, was stopped at 33d and Halsted streets by an armed bandit. He was carrying the money, collected for his employer. When the bandit accosted him, Jamroz said, he automatically grappled with him. The bandit broke free, struck Jamroz on the head, fired two shots wildly into the air and fled.

PROVINE QUITS G.O.P. CONTEST FOR CONGRESS

Withdrawal Expected to Aid Day's Chances.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The Republican race for nomination for congressman at large—13 entrants for two places on the ticket—took on zest yesterday. Walter M. Provine of Taylorville announced in Chicago his withdrawal as a candidate. He blamed pressure of legal business. Provine was one of the two entries of the Deneen group. The other is Allan Healy, Chicago attorney.

Walter M. Provine.

Provine was considered to have a large following downstate. He has been in politics for almost a generation, in the legislature and as United States district attorney in the Springfield district.

Expect Action to Help Day.

Supporters of Stephen A. Day of Evanston said Provine's withdrawal will strengthen Day as a candidate, altho that was not the purpose of Provine's retirement. In former years Day has demonstrated his vote-drawing powers downstate.

Day was one of the Republican nominees for congressman at large two years ago. He was defeated by his Democratic opponent.

Orville L. Anderson, Joliet publisher, George S. Lavin, Frank J. Mackey, Mr. Healy, and Milford H. Olds of Cook county, other Republican candidates for congressman at large, warmed up their campaigns yesterday.

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York announced yesterday he was filing a withdrawal of his name from the Illinois primaries in which he had been entered in the Republican presidential preferential primaries. La Guardia said his petition was filed without his knowledge and that he would file a declination in order not to "divide the intelligent progressive vote."

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, New York's candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, and Congressman Hamilton Fish of New York, remain in the lists for the Republican preferential primary.

Set Deadline Tonight.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes decided last night that presidential candidates wishing to withdraw from the Illinois primary April 9 must do so by midnight tonight, also the deadline for withdrawing for state and district offices. Chief interest in the withdrawal deadline centered in whether President Roosevelt might act to remove his name, which was entered by Democratic chiefs without a statement of candidacy.

The sales tax is a predominant issue in downstate Illinois, Arnold L. Lund, state representative from Riverside and a candidate for Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, said yesterday. He had just returned from a downstate tour. Lund is circulating petitions indorsing his economy program and his effort to remove the sales tax on food.

Downstate Group for Stelle; Urge Hershey to Quit Race

Benton, Ill., Feb. 23 [Special].—Democrats who said they represented 14 southern Illinois counties held a meeting here tonight to indorse the candidacy of Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, who is running for governor. Ivan Elliott of Carmi, state's attorney of White county, presided. He estimated an attendance of 600 at the meeting. A resolution suggested that Harry B. Hershey could "best serve the Democratic party by withdrawing as a candidate for governor."

DITCHBURNE RAPS EXPLOITATION OF LABOR'S BALLOTS

Warns G. O. P. Not to Follow New Deal.

Harry S. Ditchburne, Republican candidate for state's attorney, last night attacked political exploitation of the labor vote. He made the second speech of his campaign in his home ward, the 17th, at Odd Fellows' temple, 6318 Yale avenue, before the Young Republican organization of the ward.

He opened his remarks with an attack upon the New Deal, which he charged specifically with deceiving the rank and file of the labor movement deliberately. He warned that the Republican party must not permit itself to be misled into the same offense.

Fails to Name Opponents.

Ditchburne did not mention the name of any opponent for the nomination he seeks. Judge Oscar F. Nelson, one of them, is making his appeal to the Republican voters with an argument that a large labor vote will follow him if he is nominated. He is a former vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

"The New Dealers, nationally and locally," said Ditchburne, "have been receiving the honest wage earner for many years with glittering promises and ingratiating gestures toward union labor. It would be exceedingly unwise for our party to adopt similar tactics.

"Nobody has labor 'in his vest pocket.' But there are some politicians who contend they have.

"My own background is such that honest labor has no fear concerning my friendship, understanding, and impartiality. However, I do resent exploitation of labor merely for political purposes and I will not sit by silently and permit labor to be used as a football in this campaign.

"I know that the rank and file of labor are sick and tired of being sold down the river by professional politicians and others who pretend they are able to deliver them as they choose.

"The vote of the laboring man is as sacred as the vote of any other American and should not be treated as merchandise across the political counter. There must be a stop put to playing politics with labor. The wage earner is entitled to a sincere square deal."

Gets Chair on Guilty Plea in Insurance Murder Plot

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 23 (AP).—Paul Petrillo, dapper little South Philadelphia tailor who police say was a ringleader of Philadelphia's murder for insurance plots, was adjudged guilty of first degree murder today and sentenced to death in the electric chair. Petrillo pleaded guilty last September to the insurance slaying of Luigi La Vecchio, a neighbor.

3 INCHES OF SNOW EXPECTED TO USHER IN COLD WAVE TODAY

Chicago is in the path of a midwest snowstorm and can expect about three inches of snow today, Forecaster H. A. Downs predicted last night. The snow began falling after dusk last night, while the temperature remained above freezing. The Illinois Automobile club warned that driving conditions were hazardous thruout northern Illinois.

Forecaster Downs predicted the snow would dwindle to a few flurries by this afternoon when the wind will shift from the south to the northwest and usher in a cold snap. He said the mercury by tonight probably would dip to 10 above zero. Colder weather, moving down from Canada, is expected to remain for several days.

EXPECT CROWD TO HEAR TAFT IN SPRINGFIELD

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 23 [Special].—Capacity reservations have been made at the Leland hotel here for the noon address tomorrow of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio before the Mid-Day Luncheon club. He will speak on "The Farmer and the Future of America."

Michael Eckstein, president of the Mid-Day club, said Senator Taft would be met at the train in the morning by club officials and Springfield Republican leaders. After the luncheon he will be taken on a tour of historic shrines, including Lincoln's tomb and home. The senator's address here is one of several scheduled on a tour of the middle west.

In Washington today Senator Taft was quoted as saying he intends to stay out of New Jersey's May 21 presidential primary, but that he might enter the May 14 primary in West Virginia.

BUSINESS BREVITY

By CALEB

A YOUNG man whom we know was recently given an enlarged responsibility in business, and an accompanying increase in income. When his employer was asked why the advancement had been given, he replied: "J—— knows his business. He goes about it quietly. He does it promptly. He never alibis. He never explains. He asks for little. He responds briefly."

We were reminded of King Henry IV, reputedly a monarch who liked concise speech and clearness in his associates. He received an ecclesiastic who had sought to see him. Henry said, "Whence do you come? Where are you going? What do you want?"

Now the ecclesiastic, without being out of character with his day, might have answered each question with a five-thousand-word discourse. He might have told in detail of the place whence he came. How he liked it, what its disadvantages were, who lived nearby, the niceties of the climate, how the hunting was, and whether the winter had been backward or early.

Instead he quickly answered: "From Bourges."

He might have told where he was going and why. He could have said he had always had an ambition to go there, and what he wanted to see. He could have told tales he had been told of his destination. He could have talked of art and cathedrals, of the church, the laity, soldiers, monuments, architecture, and even such matters as paving.

But he didn't. To the king's second query he replied: "To Paris."

Next, he might have told the king how deserving a man he felt himself to be. He might have told the good he had done, the hearts he had cheered, the spirits he had strengthened, the succor he had rendered the king's citizens. He might have fawned and preyed upon the king's vanity. That often was done. But this ecclesiastic had heard—he must have heard—that Henry IV liked men of few words.

So to the third query he only answered: "A benefice."

Six words—and only six: "From Bourges—To Paris—A benefice."

If the churchman had made a long answer he might never have received his benefice—and assuredly his response would not have lived for the next five hundred years . . .

Good conversation is an art that should be generally practiced, but there is too much mere practice of it in business. Henry IV had the right idea.

And, incidentally, I have not told you the king's conclusion to the interview. "You shall have it," he said.

BRIBE OFFERED 'THE WAY WE DO IT IN CHICAGO'

U. S. Prosecutor Names Fix Case Defendant.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

An assistant United States attorney testified in the case fixing trial in Federal court yesterday that one of the defendants, a Chicago lawyer, offered him a $500 bribe to fix a bootlegging case in Indiana two years ago. The lawyer told him, he said, that he might find the money useful to apply against a political campaign assessment. When he refused, the witness related, the lawyer hooted derisively:

"That's the way we handle things in Chicago."

The witness was Alexander Campbell, of the district attorney's staff in Fort Wayne, Ind. He named as the alleged bribe tenderer Attorney Alfred Roth, who is on trial with Daniel D. Glasser and Norton I. Kretske, former United States attorneys; Anthony Horton, colored, a professional bondsman, and Louis Kaplan, a known alky peddler. The case is being heard before Judge Patrick Stone.

Offers $500 or $1,000.

Campbell testified that Attorney Roth called on him in September, 1939, asking the status of the case of Edward and William Wroblewski, brothers, now serving prison terms as bootleggers.

"Is there any possible way the case can be prevented from going to trial or kept from the grand jury?" Campbell quoted Roth as asking. "I will raise my fee $500 or $1,000 and give you the difference. If you don't want it yourself, this is a campaign year, you might want it for a political assessment."

Campbell said he refused the offer and reported the conversation to the federal bureau of investigation.

Earlier in the day a story of a $3,000 alleged bribe to prevent an indictment in another case was told by a pair of surprise witnesses. They were Nicholas Abosketes, Wisconsin bootlegger now serving a prison term, and William Brantman, an accountant with offices at 10 South La Salle street.

Warned of Indictment Peril.

Abosketes, who was referred to during the trial as "Nick," said he gave the money to Brantman after the accountant warned him he was in danger of indictment for operating a still in McHenry county. Earlier government testimony by Thomas Bailey, a special alcohol tax agent, had shown that Glasser and Bailey himself were the only officials who knew of Nick's connection with the still.

Soon after this information was given to the government, it developed yesterday, Nick paid the alleged bribe money to Brantman. Nick said Brantman approached him first; Brantman said Nick approached him. Either way, records show, Nick never was brought into the McHenry case.

Defense objections interrupted the questioning by Prosecutor Martin Ward.

"We deny Kretske received any of this money," asserted Attorney William Scott Stewart. "We think Brantman was working on his own."

Stewart was overruled and the witness allowed to resume testifying with the jury excluded. The bootlegger, squat and broad shouldered, with gray hair and a square jaw, told his story to the one person in the room that he knew. That was Judge Stone, who sentenced him to his present prison term for a conviction in Wisconsin.

"Nothing but the Truth."

"I tell you the truth—nothing but the truth, judge. You're a square guy," Nick began. Then in his peculiar garbled English, he told how he received a mysterious telephone call from Brantman in Milwaukee telling him to come to Chicago for a conference.

Prosecutors, defense lawyers, and defendants all hitched up their chairs around the witness platform much as they might gather at the feet of a story teller at a campfire. Judge Stone leaned over the bench and conducted his own examination.

Nick said the accountant told him that one of the still operators had made a statement to the government men, a fact supposedly known only to Glasser and Bailey. Brantman warned that an indictment would probably follow.

Price Put at $5,000.

"I ask how much to fix the case," the witness related. "He tell me $5,000. I say that's a lot of money, but I return back next day and give him $3,000 and say I pay rest later."

Brantman, an unwilling witness, said he merely held the money in "escrow" for the bootlegger and had no idea what it was to be used for. Pressed by the court for a reason for paying out so large a sum, he asserted that Nick mentioned "something about being in trouble" and he supposed Kretske was going to represent him. A receipt he gave the bootlegger was introduced in evidence.

BIOFF PANDERING FIGHT DELAYED; ATTORNEY HURT

Willie Bioff's fight to escape serving a jail sentence for pandering, imposed 18 years ago, was postponed yesterday when Chief Justice John Prystalski in Criminal court granted a continuance to Monday of an application for a habeas corpus writ.

The delay was given when the court was told that State Senator Abe Marovitz [D., 19th] had to go to a hospital for treatment of a knee injury. Marovitz and his brother, Attorney Harold Marovitz, who was in court, represent the film union boss.

Assistant State's Attorneys James V. Cunningham and Walter McCoy told Judge Prystalski they were ready to argue the case. Bioff returned from Hollywood last Tuesday. His attorneys claim that by leaving Bioff free for 16½ years after his sentence was upheld the state, in effect, abandoned the case.

JERSEY RELIEF CLIENTS IN PERIL OF LOSING VOTE

Stern Measures Urged by Investigators.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 23 [Special].—Removal of the state director of relief and taking the right to vote away from able bodied men after they have been on the relief rolls for three consecutive years was recommended to the New Jersey state legislature today.

These and other drastic changes in the state relief organization were urged in a report submitted by Col. G. Barrett Glover, director of an eight month investigation of relief by a joint legislative committee. The committee, as such, did not submit or approve the report, but its chairman, Senator Homer C. Zink, said all necessary and appropriate measures to make relief more efficient and economical will be introduced in the legislature.

State Pauper Law.

The relief clients would be disfranchised thru being declared paupers, a state law providing that paupers do not have the right to vote.

Removal of the relief director, Arthur Mudd, is asked because, it is charged, he lacks administrative ability. His alleged failure to provide rigid supervision is given as one reason for excessive relief costs.

Unnecessary expenditures and instances of "deliberate criminality" found in Bayonne, Camden, Jersey City, Newark, and Union City led to the stiff regulations proposed in the report, Col. Glover indicated.

His report asked that most cash payments to reliefers be abolished, and that licensed stores be set up to handle clients' needs. Reliefers would be forbidden to receive candy, tobacco in any form, motor or fuel oil, soft or alcoholic drinks, and food for pets or live stock at these stores.

Liquor Buying Charged.

Some local offices permitted reliefers excessive orders, and included liquor in food orders, the report charges.

Reduction in the state's share of local relief costs from 75 per cent to 50 per cent also was recommended. Reliefers would be dropped from the rolls within 60 days to facilitate a housecleaning. All would be required to reapply and prove their eligibility for handouts.

MOVIE COWBOYS SHOOT IT OUT IN A FATAL BATTLE

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 23 (AP).—Barking six-shooters in the midst of a quarrel between two movie lot cowboys attracted little attention today on busy Sunset boulevard. But what spectators thought was a movie scene ended in the death of John Tyke, 45 years old, and the arrest of Jerome B. Ward, 50, both western bit players.

Ward, captured after a chase by police, was booked on suspicion of slaying. During the booking proceedings he took off his ten-gallon hat, rolled a cigaret, and struck a match on the seat of his blue jeans.

C. R. Sylvester and W. F. Molle, who made the arrest, said Ward pointed his gun at them and "fanned" the hammer in the western style, but the weapon was empty. "I've fed and helped that guy for years," they quoted him as saying, "but he's been picking on me for four months."

FIND GUN PLOT NOTE ON POLICE KILLER IN PRISON

A note asking that guns be thrown over the prison wall was taken yesterday from Major Price, 25 years old, a giant Negro who is serving a double life sentence in the state penitentiary at Joliet for the murder in 1935 of a Chicago policeman during an armed robbery. Price popped the note in his mouth while three guards were taking him to the warden's office to be questioned about an infraction of rules.

Price resisted when they tried to force him to open his mouth and was struck over the head with a club. He was taken to the prison hospital. Prison officials said Price probably intended to slip the note to a visitor. They said attempts to arrange for importation of guns were common.

Goes on Trial at Geneva for Slaying of Cousin

William R. Meeker, 39 years old, an Aurora draftsman, yesterday went on trial for his life before a jury of 10 men and two women in the Kane county Circuit court of Judge Frank Shepherd at Geneva. This was the first mixed murder jury in the history of the county. Meeker is accused of shooting and killing his cousin, John Reed, 26, last fall after a quarrel in a tavern.

Bandits Wait Inside Store, Bind Two, and Seize $400

Three bandits got about $400 last night in a robbery in the Woolworth store at 223 West Madison street. They waited inside until the store was closed, then forced Robert Smith, the manager, and Chester Cory, a clerk, to open the safe. The robbers tied their victims before leaving.

ACTION TO OUST PROSECUTOR AT DETROIT BEGUN

Move Based on Gambling and Vice Charges.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 23 (AP).—Ouster proceedings against Duncan C. McCrea, Wayne county [Detroit] prosecuting attorney, were ordered by Gov. Luren D. Dickinson today on charges by Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson that the prosecutor had exacted thousands of dollars monthly from operators of vice resorts, racing handbooks, and slot machines.

The removal petition was presented to the governor shortly after McCrea and others of a group charged with protecting the operation of a baseball lottery here had stood mute upon arraignment in Circuit court.

As McCrea, missing since Wednesday, appeared in court he smiled and announced he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator in next September's primary. He referred to his indictment as "dirty, rotten politics," and added: "The publicity will help my campaign for senator."

Not Guilty Pleas Entered.

Pleas of innocent were entered for McCrea, Fred W. Frahm, recently ousted as superintendent of Detroit police; Harry Colburn, chief investigator for McCrea, and Detective James Bennett, when they appeared in court before Judge Ferguson. They were released on $1,000 bonds each with hearings set for March 2.

The 4, with 11 others, were named in indictments returned Wednesday night by Judge Ferguson, acting as a one man grand jury as provided by Michigan statute. The indictments charge the protection of a baseball lottery that did a business of more than $1,000,000 a year in Detroit. In addition 4 other men were named in the indictment as "co-conspirators" but not defendants, and ordered held as material witnesses.

Immediately after today's arraignments Judge Ferguson went to Lansing and presented his petition for McCrea's ouster.

300 Handbooks Alleged.

In the petition he charged that McCrea, thru an agent, had collected from $100 to $300 monthly from vice resorts and from $10 a month upwards from slot machine operators; that more than three hundred racing handbooks had operated in Wayne county with McCrea's knowledge and consent, and that a numbers game running into more than $1,000,000 monthly had been enabled to operate by McCrea.

Gov. Dickinson said the ouster proceedings and the charges contained in the indictment against McCrea would be dealt with separately. Attorney General Thomas Read said he was considering the appointment of former Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck, a Republican, as special prosecutor to handle the prosecution of McCrea, Frahm, and others named in the indictments.

Mc Crea, a Democrat, is serving his third term as Wayne county prosecutor.

POLICE CAPTURE YOUNG CAR THIEF IN WILD CHASE

Two park district policemen recovered a stolen car yesterday after a chase of several miles along the Outer drive and thru the near north side.

Broken line traces route of chase.

Policemen Joseph Sweeney and George Constable saw the car in Lincoln Park West at Webster avenue as it raced thru a stop light. They followed. Their quarry cut to the Outer drive and fled south at high speed to Balbo drive, thence west to Michigan. Here the chase turned north to Jackson street, then east to Columbus drive and up to Monroe street, where it went over to the Outer drive again. Then the hunted car turned north to Ohio street, darted west to Rush street, and north to Delaware place, where the driver abandoned it. He tried to escape on foot, but was cornered in an alley off Wabash avenue south of Ohio street. He identified himself as Henry Balshuseman, 18 years old, 2035 Mohawk street.

Balshuseman said that two weeks ago he took the car, which belonged to Harry Balaban, head of the B. & E. Balaban corporation, because he had no carfare and needed it to drive to work. He was put on probation last August for car theft.

BANDITS LOOT DRESS SHOP.

An armed bandit took $100 yesterday in a dress shop at 3950 North Damen avenue. He then forced the owner, Miss Jeanne Cohen, into the back room while he and an accomplice took clothing valued at $100.

COURT CONDEMNS UNION'S REFUSAL TO PAY BENEFIT

Upholds $200 Award Won by Barber's Widow.

Refusal of the Journeymen Barbers' International Union of America to pay a $200 death benefit to a barber's widow drew an attack on the union's benefit plan yestereday from the Appellate court.

The court affirmed a judgment for that amount against Frank Rango, secretary-treasurer of local 548, and fourth vice president of the international, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The award was obtained in Circuit court by Mrs. Antoinette Bayci, whose husband, John, died on May 24, 1937. The Appellate court opinion was written by Justice Kickham Scanlan. It criticized Rango's contention that only the international executive board could authorize payment of the benefit.

Stand Called Brazen.

"It is surprising that officials of a fraternal union, to defeat a small death benefit claim, would interpose such a brazen and inequitable defense," the opinion said. "The members of the union, if they knew the nature of the defense, certainly would condemn the position.

"We are constrained to believe that the defense was not made primarily to defeat plaintiff's claim, but to obtain a ruling that would make it practically impossible for a member or members of the union to reach the fund in the hands of the general executive board."

Rango contended he would have to pay the $200 out of his own pocket. If this is true, the opinion said, "it is time for the members of the union and the proper authorities to inquire into the benefit fund controled by the general executive board."

Late Payments Cited.

Defense efforts to show that Bayci was not a member in good standing entitled to the benefit, because he had not paid his dues for the month of May, 1937, were termed feeble by the court. His previous payments all were made late in the month, the opinion said.

Rango said last night that all payments are due on the first of the month and that because Bayci was late his widow was not entitled to the benefit. He said the union never disputed an authentic claim and has paid $1,390 in death benefits in Chicago this month.

There are 3,000 barbers in the union local, Rango said. They pay $2.50 a month dues. Of this sum, 80 cents goes to the international, and 46 cents of the 80 is allocated to sickness and death benefits.

Mrs. Bayci now lives in Gary. Attorney Robert L. Weiss, who represented her in the lower court, said her suit was filed under a pauper's petition, and that the union will have to pay costs of approximately $40.

MAE MURRAY, IN COURT, TELLS OF VANISHED RICHES

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 23 (AP).—Mae Murray, star of the silent screen, sobbingly told a Superior court judge today she was worth $3,000,000 in 1926 but that 10 years later she sat on a bench in New York's Central park penniless.

She was so tearful the judge called a recess in the trial of her suit against Prince David of the Georgian Mdivanis for $1,000 monthly to establish a home for their son, Koran David, 13 years old.

"In September, 1936, I had no funds," she testified. "I had to leave my hotel and spend three days in Central park. I had walked out of my marriage a bankrupt, but I had a $120,000 contract with an English picture company. I was forced to give it up because my boy became desperately ill and before long my money was gone."

She testified she once sold a $5,000 chinchilla jacket for $150 to obtain funds for an operation for her son. She charged that the prince is living in luxury, but that a $5,000 payment when they were divorced in 1933 and $508 since were his only contributions to the boy's support.

SEIZE 10 PICKETS IN ROCK ISLAND STRIKE FLARE-UP

Rock Island, Ill., Feb. 23 (AP).—The most serious disorder of the five day old strike at the J. I. Case company plant here occurred today when pickets of the C. I. O. attempted to block the main entrance when workers arrived to begin the day shift production.

Police arrested 10 pickets, including Richard Vander Meulen, president of the plant local. One picket was seized for abandoning his car directly across the main entrance. A window in a worker's car was smashed. Altho police found it difficult to open the picket line, it was reported by the company that 180 production workers got thru.

Union officials today tendered a proposition that plant employés be permitted to vote by secret ballot as to whether they prefer individual contracts such as have been in effect, or a contract negotiated by the union. The C. I. O. asks that the election be held within 10 days by the National Labor Relations board. The company's reply to the proposal has not yet been given.

Quadruplet Lambs Born on Mount Carmel Farm

Mount Carmel, Ill., Feb. 23 (AP).—Quadruplet lambs were born yesterday at the home of Otto Fearheiley, just north of this city. After commenting that twin lambs were not unusual but double twins were rareties, Fearheiley began a search for a goat to provide the extra milk needed. A ewe sheep has the equipage for only two offspring.

$43,790 AIRPORT EXPANSION DEAL RATIFIED BY JURY

A jury before Judge Denis J. Normoyle in Circuit court returned a verdict yesterday awarding $43,790 to owners of 13 parcels of land to be used in the relocation of railroad tracks now bisecting Chicago airport. There was no contest, the verdict merely ratifying an agreement between the city and property owners.

A second jury in the same court awarded $35,000 to property owners at Moorman and Paulina streets in condemnation proceedings brought to clear the route of the new subway. At this point the subway tracks will come to the surface and run on the elevated structure. A four story building must be torn down. It is owned by Harry Volin and Frank and Juliana Matura. This award also was by agreement.

The last of the airport condemnation suits is to begin April 1. The final subway suit will begin April 2.

Duncker, 37, who fled Nazi Germany in 1938, was found dead in his automobile at Fullerton, Md., with a bullet wound in his head.

$50,000 MORE IS VOTED BY HOUSE TO NLRB INQUIRY

Expect Proposals Soon to Amend Labor Law.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Without a word of debate, the house voted today to give another $50,000 to its special committee investigating the Wagner act and the National Labor Relations board. Chairman Howard W. Smith [D., Va.] disclosed later that the first $50,000 the house appropriated last year "already has run out."

"We will use this new money to complete our inquiry into activities of the labor board and to do the other things the resolutions which created the committee calls for," Smith said.

He referred particularly to sections which instructed the investigators to determine what effect the act itself has had on employer-employé relations and on unemployment.

Series of Amendments.

It was learned, meanwhile, that the committee soon will submit to the house a series of amendments to the statute based on more than two months of hearings as a preliminary committee report on which congressional action could be taken at once.

The committee devoted its hearing today to a labor case at the Consumers Power company, Jackson, Mich. Four employés of the company testified that their A. F. of L. union would be supplanted by a rival C. I. O. organization under procedure of the labor board.

Gerald L. Gill, their spokesman, asserted that the board's collective bargaining election machinery forced the A. F. of L. union off a runoff election ballot, altho it polled almost as many votes originally as the C. I. O.

C. I. O. or No Union at All.

Gill said that originally the C. I. O. received 1,164 votes, the A. F. of L. 1,072, and 506 workers chose neither union. Sixty-four ballots were voided. Because no union received a clear majority of those voting, the board ordered the runoff election, but gave the workers a choice between the C. I. O. union or no union at all.

"The American Federation of Labor felt," Gill said, "that our members had received only ninety some votes less than the C. I. O., who had not gained a majority, and had every right to be on that ballot. They were not allowed on the ballot.

"The election was supposed to be C. I. O. or neither, and we felt that our voters, who were nearly as strong as the C. I. O., should have some right to voice what kind of union and what type of bargaining agent was going to be set up on the property."

A RAILROADER'S WIFE SIDETRACKS GHOST AND HUBBY

Divorce Court Judge Throws Switch.

The eerie attempts of James D. Joslyn, a railroad engineer, to get on the track of a fortune thru the aid of departed spirits were described yesterday before Judge Joseph Sabath.

Joslyn's wife, Mrs. Adelaide Hulbert Joslyn, told the tale and at its conclusion the court granted her a divorce on the ground of cruelty. She testified that Joslyn's quest included ventures into hypnotism, with her as the subject. These caused her pain, physically and, it was gathered, otherwise.

Joslyn, who is 66 years old, lives at 4150 Monroe street, and Mrs. Joslyn, 48, at 3743 Kimball avenue. Widow and widower, they were married Jan. 17, 1939, and separated last Jan. 18—a year and a day later.

He Wouldn't Believe Her.

"He thought I had been paid a large amount of insurance after the death of my first husband, William Hulbert," Mrs. Joslyn testified.

"And you had not?" asked her attorney, Harry X. Cole.

"No. I didn't have any money and I told him so, but he wouldn't believe me."

She said that on the third day of their marriage Joslyn sought the help of the spirit world and of hypnosis.

"He jumped at me and made hypnotic passes like this," said Mrs. Joslyn, waving and flexing her arms and snapping her fingers.

Calls on Spirits for Aid.

"Then," she continued, "he called on the spirits of Mr. Hulbert and of his own deceased wife, Margaret, and asked them to find where the money was."

The experiment was repeated some time later, with Joslyn warming up by attempting to make tables and chairs dance at his command.

"He kept my picture in the Bible, at a special place, and said that gave him power over me," Mrs. Joslyn said.

"Did he ever succeed in hynotizing you?" Cole inquired.

"Just once," snapped Mrs. Joslyn. "It was Jan. 17, 1939—the day I married Jim Joslyn."

800 WPA Workers Riot Over Loss of Hour's Pay

New York, Feb. 23 [Special].—A near riot started on Rikers Island in the East river today when 800 WPA workers employed there were told they would be docked an hour's pay because the sanitation department boat which transports them to the job was an hour late Wednesday. Armed guards of Rikers Island penitentiary held the angry workers at bay until three boatloads of police arrived. The disturbance was quelled without injury, police reported. The pay involved was 44 cents to each man.

LITTLE MONUMENTS TO THE ROOSEVELT DEPRESSION.

A number of readers have written to us about the article in last Saturday's TRIBUNE by our real estate editor on the wrecking of buildings in Chicago during the last seven years. The article was illustrated on the back page with pictures of 19 important buildings which had been razed during the New Deal depression, and either had not been replaced or had been replaced by one or two story taxpayers.

Some readers felt that we should have told the facts about the "large amount of new building during the Roosevelt administration," as one letter phrased it. Accordingly, a comparison of the volume of building in Chicago under the New Deal and under the preceding national administrations is presented in a chart on the back page of THE TRIBUNE this morning.

The chart emphasizes and supplements Mr. Chase's article. He showed that more buildings had been wrecked [since 1933] than had been erected. The graph establishes that the amount of new building has been smaller than in any national administration in more than a half century.

During the Roosevelt administration the average annual volume of building in Chicago was 18 million dollars. This compares with 83 million dollars per year under President Hoover, 297 million dollars per year in the Coolidge-Harding administrations, and 83 million dollars per year during President Wilson's two terms, including the war years when it was a patriotic duty to refrain from building if you didn't have war orders requiring it.

In 1939, the best of the Roosevelt years, the value of new construction in Chicago was 41 million dollars, and this figure included at least 11 million under government subsidy. This was the lowest peak year in any President's term during the present century.

The average of 18 million dollars' worth of new construction per year under the New Deal compares with 95 million dollars per year under President Taft, 54 million dollars per year under President Theodore Roosevelt, altho the panic of 1907 and the ensuing depression held down the figure, and even 24 million dollars under President McKinley, altho the Chicago building trades at the time were suffering from racketeering by Skinny Madden and there were many strikes, one of which in 1900 was of record duration. It lasted all year.

The average of 18 million dollars' worth of new building in Chicago for the first seven years of Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration compares with an average of 30 million dollars per year in Grover Cleveland's second term, during which occurred the panic of 1893 and the following depression, which was the worst down to that time. In President Benjamin Harrison's administration, which separated Cleveland's two terms, 47 million dollars' worth of building per year was done, including the old Masonic temple, which was wrecked last year, and the Great Northern hotel, which is now being taken down.

In Cleveland's first term building averaged 20 million dollars per year. To find a period when so little building has been done as under the New Deal we have to go back to the Garfield and Arthur administration. The population of Chicago then had just crossed the 500,000 mark.

That building construction has been in a state of paralysis during the Roosevelt administration there can be no question. The New Deal propagandists talk of the many millions which have gone into fine new Chicago structures and of Washington's helpfulness to the construction industry. True, the New Deal has underwritten home building on a shoestring, has subsidized other building, and has advanced money on distressed property. Each of these activities will involve losses eventually to be paid for in income taxes, and meanwhile the resulting total building volume is by all past standards of measurement a drop in a bucket.

All other building, except of a necessitous sort, has been stopped in Chicago at a time when the flow of new capital into business generally has also been reduced to a trickle. The construction industry, like the others, has been held back by the higher costs of production, extortionate taxes, and tyrannous regulation which the New Deal has placed in the way of earning a profit. The shacks which the auto parking companies put up to shelter their employés and the two story taxpayers on skyscraper sites give mute testimony about the state of business. They are monuments to the Roosevelt depression.

IT'S STILL A RACKET.

The Chicago board of health has decided that the health and well being of Chicago citizens will not be endangered if a distributor is allowed to fill paper milk containers at a bottling plant within the city. True, Chicagoans will not be allowed to buy the milk. It will be delivered in the suburbs. But the subversive paper container is actually being allowed to pass the city limits.

Meanwhile the evasion and delay in authorizing the sale of milk in paper containers within the city is continued. The board of health sat on the lid as long as it was able. The corporation counsel sat on it in turn until he was smoked out. Now the city council is withholding action. The excuse given for the council's failure—which is that the aldermen are waiting to see what the federal court will do with a lawsuit seeking to force official acceptance of the containers—is trivial and immaterial. The council has power to act at any time that it chooses, regardless of what the federal court may do, and its subterfuge isn't fooling any one.

If the paper milk container never saves Chicago milk consumers a single penny it still will have done them a great service. The milk industry in Chicago has been a racket for years, maintained by a combination of violence and official connivance. It is still a racket, and the consumers and the dairy farmers are still the victims. The pharisaical argument that paper containers may menace public health is a false front for the real opposition, which is based on the fact that they threaten an outmoded and extravagant distribution system.

HUEY LONG'S EMPIRE.

Some of the general interest in Louisiana affairs, which now record the defeat of Gov. Earl Long by Sam Houston Jones in the run-off primaries, finds its incentive in the dead Huey Long himself. There also is an appreciation of the carnival spirit of Louisiana politics which gives public life its perennial Mardi gras touch, even with the revelers ending their careers in the morgue or in the jail.

It has been remarked that the country's one Roman law state was the one which produced our first Roman emperor. Even in death Huey Long still remains that, in his grave at the foot of his monument, which is the statehouse itself, with fresh cut flowers in his funeral vases and a powerful light from the towering capitol flooding his tomb at night. Like a true emperor, Huey was a builder of edifices, each designed to surpass anything of its kind.

Huey, holding court in his hotel rooms and in his pajamas, dictating laws to be ratified by the waiting conscripts of the assembly, was more than a little consciously a figure of imperial Rome in a realm which derived its law from the Roman code.

While he lived there was a lively interest to see the extent to which he could make his rule the model for the national government itself. Many times the New Deal rushed into something which was plainly imitative. Sometimes the mood in Washington was one of pique that Huey could do the edictal stuff with such superior imperial flourish, and at other times fear was mixed with jealously lest he take the lead and never be headed off. His soak-the-rich and share-our-wealth programs stamped themselves apparently indelibly on New Deal economics.

When imperial Louisiana became too imperialistic for imperial Washington the federal department of justice moved in and is still there. This reduction of the purple state to the status of a more docile province also adds to the general interest in its affairs. Since Huey's death the federal agents have kept his survivors more or less in hand. They began to listen to reason when suspended indictments for income tax evasion were held over their heads, and they have been more rigorously disciplined of late by the federal prosecution of crimes against the state.

The federal prosecutors had to enter the courtroom thru the mail boxes, but, strange as their approach was, they delivered themselves. It was an interesting expansion of federal criminal jurisdiction of which other states might well take note. Some of the swindling state officials had sent checks thru the postoffice when they divided their loot and the federal government thus got hold of them for using the mails in a fraud—an ingenious application of the law which, in Louisiana, served the purpose of keeping the federal government in a dominating position, where it could throw scares into the boys at Baton Rouge and New Orleans.

It will be noted that John Rogge, assistant United States attorney general, was on the job during the two primary campaigns and that he says his investigations have disclosed some frauds in the January primary which were violations of the mail fraud statute.

Huey Long's empire has been cracked, partly by its own vices and partly by superior New Deal force seeking to tame it and bring it into line again. Huey might have fought back more successfully, but he was removed by the truly Roman method of assassination.

Editorial of the Day

IT'S NICE WORK, BUT——

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

Seeking to determine the relationship between an occupation and the personalities of its members, two west coast sociologists investigated the life and habits of 100 successful dance band leaders. They came up with a conclusion couched in sociological terminology. "The personality norm of the dance band musician," reported Dr. Richard T. LaPiere of Stanford university and Dr. Carlo Lastrucci of San Francisco State college, "is atypical for the American population as a whole, and there is some sort of relationship between occupation and personality."

What the sociologists are driving at is that dance band musicians largely live in a little world all their own. But, since this is a fact already widely suspected by the lay public, the chief value of the investigation staged by Drs. LaPiere and Lastrucci lies in the detailed light they managed to throw upon the musicians' little world

Working conditions, it was found, are such as to affect all other activities, determining how, when, where, and possibly if, these men eat and sleep. The work enforces an average of at least 10 changes of residence a year—precluding for the most part the achievement of a family, home, or friends outside the occupation as roots for a stable existence. Wives, if any, are expensive to transport and ordinarily are left behind. The dance band musician tends to become an economic fatalist. Of the 100 men studied, Drs. LaPiere and Lastrucci could find only nine with any real property other than instruments and automobiles, tho the income of the group averaged $75 a week.

The sociologists also were concerned with a "peculiar lack of competitiveness of economic matters," which they found among the musicians. The individual, they determined, "only aspires to equal the skill and reputation of another musician." And, finally, he is "characteristically inarticulate on any subject except jazz and disinterested in all affairs which do not bear directly upon jazz and its making."

The aspersions cast by Drs. LaPiere and Lastrucci upon the home life of musicians already have drawn fire from a number of band leaders and their wives, but they should be able to make most of their conclusions stick. However, that is not to say that the musicians have cause to hang their heads. If a fellow's to keep out of the corny class he hasn't much time for flower beds or Shakespeare. At any rate, not in this day. Suppose it was your job to keep up with "Flat foot floogie with a floy floy . . . b-r-r-r-sacky-acky, want some seafood mamma . . . palomar, shalomar, Swanee shore, want that solid jive some more . . . ?" You'd be kinda different, too.

PREMATURE SPRING SONG.

Only 25 more days until spring. The blessed event called the vernal equinox is scheduled for March 20 at 12:24 p. m. central standard time.

On Washington's birthday a high, clear sky, bright sunlight and a remarkable arrangement of evening stars hinted at winter's approaching exit. But if we begin to boast about this season's uncommon lack of blizzards, we'll probably get a perisher for an Easter present.

Bob Becker, THE TRIBUNE'S woodsy boy, tells us that peat fires have smouldered in a section of the Skokie marsh all winter, as a hangover from some demented weed burning of last fall. Cover and food for birds have been destroyed; the fertile humus has been blasted; and the area will probably be a dust bowl for several years.

The story of the 6 year old son of Chinese peasants who is now sitting on top of the world as the new dalai lama of Tibet came like a rainbow of ancient romance thru the war clouds. "And a little child shall lead them." An old fashioned idea, but safer than trusting the job to a frenzied dictator.

The recent natal day of the Father of His Country reminded us that his best birthday present came one day late. On Feb. 23, 1778, Baron von Steuben arrived at Valley Forge to drill the starving and discouraged continentals into a well disciplined army.

PRAYER FOR A SCHOOLBOY.

Gray-eyed Athena, teach this lad to see!
Take from his misty eyes no glint of dreams,
But grant awareness where the tinsel seems
As golden as good faith and loyalty.
Teach him a deep discernment to employ
To catch a false love's subtle brassy glow;
Cautious clairvoyance that the worldlings know
Be his to mark pure friendship from alloy.
Teach him to see, lest disillusionment
And doubt and ache shall come at last to dwell
In eyes where once a dreamy sweet content
Spoke bravely to the world that all was well.
For when a boy's first hero brings him pain,
The years may never give him faith again!

Caroline Frith.

Party Girl in Florida.

She was perched at the drug store counter gazing abstractedly at the glass of orange juice in her hand. "Where have you been these last few weeks?" I greeted her. "Florida," she answered tersely.

"You're looking grand; did you have fun?" "People don't go to Florida for fun," she reproved me. "They go so they can come back with a heavy coat of tan and talk about their trip the rest of the winter."

I was somewhat abashed. "And is that why you went?" "Why, of course. I noticed one night at a party that I looked just like every other woman there—as pale as the sprouts on an old potato in June. So I left for the south on the next train. And am I glad to be back!" She grew vehement. "The sun down there, it was awful. Day in and day out it shone just as the ads claim. You know how I loathe getting all warm and sticky. And I had to lie on the beach for hours every day, covered with oil, and turn and toast until I felt like a piece of zwelbach." She shuddered at the memory.

"But it was worth it," I said. "Your tan is beautiful." "I know," she answered, smiling complacently at herself in the mirror. "Wait until I wear my new white evening gown. That'll show 'em."

I ventured to change the subject. "Did you do any deep sea fishing?" "O, no; nature in the raw has never appealed to me. I prefer my fish in a can."

"Didn't you even go in swimming?" I asked. With a shake of her head she crushed out her cigaret. "I like my water frozen," she said, smiling reminiscently. "In cubes, in a tall glass with all the fixin's and a sprig of fresh mint at the top." And gathering up her bag and check she murmured "Good-by, darling," and tripped gaily to the cashier's cage. GHOSTS OF NURSERY TOWN.

When we go down to Grandmamma's,
My children like to play
With things beloved by other children
Of a bygone day.

Dorothy wears a bustle,
And with a haughty air
Sweeps down the streets of Nursery Town
With aigrettes in her hair.

Richard lines the soldiers up
So martial in array,
And fights again the battles
Of the Blue and Rebel Gray.

And as absorbed they make their games
I feel that in the room
The ghosts of other children
Are gathering in the gloom—

Other little children,
Whose feet have long gone down
The dimly lighted, pleasant ways
Of Grandma's Nursery Town.

Modesta.

A Case of Artful Dodging.

To aid the people who are getting cross eyed looking at such street signs as East South Water street and West North avenue, H. C. Brodman, superintendent of maps, city of Chicago, writes: "According to an ordinance passed by the city council on Jan. 17, 1933, all prefixes are E., W., S., and N., and legally they are never written out as 'East,' 'West,' etc."

A Few Improvements on Shakespeare.

MEDICATED RUBBER FOR IMPETIGO.

One of the most unsightly difficulties that may affect our youngsters is impetigo. It is common during the winter months when the face—particularly about the lips—becomes chapped and when the hands may be less clean because gloves and mittens are worn more frequently.

To the best of our knowledge the disease is due to the staphylococcus. This organism is conveyed easily and readily to portions of the epidermis that have become weakened. The malady is so contagious that one child with an infection may transmit it to many others. Where cleanliness is not observed scrupulously, we may see a dozen of more pupils exhibiting obvious lesions in a group of 30. Ordinarily it is not dangerous. But with a patient who is anemic, who is distinctly below par, it may become troublesome.

Curiously enough, the favorite sites are the corners of the mouth and about the nose. The first lesions to appear are watery blisters or blebs which rupture readily, leaving a raw, oozing surface. The discharge is thin and straw colored and—when dry—forms a yellowish crust which thickens as time goes on. If these scabs are removed with olive oil or some other nonirritating fluid we discern the red, moist areas beneath, which produce a sticky exudate. It is this substance on fingers, towels, or eating utensils that carries the disease to others.

Routine management hitherto consisted of ammoniated mercury ointment, the percentage adjusted to the resistance of the skin. Some children will tolerate 3 per cent, others 10 or higher. As a precaution, every victim should sleep alone—with the pillow case changed daily. Finger nails should be cut to avoid scratching. As a preliminary to treatment the parts may be moistened with peroxide of hydrogen and then dried with paper tissue—whereupon most of the scales will loosen and come away. Later, the ointment may be applied.

Recently the suggestion was offered by Seldowitz that rubber containing 8-hydroxy quinoline is more effective than any other plan. Care is taken not to disturb the crusts. The infected regions are covered with a thin layer of gauze and the rubber preparation put on. Additional dressings and adhesive will hold the material in place.

In his report, the lesions—on the whole—responded quickly. Only 3 of 38 cases failed to improve satisfactorily. One of the exceptions proved to be stubborn. A 10 year old boy had been treated previously with ammoniated mercury without the slightest effect. Nevertheless, with the newer preparation the sores disappeared and—within a week—the skin was normal. A month later, however, the lad returned with a new outbreak—due in this instance apparently to abrasions. These in turn yielded to the medicated agent. Two months later the face was again ablaze. In this case the general health and reserve were so poor that the ailment returned at intervals even tho healing was accomplished time after time.

It should be pointed out also that those who were afflicted with eczema on an allergic basis may provide just enough breaks in the surface of the cuticle to invite the disturbance. These children may exhibit crop after crop and find relief only when all signs of sensitivity have been eradicated.

When impetigo attacks newborn babes in hospital nurseries, we may face a far more serious condition. These tiny mites of humanity have so little reserve that occasionally the eruption will spread extensively over the body. In such a situation the most prompt attack is essential. Impregnated rubber has the advantage of reducing the period of disability, and many will recover in a week or less.

BABY'S SCHEDULE.

A. M. writes: How can we regulate our 2 year old's schedule so that he will not rise earlier than 8 a. m.? At the present time he sleeps from 9 p. m. to 7 a. m., and from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m. Would a reduction of the afternoon sleep be harmful? This might be the solution of our problem.

REPLY.

At his age I would not advise a change of program—unless it would be to put him to bed an hour earlier. Gradually, however—with a shorter afternoon nap—he may waken later in the morning.

DISEASED BONE.

F. B. writes: After having a tooth extracted my face became swollen and examination disclosed osteomyelitis. I was operated on and it took nine months for cure. Is there any danger of developing it again? Will the bone that was removed grow back?

REPLY.

If all infected material has been removed all should be well.

ONION BARRICADE.

S. A. writes: A friend places a dish of raw, sliced onions on the bedroom dresser when any member of the family has a cold. Is there any benefit in this?

REPLY.

Yes, but only to other members of the family. The odor keeps them from visiting the patient.

YELLOW JAUNDICE.

F. C. M. writes: Is yellow jaundice contagious?

REPLY.

Most cases are due to mechanical obstruction to the outflow of bile. There is, however, a type of infectious jaundice which is contagious.

CROSS-ROADS ECONOMISTS.

Danville, Ill., Feb. 19.—There has been so much said and written about the depression, which makes it all the more difficult for the common man to weed out what is worth while. Invariably, when you hear it discussed by liberal or conservative they will agree that this country has the man power, the equipment, the soil to produce practically everything we need, in quantities far beyond our power to consume. Only on rare occasions does either make any constructive recommendations as to what should be done to correct the direct cause for our unemployment. Perhaps it would be beneficial if some of the would-be economists could listen in on some of the discussions which take place in the crossroads country stores. In these discussions you will hear more horse sense suggestions than the New Deal has proposed in its seven years of existence.

The country people believe that as a rule the city people want too much for their services; that when work gets bad or the factory closes down the direct cause is that the workers have shirked their responsibility to produce an article at a price the buyer is willing to pay; that in always demanding shorter hours of work and higher wages the workers themselves are the direct cause for the declining market for the product of their services; that the underlying cause of unemployment is the ideas of the labor racketeers, who in order to acquire prestige and wealth at the workers' expense propose these policies with little care for the workers' real welfare.

What do the country store talkers base their opinions on? Simply observing what has taken place in communities where workers are dominated by officials of labor unions; that the demand for the services of these workers has steadily declined; that the number employed on railroads, in building industries, in mining, has declined as the unions dictated hours of work and wages; that no plan heretofore offered would relieve unemployment as much as reducing wages until demand exceeds supply; that no business should be subsidized; that services should not be subsidized; that relief is nothing more or less than a subsidy; that in plain horse sense relief means if they will not pay what you think your services are worth we will provide for you thru tax money and make the thrifty pay for your keep. AMOS COWAN.

PURSUING THE ANALOGY.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Did Parrish run out of ink in his cartoon entitled "The Boys in the Back Room Can't Seem to Make Up Their Minds"? To complete this picture he should have labeled the bottles as follows: Sullivan, 6 months old; Hershey-Slattery, 12 months old; Stelle, 18 months old; Adamowski, 20 months old. Then at the end of the bar he should have Old Man Voter with a big broad smile on his face taking a snifter out of a bottle labeled G. O. P., Pre-war Vintage. JIMMY KEEGAN.

FOR AN EMBARGO.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Many people, under the impression that this is a Christian nation, take exception to your editorial, "Roaring at Japan," in Thursday's TRIBUNE. You ask: "What vital interests have we in China?" These: We have a very vital interest in having China take her place among the nations as a Christian republic, the thing she is fighting to do. Her leader and practically all who hold important government offices are Christian, not in name only but in actuality. If we are a Christian nation, how can we continue to be 90 per cent murderer of China, furnishing Japan over 90 per cent of the scrap iron, steel, copper, and aviation gasoline to kill Chinese? Why should we be afraid to place an embargo on Japan? If she can't finish murdering China unless we furnish the guns, then how can she fight us?

We also have a very vital interest in remaining among the treaty keepers. We signed the Nine Power treaty, and if we are afraid to keep our word then we are too lily-livered to call ourselves Americans. E. F. FERRIS.

PANHANDLING DE LUXE.

Chicago, Feb. 17. — Every Saturday afternoon this winter we long suffering radio listeners are assailed by piteous cries for help to save New York's Metropolitan grand opera from death and starvation. Today the Hon. Fiorello La Guardia added his small falsetto to the chorus.

Please, what is the matter with New York City? Is it unable to look after its own charities? Of course, it would never do for us to starve our grand opera stars or ask them to go on relief. Or, would it? All they are asking is a paltry million dollars. This, say they, will save grand opera from going on the rocks. What with Polish relief, Finnish relief, and our own poor who are always with us, where in the long list are we to place the poor, half starving opera stars? ALFRED GORDON.

GERMANY AND FINLAND.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—In your editorial of today on Finland you say that Germany is in part to blame for the plight of the Finns. To set things right let me say that it was England and France who first solicited Russia's aid against Germany so that it became imperative for the latter to make as good a bargain with the former as she could under the circumstances. Otherwise Germany would not have thought of entering into a political pact with the Reds.

I believe that most Germans are profoundly sympathetic with Finland. However, Germany cannot allow herself to be destroyed for the sake of the Finns any more than the Swedes can afford to incur the ire of Russia by making common cause with the Finns, no matter how glad they would otherwise be to do so. Without the Russian pact forced upon Germany by England and France, Russia would not have dared to attack Finland. Hence the blame for Finland's plight is to be laid at the door of England and France. M. METLEN.

ANYWAY, LINCOLN SAID IT FIRST.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—In Philip Kinsley's last very fine article, the 12th inst., describing 31 active years of Lincoln's life, he says "At Clinton he told the people: 'You can fool all the people some of the time, and some of the people all of the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time.'" Both in print and over the radio I have heard this wise remark credited to the late P. T. Barnum. How come? F. S.

REPAIRS ORDERED.

Chicago, Feb. 15 [Friend of the People].—I should like to call your attention to the condition of a building on Milwaukee avenue.

The glass from the windows in this building is broken and strewn all over the sidewalk, making it difficult and dangerous for those of us who work in the neighborhood to walk by this property. There is an opening in the sidewalk—roughly about 3 by 12 feet—about which a barricade had been placed but which has been knocked right thru to the basement. It is difficult to walk around this opening and it is not safe for pedestrians to walk into the street at this point because the traffic is heavy.

This property has been gradually getting worse [if that is possible] since last summer. The police department, when called, advise that the matter is out of their hands, as they have had previous calls regarding it and have in turn reported it to the building department.

Something should be done about this before there is a serious accident. L. B.

The owner of the above mentioned premises has been notified to make all necessary repairs to the building, and if the work is not done at the expiration of time allotted in our notice, we will proceed according to law.

The condition of the sidewalk has been referred to the department of streets and electricity for attention.

RICHARD E. SCHMIDT,
Commissioner of Buildings.

TRUSTEE'S DEED.

Chicago, Feb. 14 [Legal Friend of the People].—I would like to have you explain in plain words [1] what a trustee's deed is. I bought a lot in a subdivision 15 years ago and was given a guarantee policy by the Chicago Title and Trust company and a trustee's deed from the bank.

Will you please explain to me [2] what is meant by these, too, and [3] if it will be all right, as I want to try to sell it this spring. L. C. Z.

1. It is a deed in which the grantor is a trustee. Ordinarily such a grantor does not undertake the warranties which would be involved in an ordinary warranty deed.
2. It is not clear what two you mean.
3. It is nearly always advisable for a purchaser of real estate to employ an attorney thruout, and we advise you to employ one now. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

How Our States Got Their Names

42. UTAH.

Utah gets its name from the Utah nation of Indians. The word means "in the tops of the mountains" or "high up." Other meanings sometimes given are "the land of the sun" and "the land of plenty."

Utah state seal. Shield, surmounted by arrows and American eagle, bears state motto, a beehive, sego lilies, and date [1847] of first settlement. Shield is flanked by American flags. In outer circle is date [1896] of statehood.

Utah became a state on Jan. 4, 1896.

Utah's nicknames are the Deseret state [the Mormons at first gave their colony the name State of Deseret], the Bee Hive, Mormon, and Salt Lake state. It also is known as the Land of the Saints. The state coat of arms has a beehive shown on it, and the other names refer to the Mormons and the fact that they call themselves Latter Day Saints, and to the Great Salt Lake.

The state motto is "Industry," the flower the sego lily, the tree the blue spruce, and the state song "Utah, We Love Thee."

BEGIN CITY-WIDE SALE OF MILK IN GIANT BOTTLES

2 and 4 Quart Containers Delivered to Homes.

The home delivery of milk in two and four quart bottles, heretofore restricted to certain neighborhoods, was started in a city-wide basis yesterday by leading dairy companies.

The companies started the distribution in the large containers last Jan. 5 in nine neighborhood districts as an experiment. Executives of the companies, which include the largest, Bowman's and Borden-Wieland's, were reluctant to discuss their reasons for expanding.

It was learned, however, that the milk price war had as much to do with the extension of two and four quart service as did popular demand.

Competition a Factor.

Competition has been keen among the smaller companies to offer the large containers in districts not covered in the original experiment. This was regarded as one factor in hastening installation by the large companies of equipment to supply the entire city with the two and four quart containers.

Another factor was believed to be the price cut initiated in the groceries last January by the cut-rate dairies.

The cut, made to offset the loss of trade caused by the home deliveries of large containers, lowered the store price from 10½ to 8½ cents [plus a 2 cent bottle deposit]. The larger dealers met this price in the stores, but held their two and four quart prices to the same level, altho the single quart price in the stores thus was lower than the 10 cents per quart for four quart bottles delivered to the home. [The price per quart for home delivery in the two quart bottles is 11 cents. The price for single quarts, home delivered, is 13 cents.]

Sales Increase Discounted.

Dairy officials said the 10 to 15 per cent increase in sales volume during the first month of two and four quart sales has now disappeared. While a number of persons changed from one to two quart bottle purchases, no appreciable increase can now be detected in the consumption of milk, they said.

"The expected economies in distribution have not developed," said a Borden-Wieland official. "Present costs of distributing milk in large containers do not justify the low introductory prices. This may necessitate a price revision."

One dairy official said the 8½ cent price in the stores was unprofitably low and that there was a question of how much longer it could be continued by the dairy companies as a whole.

FINE LOVE PICKET AFTER AUTO HITS CONSTABLE'S CAR

Fred Bowker, 216 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, the "love picket," was fined $20 yesterday when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rudolph C. Weichbrodt in Oak Park on charges of driving without a license and driving with improper license plates. Bowker was arrested Feb. 19 after a collision at Pleasant street and East avenue in the suburb with an automobile driven by Edward Orth, 813 Belleforte avenue, a village constable. Bowker won his "picket" title last summer when his bride's parents refused to let him see the former Lorraine Landon, 16 years old, after she and Bowker returned from a runaway marriage. Bowker picketed her grandparents' home and later got her back.

Store Sues Against Order to Discontinue Free Bus

Attorneys for Goldblatt Brothers' department stores filed suit in the Circuit court yesterday appealing from an order of the Illinois Commerce commission to discontinue free bus service from Cicero, Berwyn, and Brookfield to their store at Turner avenue and 26th street. The company contends the bus serves only customers and should not be classed as a public utility.

BOY HITCHES HIS BEDSPRING SLED TO AUTO; KILLED

Last night's snow brought death to James Sheehan, 16 years old, 1446 Hood avenue, a student at Senn High school. With four friends he improvised a sled out of a narrow bedspring and hitched it behind an automobile. He lost control of the clumsy "sled" in front of 6722 Glenwood after his companions had been thrown off and swerved under another automobile. He died early today in the Ravenswood hospital. The driver was Lee Berthold, 52, of 7442 North Hoyne avenue, a salesman, who was unaware the boys had hitched to his car.

Harry Collins Temple, 8 years old, 2948 78th court, Elmwood Park, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile at 74th and Grand avenues in the suburb. The driver, Willard Gingher, 2549 Newcastle avenue, said the boy ran in the path of his machine before he could stop.

Charles Wesley Sears, 14 years old, 1837 Estes avenue, died in the Norwegian-American hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Thursday when he fell from the bumper of a car driven by John McNelis, 6536 Lockwood avenue, near the Sears home. McNelis was unaware that the youth was on the rear of the car.

Joseph Zimny, 18 years old, 250 East 14th street, Chicago Heights, was seriously injured at the 23d street crossing in Chicago Heights when the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Dixieland struck his truck and carried the wreckage and Zimny for four blocks.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 145 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of this number 109 were killed in Chicago, where 3,137 were injured in the same period.

JURY 'FIX' FIGURE FACES HEARING IN CAR DEATH TODAY

Court to Act on Vinci's Habeas Corpus Writ.

A hearing will be held by Chief Justice John Prystalski in the Criminal court today on a writ of habeas corpus filed yesterday in behalf of Joseph Vinci and Gus Alex, who are being held by police in connection with a hit and run automobile killing. Vinci is a defendant in the 11th ward vote fraud case from which arose a jury fixing scandal.

Joseph Vinci.

Vinci, who lives at 2808 Union avenue, and Alex, who lives at 4710 Madison street, were arrested early yesterday behind a saloon at 2501 South Halsted street. They were standing near a sedan which police said answered the description of the car in the hit and run case. Alex admitted he owned the car, which had borrowed dealer's license plates.

Car Bears Dealer's License.

The victim was Adam Zabielski, 65 years old, 5256 South Kenneth avenue, a janitor. He was struck and fatally injured at Archer and Kostner avenues by a sedan that sped away after the driver switched off the lights. The car bore a dealer's license, police were told.

Questioned last night by Lieut. Arch Kane, Vinci and Alex denied being involved in the accident. Vinci refused to answer further questions by police. "My name is Joe Vinci and that's all I'm supposed to tell," he told Kane. Police said pieces of broken glass found at the accident matched bits of glass in the broken headlight of Alex's car.

Vote Fraud Arraignment Monday.

Vinci and the election board of the 52d precinct of the 11th ward will be arraigned Monday in Criminal court on charges of stuffing the ballot boxes in the judicial election last June. Vinci was at liberty on bond in the vote fraud case.

COMPOSER CHIEF WILL FACE FRAUD HEARING MARCH 5

The telegraphic warrant for Buck's arrest accused him in connection with A. S. C. A. P.'s efforts to collect fees from Montana radio stations and theaters for the use of music composed by its members.

Buck reiterated his intention of fighting extradition to Montana. He was supported in this stand by the members of the University of Arizona music faculty, who telegraphed Buck "You have our wholehearted support in your fight for the American composer."

N. Y. FIRE CHIEF AND 18 OTHERS QUIT THEIR JOBS

New York, Feb. 23 [Special.]—Fire Commissioner John J. McElligott and 13 other high ranking officers of the fire department took Mayor Fiorello La Guardia by surprise today by their sudden mass retirement from service, and drew a statement from the mayor that every pension allowance except that of Commissioner McElligott would be contested by the city.

The wholesale retirements were due to fear of reduced pension allowances when the new fire department pension system becomes effective on July 1.

McElligott, who held the dual office of fire chief and fire commissioner, resigned both positions. His retirement allowance, which the mayor said was protected by law, is equal to his salary of $11,250. The figure represents a budget salary of $12,500 reduced by last year's 10 per cent pay cut.

Mishawaka Pastor Killed in Collision of Autos

Mishawaka, Ind., Feb. 23 [Special].—A head-on collision between two cars at Oak Grove, in Madison township southeast of this city, this morning caused the death of the Rev. MEDICAL PARLEY TOLD OF WORK IN CRIME DETECTION

Identification by Blood Tests Described.

Scientific crime detection can transform the saliva on a cigaret stub into a clew which may result in the identification of a criminal, a conference sponsored by the Institute of Medicine of Chicago was told yesterday.

Dr. Isreal Davidson, pathologist at Mount Sinai hospital, told the conference of advances in the development of blood grouping tests and their use in police work.

Saliva Provides Clew.

He said certain types of blood can be determined by examination of saliva and other secretions, and that thus the saliva on a cigaret stub might lead to the identification of the smoker.

Dr. Davidson said the use of blood grouping tests in crime detection is relatively new in police work and explained that the tests do not provide absolute identification, because more than one person may have the same type of blood.

Court Acceptance Slow.

Fred Inbau, director of the Chicago crime detection laboratory, said courts have been slow to accept the evidence obtained thru such tests because they do not insure absolute identification. He said only four states—Wisconsin, New York, New Jersey, and Ohio—have statutes permitting the introduction of blood grouping evidence in court.

Capt. John Howe, chief investigator for Police Commissioner Allman, said the crime laboratory, in coöperation with the medical profession, constitutes a detection system superior to the famous ones used in Europe.

WAGE PLAINTIFF FETCHES FETCHIT A LEFT TO CHIN

Stepin Fetchit, colored comedian who is always so tired in his film rôles, was wide awake yesterday in Municipal court when Judge Frank E. Donoghue asked him whether he was guilty of failing to pay $84 claimed by William Baskin, colored, of 1446 South Sawyer avenue.

Baskin said that Fetchit, whose real name is Lincoln Perry, owed him the money for services from Jan. 29 to Feb 19 as chauffeur, valet, bodyguard, and press agent. He said he'd been hired at $35 a week. Fetchit said Baskin was a hanger-on and denied he had hired him. Judge Donoghue dismissed the charge.

A moment later in the corridor Fetchit shed some more of his languor when Baskin landed a punch on his chin. Then they both went away from there.

BARTENDER UNION AGENT INDICTED ON FIX CHARGES

Dennis Kelly, business agent for the bartenders' union of Joliet, and his secretary, Miss Evelyn Welch, were indicted yesterday by the Will county grand jury on charges of perjury, obstruction of justice, and tampering with a juror.

The charges grew out of Kelly's trial last month on charges of vote fraud in connection with the county judicial election last June 5. He was acquitted on a directed verdict when the state's chief witness refused to testify against him.

Kelly and his secretary are accused of visiting a prospective juror called in the vote fraud trial and attempting to persuade him to consider the case favorably for Kelly if selected in the jury.

Knapp had paid four yearly premiums of $1.25 each. The policy, which was for $1,500, increased 10 per cent in face value with each renewal. The check was presented to Mrs. Knapp by Eben Sabin, manager of the Federal Life Insurance company agency here.

DISMISS SANITARY WORKERS' SUIT IN $160,772 PAY CUT

The Illinois Appellate court dismissed yesterday the appeal of 360 Sanitary district employés for $160,772 claimed as back pay for 1932. The decision affirmed a Superior court ruling rejecting the employés' petition. The amount sought represented a 10 per cent salary cut made in 1932.

The higher court's opinion, written by Judge Kickham Scanlan and concurred in by Judges John J. Sullivan and Hugo M. Friend, stated that, if this and other similar claims were allowed, the district would be obliged to pay all employés for the years 1932 to 1937, when wages were fully restored, nearly $3,000,000 in back pay.

NAME CHICAGOAN BEST 'UNDRESSED WOMAN' OF YEAR

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—Introducing—"The best undressed woman of the year"—Miss Janice Logan!

This award was bestowed tonight by the art students upon the youthful newcomer to the screen, a Chicago junior leaguer. The selection was announced at the league's annual ball after the entire student body had examined photographs of actresses, chorines and debutantes on the basis of draped magnetism and femininity, without the aid of the dressmakers' art.

The league, weary of annual selections of the country's 10 best dressed women, selected these ten best undressed women—all screen actresses—in the order named: Miss Logan, Marlene Dietrich, Dorothy Lamour, Ruth Terry, Zorina, Miriam Hopkins, Carole Landis, Shirley Ross, Ann Sheridan, and Vivian Leigh.

Airplane Drops Supplies to Men Marooned by Ice

Quincy, Ill., Feb. 23 [Special].—Supplies were dropped from an airplane to two men marooned on an island in the Mississippi just north of Quincy today. Because the ice is unsafe for transport but too thick for navigation, the men have been cut off from the mainland for the last two weeks. They are Harvey Potter and Charlie Gustison, caretakers of a hunting camp owned by Joseph Heckenkamp and Eddie Spickler. While the ice was frozen solidly supplies were sent to the island by sled from La Grange, Mo., just across the river.

OPERA HANGS OUT A WELCOME SIGN ON DOOR TO FAME

31 Singers Heard in First Day of Auditions.

The door to fame and glory in the world of opera had a welcome sign on it yesterday, and thru it trooped 31 men and women to test their fortunes with the Chicago City Opera company.

The first chorus audition for the coming opera season brought singers of every voice, every nationality, and every aspiration to the Civic Opera house. Some had hopes of becoming divas. Some confessed they would be happy with supporting roles. Many admitted they had only choral ambitions. But each had a chance to sing before seven judges.

300 to Be Auditioned.

"It is the first time such opportunities have been offered the public," said Henry Weber, musical director of the opera company, who presided at the audition. "We are always hopeful of finding voices that may be trained and improved, eventually to be graduated into starring roles. Between now and March 4, when rehearsals begin, we will hear 300 young singers, and choose 75 chorus voices from the group. They will be given a complete course in opera work."

Yesterday's contestants ranged from a young stenographer, almost too frightened to stand beside the piano, to a poised Russian mezzo-soprano, who calmly declared the stage was always hers; from a blithe young basso, who refused to sing an operatic aria because they're too deadly," to a perspiring tenor who had lost his music on the elevated and was hastily brushing up on a new piece.

Refugee's Wife a Candidate.

There was the sweet faced wife of a German refugee, Mrs. Maria Avelis, 1026 Hyde Park boulevard, who studied for 10 years in Berlin with Francillo-Kaufman, and is only now turning to professional appearances for an income. "And I simply must find work soon," she said anxiously. "My husband was a lawyer in Germany, but that doesn't help us here."

Another hopeful candidate was Miss Leocadia Surkus, 5952 South Green street, who is working in a law office. "I hate to work days," she explained, "and unless I get on here I'll have to go on getting up early in the morning."

The judges were Edgar Nelson, Noble Cain, Edward Barry, Claudia Cassidy, J. Charles Gilbert, Helen Howe, and Zella B. Sand. Mrs. Sand, poted choral director of Toledo, O., won first place with her singers in the 1938 Chicagoland Music Festival, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. She will assist in today's auditions also. Other auditions will be held on Monday and Tuesday, and on March 1 and 2.

TRAINMAN TELLS INQUEST FATAL WRECK COST JOB

Dismissal of a North Western railroad employé of 15 years as the result of a fatal accident in North Chicago last Nov. 22 was revealed yesterday at the inquest in Waukegan over Harry M. Anderson, engineer who was killed.

Anderson was at the controls of the Winnebago, northbound from Chicago to Menominee, Mich, when the locomotive crashed into a railway motor car that had been used by carpenters repairing a fence. The locomotive and four cars were derailed and Anderson was scalded to death when the engine overturned. None of the 130 passengers were injured.

Dr. John L. Taylor, Lake county coroner, delayed the inquest until testimony could be taken in Victory Memorial hospital from the injured fireman, Stanley Mack. Earl H. Bloom, 435 South Jackson street, Waukegan, foreman in charge of the carpenters, testified he had lost his job after the accident. He said he had misread a schedule card and did not think a train was due, but that the motor car still could have been removed from the train's path had not a wheel caught in a crossing as the men tried to push it from the rails. The jury returned an open verdict.

WOOD OF W-G-N NAMED MUTUAL SALES MANAGER

The appointment of Edward W. Wood Jr., sales manager of W-G-N, as sales manager of the Mutual Broadcasting system, was announced yesterday by W. E. Macfarlane, president of the network. Wood will open sales headquarters for the network in New York City by April 1. He has headed the Chicago sales staff of W-G-N for five years. Prior to that he was in charge of the station's New York sales office.

Wood's appointment was announced following a two day meeting in the Drake hotel of members and shareholders of the Mutual system. Contracts with members were ratified and shareholders' agreements accepted at these sessions. Further development of the network was discussed by the directors and the operating board of the Mutual system.

COUNTY'S ZONING PLAN DELAYED BY REAL ESTATE MEN

Assail Commercial Restrictions.

A program to protect residential builders in the unincorporated areas in Cook county outside of Chicago received another setback yesterday when representatives of several real estate operators objected to a proposed county zoning law.

The objections were made at a meeting of the county board committee on public service and the county zoning commission headed by Robert J. Kingery, general manager of the Chicago Regional Plan commission.

Ordered to Report March 4.

Kingery's commission had recommended adoption of a temporary zoning program until final zoning regulations are adopted by the county board. When the real estate men objected to the interim law the county board committee referred the matter back to the zoning commission committee with instructions to report back to the committee on March 4.

LeRoy J. Keneval, sales director for Frederick H. Bartlett & Co., objected in behalf of real estate operators to the adoption of any interim law. He protested particularly the restriction in the building of industrial and commercial structures under the proposed legislation.

This provided that new business or industrial structures must be located on sites within 200 feet of districts where manufacturing or commercial districts are now established. The provision was recommended, Kingery said, to protect residential districts from being encroached upon by new commercial or business centers.

Plans to Hear Objectors.

Kingery said he would call realty objectors before the county zoning commission to hear further about their objections. He said that lack of a definite zoning program leaves the county open for unrestricted building.

Kingery said that three counties in the Chicago area—Kane, Kendall, and Lake—had operated on interim zoning laws pending completion of final regulations. Complaints have been made, he said, that lack of a zoning program in Cook county has brought about unregulated use of billboards, automobile "graveyards" and other types of nuisances detrimental to property.

A resolution introduced by Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, set up health safeguards against water pollution.

Miss Hutchins to Be Bride of A. M. Ryerson

BY JUDITH CASS.

At a small tea at home in Astor street yesterday Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hutchins announced the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Anthony Mitchell Ryerson, son of Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson of Lake Forest. The wedding will take place next fall.

Miss Hutchins attended St. Timothy's in Catonsville, Md., and spent a year traveling abroad with Miss Stout's school before making her debut in the winter of 1938. Mr. Ryerson attended the Brooks school and the University of Chicago and is engaged in business here.

The marriage of Miss Hutchins and Mr. Ryerson will link two old and well known Chicago families. Miss Hutchins is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Keep. She has a sister and a brother, Mrs. John J. Boriand II, and Chauncey Keep Hutchins. The brother was married two years ago to Miss Polly Wardwell of Brookline.

Mr. Ryerson is a great-grandson of Joseph P. Ryerson, who came to Chicago from Philadelphia in 1842. Joan Ryerson, his sister, was married to George W. W. Brewster Jr. in May, 1938, and lives in Boston.

Miss Hutchins and her parents are leaving for Boca Grande, Fla., next Wednesday to be away for one month.

Reveal Engagement of Elizabeth Otis.

Further romantic news of interest today comes from Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Otis who are announcing the engagement of their sister, Elizabeth Otis, to Charles Hazeltine Currier Jr., son of Charles H. Currier of Nokomis, Fla. No plans have been made for the wedding.

Miss Otis makes her home with her sister, Miss Julia Otis, in Barrington. The Misses Otis have two married sisters, Mr. Daniel H. Burnham and Mrs. Arthur P. Scott of Chicago. They are the daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Otis of Barrington.

Mr. Currier is a nephew of George A. Seaverns of Lake Forest and Nokomis. He has two married brothers, Gordon, who lives in Nokomis, and Jefferson Currier of Lake Forest, whose wife is the former Gwendolyn Bowen.

Miss Otis attended Beloit college and the Ambler School of Horticulture and Landscape Gardening, and has been doing landscape gardening in Barrington for the last two years. Mr. Currier attended schools in Kansas City and Vevey, Switzerland, and is engaged in business in Chicago. He and Miss Otis will make their home in Barrington.

Seek Winter Sports for the Week-end.

The big question every week-end for skiing enthusiasts is "Where shall we go?" Skiing was poor yesterday at Wilmot, Wis., Chicago's newest and nearest ski hills. Some Snow Chase club members, among them the Corwith Hamills, are leaving tonight for Houghton, Mich., to return on Monday morning.

Lots of suburbanites will spend the week-end at Long Lake lodge in Phelps, Wis. The Walter Straubs and Sue and John; the George Spauldings and their youngsters, Anna, George, and John; the Harold Tidemans and Margaret and Catherine, and Mrs. Louise Thorne Bovingdon and her daughter, Joya, are among the many at the lodge.

Phelps usually is crowded with youngsters on week-ends. Hardin Smith and Robert M. Adams Jr. are spending their holiday from the Francis Parker school there.

Fortunate skiers at Sun Valley can count on a good day's sport every day. At the resort now are the Donald F. Boweys, the junior Arthur T. McIntoshes, Doneld McLennan Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Fentress, Miss Ethel Johnston, Mrs. Robert S. Pirie, and Irving Peck Jr.

The Eugene McVoys are arriving at home today from Sun Valley. The F. Harney Bassetts returned on Thursday. The McIntoshes will return next Friday, Mr. McLennan and Mr. Peck are expected at home next week. The Boweys will not return until March 19, but they will leave Sun Valley earlier to go to Tacoma and Seattle to visit her parents, Dr. and Mrs. George Kashline.

Key Club to Hold Auditions Tonight.

Miss Lela Ellis and Miss Elizabeth Stenson, debutantes of this winter; Miss Karen Gardner, Miss Kay Littlefield, Miss June and Miss Kay Nelson, and Mrs. Nelson Thomasson III. will sing or dance at the Key club tomorrow night in a series of auditions. The winner will be rewarded with a week's engagement at the club.

Miss Emily Goehst, a former president of the Service club; Mrs. John Kovas, head of the Chicago Junior league's Children's theater department; Edwin M. Ashcraft III., and Andrew Rebori will be among those judging the performers. The young entertainers will appear on the raised entrance inside the club so that guests on both the first and second floor levels will be able to see and hear.

Farewell Party Tonight for Norman A. Intos.

The Clymer Bowens are giving a farewell roller skating party for Mr. and Mrs. A. Norman Into this evening in Waukegan. The Intos soon will be leaving Lake Forest for Greenwich, Conn., which they consider their other home. Mrs. Into was formerly of Greenwich, and her husband's business often takes them east for long periods.

President and Mrs. Franklyn B. Snyder of Northwestern university will be the especial guests at a library tea the associate alumnae of Northwestern are giving tomorrow at the home of Mrs. George F. Falley, 147 Dempster street, Evanston. Mrs. Thomas B. Singleton of Glencoe is president of the alumnae.

Riposte.

Nora is a Gaelic-speaking native of County Galway, a pleasant, happy sort of girl employed as a maid by a Chicago family. She reads printed matter in English without dixculty, longhand with considerable trouble, and her own handwriting is as hard to read as that of the average great man. Recently her employer picked up a piece of paper from the kitchen floor and noticed that it was covered with what looked like a beginner's efforts to write in English.

"What's this, Nora?" she asked.

Nora took the paper from her employer with a pleasant smile and answered: "Sure, what the fairies write, ma'am, only the fairies can read."

Which is as pleasant a way of saying mind your own business as could be imagined.

SPRING OFFENSIVE.

Each year I long for spring, and so
I tell my heart that ice and snow
Will melt and underneath the sod
The hyacinth begin to nod.

But now I only hear the tread
Of marching men, and see the dead,
And hear the cannon's hateful sound
When tulips break thru frozen ground.

And now I tell my heart, "Be still;
Be glad for winter's cold and chill."

Cuff Notes.

The cane man at Quincy and Dearborn streets has been a familiar sight for many years, but there will be no cane man this year. He died yesterday, at the age of 77. His name was Kohn—Louis P. Kohn. . . . Simile for describing complexion of man returned from Florida sojourn: He looks as if he had had a blood transfusion from an Indian. . . . A group of Chicago's fairest models from Michigan avenue salons are taking rhumba lessons on Monday evenings at the Drake hotel. Line forms to right! . . . Re the little-man-who-wasn't-there gags: Do you suppose, inquired L. Nott, that his favorite song is Gershwin's I've Got Plenty of Nothin'?

Callous?

Definition of spring (Joan Lamb's): When the snow and a young man's fancy turn to slush.

Preparedness.

Mrs. Norman Barry was exercising her two wirehaired fox terriers and happened to stop in a candy store on Granville avenue. While she was there a campaigning politician dropped in and engaged her in conversation. His approach covered the weather and the lovely hat she had on. "I do think the women's styles are so attractive this year! By the way . . ." and he went into his modest buildup. His pockets bulged with cigars and his face was newly shaved for baby kissing. After a few minutes of cajoling he noticed the dogs. Smiling winningly he said, "You'll vote for me, won't you, doggies?" And he produced from his pocket a handful of dog biscuits.

White Frosting Plays Big Role in Spring Styles

BY REA SEEGER.

Crisp snow white frosts all the navy blue spring clothes and the dull black outfits. Frills, ruching, outline edging, jabots, lapel covers, unusual bib collars, sharply shaped deep cuffs, shallow cuffs, and boutonnieres make a brave showing all over town.

Spanking white piqué, probably the whitest stuff available, also makes white new millinery finds and the swanky masculine cut waistcoats, the fake fronts and sleeveless blouses to wear with tailored suits.

Later on, the smartest of new dinner dresses will be made of fine white piqué tailored precisely, with an inimitable dash that only this material achieves.

Eyelet embroidery frills will pick up necklines, outline cuffs, hip pockets and race around a hemline. Some frills are gathered, others are in old-fashioned quilling formation and some are circular effects. White braid in all widths will be seen on the outside of pockets whether the pockets are part of the bodice or the bigger units accenting the hip or waistline. This braid rage goes to the head in perky little turbans or pill boxes made entirely of loops of the braid, in prim shallow crowned sailors with a scarlet band and a white veil with scarlet dots, and with white braid trimming glove cuffs, bags, and the matching belts.

Famous Choir Is Too Much on Showy Side

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The world famous Westminster choir, which is domiciled in Princeton, N. J., but which spends a great deal of its time on the road, sang twice in Chicago yesterday. First there was a short, late afternoon program on W-G-N, then a full length evening concert at the Civic theater. John Finley Williamson conducted.

The afternoon appearance added one more to W-G-N's redoubtable list of 1940 feature broadcasts. The evening concert gave the local choirmasters, critics, and public a chance to try to discover for themselves the qualities which have made the Westminster choir so tremendously successful. For this is the organization which in a single year is making appearances with three of the nation's most renowned orchestras—the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, the NBC Symphony, and the Philadelphia.

Making a stunning stage picture in their sumptuous cassocks, the 40 men and women of the choir ranged last night thru a program which included both Orlando di Lasso and Stephen Foster, both J. S. Bach and Harl McDonald. What the choirmasters and the critics and the public found out—if they are in accord with the views of this writer—was that the Westminster choir is a virtuoso outfit with the virtues and the faults that one associates with the term.

The choir has extreme brilliance of tone, remarkable precision, and an almost unlimited dynamic range. It makes a big show out of everything it does, continually astounding the audience by the way it laughingly brushes aside technical difficulties which would stop an ordinary group dead in its tracks. And these facts doubtless account for the choir's success.

Yet in general the group's work is theatrical rather than musical, effective rather than moving. Instead of an easy flow of natural open tone there is an undue amount of lushness, preciousness, and overmeticulousness. The effect is often one of tenseness rather than ease.

A distrust for the simple and the natural is sometimes carried to fantastic extremes, as when the second verse of so candid a little song as "Old Black Joe" was done in an artificial pianissimo with an unpleasant humming accompaniment. Oh, for a beaker full of simple, four part harmony, with everybody singing the words in a naive, open mouthed way!

This sounds very bad—yet how can one laugh off the opinion of Barbirolli, Toscanini, and Rachmaninoff, all of whom are said to approve the Westminster choir? There is some great misunderstanding somewhere.

Launch Illinois Valley Music Fete at Peru

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Peru, Ill., Feb. 23 [Special].—A music festival was born here tonight. The affair, to be held in connection with and previous to The Chicago Tribune's Chicagoland Music festival, will be sponsored by a committee chosen from the three cities of this community, Peru, La Salle, and Oglesby.

Herman Fredericks, adjutant of Peru post, No. 375, American Legion, was unanimously elected chairman of the festival committee. Scott Weller, secretary of the La Salle-Peru-Oglesby Chamber of Commerce, will be secretary of the committee. Harold Snedden, recreation director of Oglesby, is a member.

The festival will be held in the La Salle-Peru High school stadium, which seats 5,000 persons. Winners of the contests will enter the Chicagoland finals to be conducted on Saturday, Aug. 17, in Chicago.

Among those who helped establish this Illinois Valley Music Festival association are Mayors Al Hasse, Peru, Dr. H. M. Orr, La Salle, and Frank Moyle, Oglesby. Others who attended the organization meeting held in the Legion headquarters were Ray Bannon, La Salle; Fred Erienborn, president of the Citizens Service organization of Peru; Dr. Frank Jensen, superintendent of the La Salle-Peru-Oglesby High school and Junior college; Frank Lang, and Hugh Price, prominent musician of Peru.

It would seem that every third citizen of this community is a band director. A concert was presented tonight by the Peru Junior Legion band. Conductors were Lee Petersen, Angelo Fontechio, Charles Mitchell, William Pierce, Jack Schalla, and Dr. Ralph H. Woods, composer, and regular conductor of this group. From a distance were Hugh Black, band director at Wheaton, and Capt. Howard Stube, Chicago High school bandmaster and chairman of the instrumental contests for the TRIBUNE'S festivals.

If you are interested in the beautifully simple flower arrangement of the Chinese and Japanese you've probably found it difficult to obtain the correct flower containers. If so, you'll be glad to hear that just the right thing is being made in Vermont and is now available in Chicago. Long, low, rectangular bowls, short, cylindrical ones, and squarfish ones, absolutely plain and made of lead that looks like pewter, are ideal receptacles for spring and summer garden flowers. They are a real find.

Thrift Shop Reopens Today

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Harold E. Wilkins Jr. and other members of the Beverly Hills center of the Infant Welfare society will attend a grand reopening of the center's Thrift shop at 10821 South Michigan avenue at 1 o'clock today. The shop has been redecorated and was restocked at a bundle tea held yesterday.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

From the notebook:

According to the American Perfumer, the British ministry of security has listed another horror of war. It has officially called the attention of English women "to the fact that the temperature conditions obtained inside the facepiece of the gas mask cause the nonwaterproof eye black to run, leading to smarting of the eyes, profuse tears, and spasms of the eyelids. This produces an urgent desire to remove the mask, with dangerous results if gas is present."

When you count your blessings reflect on how nice it is not to have to cope with gas masks, with or without eye black. Also how nice it is to have our good mascaras, most of which wouldn't act up like that under the same gruesome circumstances.

Also, from abroad, we hear that attempts are being made to perfect a luminous makeup that will shine in a blackout. There, if you like, is the good deed in the naughty world!

You'd be surprised [we're sure the people who make it are agreeably flabbergasted] at the popularity of Hungary water. Thisis, apparently, a nostalgic year. A great many of the old preparations of one kind and another are madly sought after all of a sudden. A 50 year old perfume, for instance, is rediscovered in a big way this year.

And Hungary water, which was essential to the fastidious woman of two generations ago, is now being pounced upon by women of all ages as a delicate, completely charming grooming aid. ELEANOR NANGLE.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

I guess fans must like the combination of clew conscious lovers and a force of dumb police. Anyhow, we have it always with us. . . . Guess, too, folks enjoy watching Joan Blondell and Melvyn Douglas sleuth, scrap, and coo in company, being as how they're always casting them together. [Remember their neat teamwork in "Good Girls Go to Paris" and "There's Always a Woman"?]

"The Amazing Mr. Williams" follows the popular "Thin Man" pattern, with, of course, variations.

The lady, who, at the start, is so agin boy friend's profesh that she wastes time and brain work on schemes for getting him fired from the police department, changes her tune completely by the time "The End" reels around.

What causes this right about face is what you witness as you watch "The Amazing Mr. Williams."

This piece is both yes and no. It's banal and dull in some spots, snappy and amusing in others. You'll love the place where Mr. Douglas, setting out to be a decoy for a woman slashing moron, dolls up in feminine apparel, donning with elegant ignorance a girdle which he puts on over his slip, unmindful of the fact that later he is to have difficulty attaching his garters to his stockings. . . .

The story is not remarkable for its originality. The dialog is bright enough, but not too bright. Excellently acted, the piece is fun. [But not TOO much fun.]

See you tomorrow.

Benny Goodman Plays for Old Neighbors in Hull House Area

Benny Goodman, bespectacled swing master, who is appearing at the Chicago theater, sandwiched a jam session in between shows yesterday. The session was for his old neighbors at Hull house.

"Boys and girls, Benny's back!"

That was the simple but adequate presentation speech by the head resident, Miss Charlotte Carr; adequate, for every one of the 1,000 youngsters squeezed into Bowen hall at Halsted street and Gilpin place knew the story of the 10 year old boy who wandered into Hull House 20 years ago to join James V. Sylvester's music class. Sylvester was the most brightly beaming member in yesterday's informal welcome-home committee.

Down on the platform the old alumnus sat, long legs dangling over. The famous clarinet swung high, swung low. His audience pushed up close. Everybody sang. Everybody swayed. Everybody stamped out the rhythms.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Glamor, 1940 Type.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 23.—It was suggested in this department some weeks ago, that glamor as we once knew it had gone, never to return. . . . As case histories, this reporter pointed out that in "Strange Cargo," Joan Crawford will be seen in rags and without makeup, only getting to wear one evening dress in eight reels.

In "The Women" we had Paulette Goddard and Rosalind Russell biting and clawing. . . . In "Destry Rides Again" Marlene Dietrich did a Jim Londos with Una Merkle. . . . In "Ninotchka" Greta Garbo let down her hair and romped.

In "Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex" Errol Flynn hauled off and hit Bette Davis a whack on her bustle. . . . In "Gone with the Wind" Clark Gable shoved Vivien Leigh down a flight of stairs. . . . In "Drums Along the Mohawk" Henry Fonda slapped Claudette Colbert smartly across the face. . . . In "Hollywood Cavalcade" Alice Faye receipted for a custard pie.

But I would have made a substantial bet that Irene Dunne, regardless of the 1940 de-glamoring process, would resist to the bitter end,

I am glad that I didn't make the bet, because Miss Dunne has gone the way of all glamor girls. . . . In fact, she has exceeded them, because in her next picture the ladylike Kentuckian will go in for some wholesale dunking.

On the set of "My Favorite Wife," Irene Dunne-Cary Grant starrer being directed by Garson Kanin, they are getting ready to push Miss Dunne into a swimming pool for the sake of art and laughs. The swimming pool is at the Vista del Arroyo hotel in Pasadena, where the company is on location, and Miss Dunne, Grant, and Randolph Scott are sitting at a table at the edge of the pool.

The idea is, you gather, that Miss Dunne gets up in a huff and starts to walk out on the two men. But as she flounces away from the table she bumps into a waiter and does an Eleanor Holm.

This sounds like an easy thing to do, bumping the beauteous Miss Dunne into the pool, but it is a matter which calls for the best efforts of some of Hollywood's best minds. Leo McCarey, who made "Love Affair" and "The Awful Truth," and is producer of "My Favorite Wife," is on hand, huddling long and seriously with Miss Dunne, Kanin, Grant, Scott, Rudy Mate, head cameraman, and with the bit player who bumps Miss Dunne into the drink.

It has to be decided whether Miss Dunne will carry her fur muff into the pool, and whether her fur hat is supposed to stay on or fall off, and whether her hair gets mussed. McCarey says it will be much funnier if her hair does not get mussed.

Then for a time, while a close shot is being made across the table, Miss Dunne practices falling. There is a platform in the pool where she is going to fall, with a mattress on the platform. Three times the waiter bumps, and Miss Dunne cries "O" and bounces on the mattress.

Then the platform and mattress are taken away and the cameras are set up for the shot in which Miss Dunne actually goes into the water. So that the cameramen can see the action [there are three cameras], a stunt girl doubles for Miss Dunne in rehearsals.

Miss Dunne sits at the table, looking very calm for a lady who is about to go swimming in furs and a tailored wool frock. Everybody is very quiet. Mate looks at the sky and at his photo-electric light meter and says that they will have to hurry or wait until next day.

Everybody, including a dozen bathing beauties, holds his breath, and Kanin, usually very quiet, barks "Go" in the resounding tones of a De Mille, and Miss Dunne goes into her huff, and the waiter starts toward the table, and Kanin yells "cut" and everybody lets out the breath he has been holding.

Kanin explains to the waiter that he isn't timing the scene right, and Mate looks at the sky and at his light meter and says "we've got to do it now or not at all." So everybody takes another breath and Kanin says "Go" again, very quietly this time, and Miss Dunne stands up and the waiter strides into the scene and bumps Miss Dunne, and into the water she goes—not too neatly. Randolph Scott dives in to be of assistance, and Miss Dunne, furious, shoos him away and stalks up the steps at the edge of the pool, where she is swathed in blankets until time for her to go back into the water for a close-up.

The dry McCarey and the dry Kanin agree that the scene is very funny indeed, and Miss Dunne, dripping from the shoulders down but with make-up and hat undisturbed, huddles in her blankets. The most ladylike lady of the screen has at last succumbed to Hollywood's belief that it is good boxoffice to rough 'em up.

Just how long this theory will hold is problematical. The fans get tired of glamor girls who never have their coiffures mussed: by the same token, the movie fans will get just as fatigued with pictures in which the glamor girls get booted around.

The climax will come, of course, when beautiful Hedy Lamarr, in the middle of an exotic love scene, is hit squarely in the face with a blackberry pie and goes into an Amos 'n' Andy routine. . . . That will be the de-glamorizing process at its peak. . . . Until that moment arrives the glamor kiddies won't be safe out here.

Will Your Child Occupy White House in 1980?

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We don't think of it this way, but:

"Somewhere within these United States, within the last few years, was born a child who will be elected in 1980 to the most responsible office in the world, the presidency of the United States. We cannot guess his name or whereabouts. He may come from any place and from any social or economic group. He may now be in the home of one of the soft coal miners, or in the family of a sharecropper, or quite possibly in the home of one of the unemployed, or in a family migrating from the dust bowl, or he may be surrounded with every facility, convenience, and protection which money can buy."

This arresting statement was made by Homer Folks at the first session of the White House conference on children in a democracy.

He goes on: "If we could unroll the scroll of the future enough to read his name and whereabouts, how many things we would wish to have done for him, how carefully we would wish to guard his health, his surroundings, his education, his associates, his travels, his ambitions."

How true this is!

It was in this spirit that the conference was conducted and in this spirit that its whole report concluded:

"What is needful and useful in preparing a President for his exacting duties is true in lesser degree of any public servant and leader of men. In our democracy it is true also of every citizen who exercises the right of suffrage, or carries his share of the common burden of doing the work of the world. What we might wish to do for that unknown child, the future President, we must be ready to do for every child, so he may be ready to live a full life, satisfying to himself and useful to his community and nation. . . .

"The White House conference on children in a democracy holds:

"That democracy can flourish only as citizens have faith in the integrity of their fellow men, and capacity to coöperate with them in advancing the ends of personal and social living.

"That such faith and such capacity can best be established in childhood and within the family circle. [The italics are mine.] Here the child should find affection which gives self-confidence, community of interest which induces coöperation, ethical values which influence conduct. Secure family life is the foundation of individual happiness and social well being.

"That even in infancy, and increasingly in later years, the welfare of the child depends not alone upon the care provided within the family, but also upon the safeguards and services provided by community, state, and nation."

INSTALMENT XLII.

A LAPSE OF MEMORY.

Clarke appeared to consider Marion's words. He reached out a shaking hand and drained his glass.

"It's all very well for you to talk like a governess, but you don't seem to realize I'm in a hole," he whined. "I've got a chance of getting out of the country—into the Balkans. I ought to do well there, doh't you think? But I must have money, and within 48 hours, too. I've found a Greek skipper who'll take me as a deck hand—but he's got to be paid, of course. And—there you are."

"How much does the Greek skipper want?"

"Fifty pounds, as a matter of fact. But——"

"I have a 120 or so," said Marion. "You can't have it all, or it will arouse suspicion. But I will give you the hundred. And there won't be any blackmail about that because I'm not in the least frightened of you."

"If you aren't afraid, why are you giving it to me?"

"Because I'm fool enough to believe that you're not a blackmailer at heart. This will prove whether I'm right."

At last Clarke thought he recognized a familiar situation. He had often been given money by women for reasons other than blackmail.

He got up from his chair and stood over her.

"You're in love with me, Marion."

"O no I'm not, Rory," she said, meeting his eye with a calm stare. "I might have been if we had met before you destroyed yourself. That's why I am giving you the hundred pounds. But you had better drive me back to the West End—or put me down somewhere where I can get a taxi."

She rose and drew her cloak about her.

"I will bring you the money here tomorrow," she added.

He shook his head.

"I daren't trust even you with this address. I shall have to blindfold you before we go out. I can meet you somewhere tomorrow if you're sure you won't be followed."

"The main tearooms at Harridge's at 4," she told him.

When Michael returned to the box he just whispered: "All right." His mother accepted the assurance and turned her attention back to the stage. Cynthia looked at him questioningly but he only shook his head.

Michael endured the rest of the show and was ready when his mother asked at the end of the evening why Marion hadn't returned.

"Some friend of hers was taken ill," asserted Michael. "She had to go at once and said we were not to wait for her. She didn't give me any details."

Between husband and wife there was a tacit conspiracy to deceive Mrs. Alloway for her own good. But she was silent on the drive back to the hotel, and with a brief good night went straight to her room.

"I shan't sleep until Marion comes back," she announced.

Bessie appeared in the hall to take her upstairs and help her into bed. As soon as his mother had gone, Michael rang Scotland Yard.

"There's been no casualty picked up by the hospitals," he was informed by Ranson's junior, Dempster. "Otherwise, Mr. Alloway, there's nothing to report."

That left nothing to do but sit up and wait until something happened, and Cynthia sat with him in almost total silence. Each was convinced that Rory Clarke had in some way contacted with Marion, but neither cared to say so.

And then at a quarter to 12 Marion strolled into the lounge.

"You look ghastly!" said Cynthia. "Michael, get her some brandy."

While Michael was ordering the brandy Cynthia whispered, "Did you see him?"

Marion stared at her blankly.

"I don't know," she said. And then with a shrug: "I've had a lapse of memory."

Cynthia looked indignant, even as Marion had looked indignant nearly a year ago when Cynthia had given precisely that explanation. She had thought it over on the way back. A lapse of memory, as she had herself pointed out to Cynthia, covers everything.

"I've had a lapse of memory," she repeated to Michael. "I was called to the telephone and I simply don't remember a thing until about 10 minutes ago when I found myself walking in Oxford street. I suddenly remembered who I was and called a taxi, and here I am. I'm going to bed."

She gulped the brandy and left them.

"There's something behind this," said Michael when Marion had gone. "Hadn't you better tell me what it is, Cynthia?"

"I don't know, Michael," answered Cynthia, with a certain literal truthfulness.

"Okay—then I'll have to find out myself," said Michael in a tone of voice that was strange to her.

. . . . . .

"Marion is having her hair done and she told me she wouldn't be in to lunch and that we're not to expect her till dinner," said Mrs. Alloway as they were waiting in the lounge for Michael to come back to lunch.

"I haven't seen her this morning," said Cynthia. "Did she seem all right?"

"O yes. But she was very uncommunicative," answered Mrs. Alloway uncomfortably. "She said she had to go and see a young couple whom she met when she was staying in town doing her arts-and-crafts work." She paused and added: "It's the first I've heard of them."

Presently Michael appeared and with him some one else—Dr. Treadgrove.

"We met in the hall," Michael explained, while Cynthia introduced him to Mrs. Alloway. "He won't stay to lunch, but we're going to have a sherry."

Dr. Treadgrove in his old-fashioned, rather fussy but rather nice way, wanted to hear all about Malta and William Michael. There was a ponderous joke or two about married life and the responsibilities to the younger generation and then he came to the point.

"It's an extraordinary thing, Miss—er—Mrs. Alloway, but Scotland Yard has been around to see me asking a lot of ridiculous questions. It seems they are on the track of some burglaress, or something, who has been impersonating you, but I daresay you know all about that. The detective wanted to know where I had sent you after I had told you to lie up last year."

"It's too bad that they should have bothered you, Dr. Treadgrove," said Cynthia. "I saw one of their men only yesterday. He could have asked me then."

"I thold him that you went to that place in Brighton where you'd been before. This morning they rang me up and said you had not been there."

"There was some hitch—I think they were full up," she answered. "So I went to stay with a relative of Mrs. Alloway's companion, Bessie Stockley—she was a trained nurse and looked after me very well. I've forgotten the address."

SYLLABUBBLES.

"Dear Mary Meade:

"So glad you thought of syllabub for the SUNDAY TRIBUNE. I had forgotten about it, but it's mighty good. I wonder if you would like to know a Kentucky way of making it. About 1880 it was made by beating egg whites, and adding a little grape jelly to color it slightly. Sometimes sugar was put into the egg, and a dab of grape jelly on top. Cream was poured over it and it floated on top of the cream. At our house it was piled high in a small sauce dish which sat on a small plate.

"A recipe in the Bluegrass Cookbook has a notation in my mother's handwriting. This is the recipe: 'Beat whites of six eggs to a froth; a tablespoon of powdered sugar to each white; into which beat red jelly, to give a pretty color. Whip a pint of cream sweetened and seasoned to taste. Pour first preparation over it. Serve with cake.' I suppose 'seasoning' meant Madeira wine. That was a customary flavoring. Thanks for reminding me of 'way back when.'—Mrs. Y., Rock Island."

"Dear Madam:

"Your recipe calling it syllabub is not, or does not, correspond to the syllabub I used to make, either drink or dessert. Syllabub is a bubble made of whipped, not whipping cream. The bubbles are gathered from whipping the milk and put into glasses or dessert dishes.—Mrs. S., Chicago."

"Dear Miss Meade:

"Your syllabub is a far cry from the real thing. It must be the 'Yankee' version, developed from lack of facilities for making syllabub. By this I mean a syllabub churn.

"This little gadget is a cylinder about eight inches long and two inches in diameter, with a dasher which forces air into cream, making it a light, airy concoction which is served in tall glasses, usually accompanied by fruit cake of wafers.

"Syllabub calls for light cream, and is flavored with sherry and a little sugar. Put the mixture in a deep bowl and churn. Stop occasionally to scoop off the bubbles and put them into glasses.

"A recent article in the New Yorker says the name came from 'swilling bubbles' and was taken from a British recipe over 300 years old. Many people say it tastes like flavored air. I am sure this description would not fit your recipe.

"It would be interesting to know whether it is possible to buy a syllabub churn in Chicago. I have one which was purchased in the south about 10 years ago. My mother has one which has been in the family for many years.

"This dessert always has been more or less traditional thruout the south during the holidays.—Mrs. L., Chicago."

[Cooking editor's comment: Well, maybe by dessert [Feb. 4] isn't quite like the old time syllabubs, but I think you'll agree that it's delicious, won't you?]

Calls America to Show Pride in Our Culture

Americans should abandon their bashfulness in lauding this country's culture, its art, and literature. National resources must not be overdeveloped to the detriment of cultural resources.

These sentiments were expressed last night by Lewis Mumford, author and lecturer, at the annual dinner of the Progressive Education association. The dinner, held in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House, was attended by more than 1,000 persons.

"We must overcome our sense of cultural inferiority, starting with our respective regions and working toward an appreciation on a national scale," Mumford said. "Let us learn about the regions in which we live—not only for the sake of getting the essential facts but for building up an emotional pride. Thus understanding of other regional cultures, of other ways of living will be developed. A start will have been made toward human coöperation.

"We have overvalued our national resources and undervalued our cultural resources. In one way we have admitted our abilities in inventing machines, in growing wheat, in technical development. But we have been too backward in admitting what has been created in this country in the sciences, arts, and literature."

"It's a good thing to know how many tons of coal are mined in one's state," he said. "It's also good to know the region's history as a living thing, its beauties, its general cultural values."

Educators, Mumford asserted, have a special task in aligning these new forces for their charges. "Realization of the rich historical and cultural traditions of their regions and of their country will ward them off from turning to barbarism—whether of a political or less harmful sort."

Preceding Mumford's address the Schurz High school chorus, conducted by Le Roy Wetzel, sang. Carleton Washburne, superintendent of Winnetka schools, who was reëlected president of the association earlier in the day, was chairman at the dinner.

Carlson Urges Survey to Map Efficient Care of Tubercular Patients

Chicago's present facilities for care of indigent tubercular patients whose infection menaces their fellow citizens is inadequate, Dr. Anton J. Carlson, chairman of the department of physiology of the University of Chicago, said yesterday.

In an address before the Cook County League of Women Voters Dr. Carlson urged a survey looking toward a better coördination of the care of tubercular sufferers in the city and county.

A part-pay plan for patients and stiffening of civil service requirements so as to raise personnel efficiency and minimize "political pressure" were other objectives recommended by Dr. Carlson.

Dr. Carlson asserted that by thoro study and long range planning adequate care can be given tubercular patients without greatly increasing the present tax burden.

Versatile Spring Suit Mode

WOMAN'S AND MISS' COSTUME.

This suit pattern has all the versatility of a dress and coat, too. The coat is made in two lengths, very tailored or semidressy with tuxedo front. The skirt is moderately flared and graceful. The blouse is a frilly model, just the right accent for a severely plain costume such as this one, infinitely smart but in need of some feminine touch.

The coat may be plaid and sporty, as illustrated, or simple and suave to match the skirt. The original costume is one women will like for its distinction, for it is of navy blue twill, with the blouse of pale pink chiffon.

Style No. 3216 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 2¾ yards of 54 inch material, with 2⅝ yards of 39 inch lining with coat for tuxedo front; 1½ yards of 54 inch material for skirt.

Style No. 3138 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement, and must be ordered separately.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Evanston Girl Has First Role in "Life with Father"

An Evanston girl, Aubrey Hynes, is playing her first professional rôle in the comedy "Life with Father," starring Lillian Gish and Percy Waram at the Blackstone theater. Miss Hynes, who was graduated from the Goodman theater drama school two years ago, is the daughter of Dibrell P. Hynes, 1519 Davis street, Evanston. She plays the part of Delia and serves as assistant stage manager. Miss Hynes is a graduate of Evanston Township High school.

On the House

Where storage space is lacking in a house it is always possible to build a lean-to on the back or side of a garage. Where it is possible, have the doors double, so large units or items can be easily put in or taken out. And by all means a window or an electric light or, preferably, both.

Home Radio Is the Innocent Cause of Ire

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"You wouldn't think domestic happiness could be threatened over what I am about to report, but that's the case right now. My mother-in-law and my sister-in-law live with my wife and me. My wife's sister is a songstress, very good, no doubt, altho she hasn't yet achieved stardom. But her adoring mother and sister feel she is stellar material and that she should be publicly recognized. All right so far, too.

"But no matter who is visiting us, after listening to radio stars on the air, singing what's proved to be the country's most popular songs, they embarrass both the company and me by exclaiming: 'How can she be a star? What has she that X [my sister-in-law] doesn't have?' Well, this leads to an argument, heated and foolish, but stinging remarks fly and feelings are bruised. In plain talk, I accuse them of professional jealousy. Here is the answer: 'Every one knows that publicity has put those on top—not their voices.' No amount of arguing or convincing on my part can show them they're wrong.

"Company is dragged in on the argument, suffering rudeness of the worst sort from my otherwise nice folk and they're staying away in droves now, as people who don't have to stand for family bickering won't stand for it. A silly complaint, you say, Miss Blake? But isn't it on such sillyisms that marital discord is built?"

Pride in the family songbird, Honest John, is an understandable trait. You must grant that. But why waste your breath trying to convince them they may be overstating the voice's worth? There's only one way known to kill an argument and it is to refuse to be a party to it. Simply pick up a book or paper and walk off into another part of the house when the argument threatens. With you and the company disappearing it may strike home that there's something wrong in their theory.

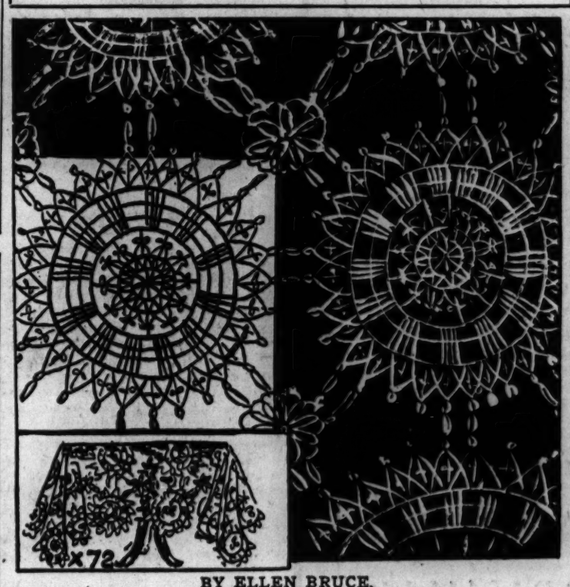
Clubs of Business Women Will Draw Plans for Association

An association to serve as a clearing house for business and professional women's activities of the Chicago area is to be formed as a result of the recent midwest conference on problems affecting women in business.

Miss Jessamine Hoagland, who was program chairman of the recent conference, said the "contact between the various organizations would enable all business and professional women to work together more effectively in matters affecting their common welfare."

Presidents of the 25 business and professional women's organizations which sponsored the conference have named a committee to draw up plans for the association.

Crocheted in Three Stitches



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Every once in a while we run across generous crochet workers who learned needlework in Europe many years ago. They are the possessors of rare and unusual patterns. The crocheted lace tablecloth illustrated today is made of medallions done in a combination of treble, picot, and chain stitches. These are joined by smaller medallions half the size of the completed one. Done accurately with No. 20 thread in ecru color, there is no more beautiful tablecloth imaginable.

For instructions in crocheting the lace tablecloth worked in the treble, picot, and chain stitches, No. X-72, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Proper Diet Is Essential to Loveliness

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

While this column likes to keep its readers well informed about new ideas in the world of beauty, it also pays heed to the old proverb, "man is what he eats," by modernizing it to "woman is what she does not eat."

Any of our active, intelligent girls of today, whether they are in business, society or playing the star rôle of cheerful little homemaker, understand fully the old adage, "beauty is more than skin deep."

They realize that all the marvelous and ingenious aids to beauty devised by our alert cosmeticians are not enough to put feminine pulchritude on a sound, dependable, permanent basis, because that means really going into the food problem. A substantial part of the creation of real beauty lies in starting from an inner foundation.

Some one has said that the science of dietetics is just common sense and that all of the supposed new discoveries about nutrition can still be reduced to what is now known as the diet of "protective" foods. For a really enlightened diet of this kind contains adequate milk, fruits, vegetables and eggs, of which milk is usually considered the most important, according to dairy council nutritionists.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Self-control is just as valuable a quality at contract as in most walks of life. Opportunities for its use arise in many different forms, even in the nontechnical matter of keeping one's temper under provocative conditions [induced either by partner or by fate].

Another form of self-control is involved in trap bidding. How many players would have reaped West's reward in the hand described below?

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 8 5 4 3
♥ 6

WEST
♠ K Q J 10
♥ A K Q J 7

♣ 7 2

EAST
♠ None
♥ 5 4 3

♣ K J 9 6 4 3

SOUTH
♠ A 9 7 6 2
♦ A K
♣ 8 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

It required restraint for West to pass over the opening spade bid. As a matter of fact, he did not even hope that North-South would reach such an exalted height as four-odd in spades against his holding; he was "laying back" for smaller game. North's jump raise [which was an inexcusable "stretch"] may have been music to South's ears, but it was much more delightful to West!

West did not make the mistake of choosing a heart for his opening lead. He realized that there was a grave chance of finding the dummy very short in hearts and, therefore, set about insuring his heart tricks by removing dummy's ruffers. His lead of the king of spades, followed by East's failure to follow suit, was the harbinger of disaster, from declarer's point of view. And, as the cards lay, there was no way to stop the massacre. The futility of leading a heart to take out dummy's singleton was apparent. West would get on lead and draw all of dummy's trumps.

Declarer cashed the ace and king of diamonds and then tried the club finesse. When it lost to East, the fat was in the fire. East returned a heart, West won and led out his trumps. After that he collected three heart tricks, for a grand total of eight tricks and 100 honors, a penalty of 1,500 points! A notable victory for self-restraint and a crushing defeat for North's superoptimistic raise.

PAUL DEAN QUITS GIANTS; OUT OF BASEBALL

FIRST OUT OF TOWN GOLDEN GLOVERS ARRIVE TODAY

CLEVELAND AND MEMPHIS TEAMS HEAD INVASION

300 to Compete in Stadium Tourney.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The invading teams which will take part in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions will begin to gather in Chicago today. The Memphis and Cleveland title holders will lead the procession. All day tomorrow others will be arriving and the array of 43 squads will be complete on Monday.

More than 300 out of town boxers will be on hand before the slugging begins in the Stadium Monday evening. Chicago's eight champions will join this huge field. For three consecutive evenings the fighting will go on simultaneously in three rings. There will be 112 bouts on Monday, 112 on Tuesday, and 96 on Wednesday.

But They're All Champions.

During these three night programs Chicago's boxing fans will get a look at every imaginable style of fighting. There will be big boys and little boys, from farms, from offices, from schools, and from factories. There will be hard straight punchers and clever, well polished boxers. Every one will have ability and courage, because every one is a champion in his own section of the country.

The army of invaders for the Tournament of Champions represents the best talent of 23 states from which boxers were drawn to the 43 centers in which newspapers coöperated with Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in conducting eliminations.

Don't Worry About Chicago.

In view of the vast scope of the tournament many followers of local boxing might fear that Chicago's eight champions will be lost in so large a field. It is true that these boys face a tremendous task. However, those who saw them earn their titles Thursday night in the Coliseum are convinced that they will give a splendid account of themselves against the toughest competition that can be mustered from all Golden Gloves territory.

This city will be represented in the Tournament of Champions by Harold Dade, Ray Brown, Joe Dupont, Eddie O'Connell, Savior Canadeo, Louis Angelucci, Hezzie Williams, and Cornelius Young.

Lighter Boys Fight First.

Boxers of the four lighter weights will perform on the first night of the Tournament of Champions. The heavier divisions will move into action on Tuesday. Fighters of all weights will struggle to survive on Wednesday night, when the field will be cut to four boys in each weight division. These will come back for the semi-finals and finals in the Stadium March 6.

The Memphis team, which will arrive today, drew the fighters for its tournament from a large portion of the south. Boys came in from western Tennessee, eastern Arkansas, Mississippi, and northern Louisiana. Every one of Memphis' eight champions is a seasoned fighter.

Cleveland Covers Big Field.

The Cleveland team, the other member of the advance guard, took in the whole northern part of Ohio in its tournament. That city has often sent strong contenders into Golden Gloves bouts of the past. It supplied Jimmy Reeves, light heavyweight champion, last year.

The last of the 43 out of town tournaments were held last night in Detroit and Wisconsin Rapids.

Prompted by excellent performance of Chicago's champions in the Coliseum tournament, local boxing fans started a rush for tickets to the Tournament of Champions so that they can see how their favorites get along against out of town opposition. Tickets are on sale in the two Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower lobby.

Bill and Red.

And Ruffing on the hill;
Plenty of grief for the batter
And a nation's baseball thrill.

Squatting there poised and intent
With fingers deep in the mitt,
Shouting a word of encouragement
And daring the swinger to hit!

Poised on the mound is Red
With courage enough to spare;
A crafty pitching thorobred—
With a catcher beyond compare.

Fans may attempt their matching
With speed and strength and skill;
But I'll take Dickey catching
And Ruffing on the hill!

Leading the youthful mind to understand
It needs no aid nor guidance from the Lord.
When life is freighted deep with destiny
And the young soul is plunged in constant strife
Can it be short of human tragedy
That God should be uprooted from his life;
Why should our colleges outlaw the Master

AMBERS PUNCHES DAVIS TO DEFEAT BEFORE 20,586

Lightweight King Earns Ten Round Decision.

Fight Decisions

At New York—Lou Ambers beat Al Davis [10]; Mike Kaplan beat Freddie [Red] Cochran [8]; Steve Belloise beat Eddie Dunne [8]; Frankie Gilmore beat Frankie Runyan [4].
At West Palm Beach, Fla.—Pietri Georgi stopped Butch Wooster [5].
At Memphis, Tenn.—Neville [Tiger] Beech knocked out Babe Davis [3].
At Indianapolis, Ind.—Irish Eddie Mader knocked out Eddie Boyles [6].

New York, Feb. 23 [Special].—It took more than two and one half years and the pressure of 38 ring engagements for defeat to overtake Al Davis, slugging Brooklyn welterweight, but the reverse came tonight in Madison Square Garden—and it came in exaggerated form.

Lou Ambers, world's lightweight champion, fighting a ten round over the weight battle, brought a decisive end to Davis' chain of victories. Before a crowd of 20,586, one of the largest ever to witness an indoor nonchampionship fight, Ambers baffled, bewildered, hammered, and punished Davis thru 10 rounds of action that carried a thrill almost every second, supplied almost exclusively by Ambers.

Crowd Cheers Verdict.

Referee Billy Cavanagh voted with Judges Bill Healy and George Le Cron in a unanimous decision that drew an approving salvo from the crowd which paid $66,749 to view the savagely waged, one sided battle.

Davis entered the ring with a tremendous weight advantage and a brilliant record of 37 victories of which 22 were knockouts, including among the latter Tony Canzoneri and Tippy Larkin.

But tonight Davis was just an ordinary fighter. Against the agile lightweight champion he looked more like the preliminary boy he was but a year ago.

It was easy for Ambers, after one threatening moment in the second round. In that session, after having lambasted Davis thru a whirlwind first round, Ambers danced into a roundhouse right to the jaw. A savage left hook followed and Lou's knees sagged. For a moment Ambers clinched—and he was himself again.

Ambers Weathers Storm.

In the fourth round Davis subjected Ambers to a withering blasting of body blows, but after that it was a cakewalk for the champion. He was the complete master of the welterweight.

In the fifth, sixth, and seventh rounds, Ambers gave his foe a boxing lesson. Davis was missing awkwardly. Davis turned southpaw with the eighth session and finished the fight resorting to this unorthodox stance. After a head-on collision early in the ninth, Ambers smashed Davis all over the ring. Davis spent the tenth round clinching when he wasn't being jolted by a rain of rights and lefts.

WISCONSIN RING TEAM DEFEATS W. VIRGINIA, 7-1

127 pounds—Clay Hogan, Wisconsin, beat Clam Hamilton, West Virginia [3].
135 pounds—Warren Jollymore, Wisconsin, beat Crispin Hernandez, West Virginia [3].
145 pounds—Capt. Omar Crocker, Wisconsin, beat Guice Tudor, West Virginia [3].
155 pounds—Woody Swancutt, Wisconsin, beat Bill Mucklow, West Virginia [3].

Budge will enter the finals Sunday against the winner of tomorrow's match between Fred Perry and Walter Senior of Chicago.

Cubs Pull Together First Day on Catalina

Cubs Go Right to Work Under an Unusual California Sun

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., Feb. 23.—When a California weather man predicts sunshine and it rains, that's routine. When a California weather man forecasts rain and the sun shines, that's news. It was under such a precedent that the Cubs were able to get a great workout today in their first 1940 didoes.

The weather was warm and the sun bright. So the lads turned out a half hour earlier than the call and instead of devoting the day exclusively to picture posing, as scheduled, they spent more than two hours at calisthenics, a rigorous performance for opening day.

Gabby Is Little Overweight.

There was a sizeable rubber shirt brigade, much larger than in the last few years. Leader of sweat squad was Manager Gabby Hartnett, who weighed 219, four pounds under his teeing off tonnage a year ago. The most conspicuous rubber shirt fellow was Julian Tubb, rookie pitcher, who is 30 or 40 pounds over weight, tho only 25 years old, and comes from Marion, Ala., where folks are supposed to subsist on grits exclusively, but obviously do not. The roster gives Julian's weight as 177, but doesn't say what year he was weighed.

Before the workout Manager Hartnett held a meeting of the 16 contract players now here. Gabby delivered a rousing speech in which he sought to point out that he is openminded about all hands, saying that everybody present had a chance to make the team, the matter being up to hustling zeal as well as baseball skill.

Midnight Means Slumber.

Gabby went into the matter of deportment, reciting rules that are to prevail now and thruout the season.

The curfew remains at midnight and is to be strictly enforced, regardless of how bad the cards are running, Gabby said.

The first day was not altogether happy for Dr. Rudolph Lind, Dr. Andrew Lotshaw's new assistant. A band of Cub veterans, suspected of working under the playful guidance of Lawrence French, locked the new doctor in the steam room—and turned up the steam.

He's a Member Now.

Dr. Lind piteously explained that he had not come to lose weight himself, but had been engaged to help the players drop poundage. The fiendish players paid no heed to these representations, responding by turning up the steam just a little higher.

The new doc watched the opening practice bundled in a sweater, but relieved that he had passed thru his hot initiation as a member of the Cub party.

PHONES TERRY HIS DECISION; NO SALARY ROW

Tigers Get Nelson from Athletics.

Winter Haven, Fla., Feb. 23 [Special].—As Manager Bill Terry arrived today for the New York Giants' spring training campaign, which gets under way tomorrow, he revealed that one of his big problems seems to have eliminated itself without any help from him.

Paul, Dean, who, along with his illustrious brother Dizzy, ranked at one time among baseball's topflight pitchers, has announced his retirement, Terry said.

"Dean phoned me a couple of nights ago," said Terry, "that after long and careful deliberation he had decided to quit baseball for all time. I asked him whether the contract we had sent him was satisfactory. He said he considered it very fair but that he nevertheless had come to the decision to retire. So I said, O. K. and hung up."

It's No Shock to Bill.

Dean's decision apparently did not perturb Terry to any great extent, beyond raising the question of what is to become of the $7,500 the Giants already have paid him. Terry said he would ask for a ruling from Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Dean seemed to have made a fairly respectable comeback with Columbus in the American association last summer. At least it was promising enough to warrant his purchase by the Giants at the waiver price of $7,500, with Terry planning to use Paul as a relief pitcher.

The retirement of Paul puts both the famous Dean brothers out of baseball, at least temporarily. Dizzy has barricaded himself on his farm near Lancaster, Tex., to remain there, he says, until the Cubs yield to his demand for a $15,000 contract. The Cubs are just as insistent in their stand that the limit is $10,000, with the promise of a readjustment if he takes his regular turn on the mound and makes a good showing.

Giants Offer Bonura More.

Manager Terry said Zeke Bonura's yelping from New Orleans had netted an offer calling for $2,500 over the original document, which would make the new offer $10,000. Zeke, however, still declares he isn't satisfied, which shows what a rugged individualist he is, considering that Terry plans on turning over the first base job to Rookie Babe Young.

SET RELIEF GAME PRICES.

Clearwater, Fla., Feb. 23 [Special].—Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, meeting with President Will Harridge of the American league and Manager Bill McKecknie of the Cincinnati Reds today set the prices for the All-Star game to be played at Tampa on Sunday, March 17 for the Finnish relief fund.

At the commissioner's insistence the contemplated 10,000 bleacher seats were priced at 50 cents each, altho it was the original idea of the committee to make $1 the minimum. For 3,100 uncovered grandstand seats the price is $1; for some 2,000 covered seats, $2; and for 860 box seats, $5 each.

LILLARD GOES TO MINORS.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 23 (AP).—The Cardinals announced today Gene Lillard, pitcher obtained from the Chicago Cubs in a deal for Southpaw Ken Raffensberger, has been optioned to Los Angeles of the Coast league.

YANKS TO FLORIDA TODAY.

New York, Feb. 23 [Special].—The last of the three metropolitan baseball clubs to leave for the south, the Yankees, shift their scene of operations after tomorrow to the St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp. Road secretary Mark Roth tomorrow afternon will herd a group of two ball players and Scout Paul Krichell on a Florida bound special.

Marius Russo, lefthander, and George Washburn, a righthand from Maine, constitute the playing strength. Manager Joe McCarthy will be taken aboard at Washington.

TIGERS GET LYNN NELSON.

Anaheim, Cal., Feb. 23 (AP).—Holdout Lynn Nelson, right hand pitcher who won 10 games for the Philadelphia Athletics last year, was sold to the Detroit Tigers tonight for the waiver price of $7,500. Manager Connie Mack announced the sale at the A's training camp here. Catcher Frankie Hayes is the only remaining holdout. Nelson is now at his home in Kansas City.

DICKSON LEAVES MICHIGAN STAFF; BECOMES A DEAN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 23 [Special].—Campbell Dickson, University of Michigan end coach, today resigned from the football coaching staff to accept the position of dean of students at Hamilton college in Clinton, N. Y.

His resignation, effective March 1, was received by letter and within an hour Head Coach Herbert [Fritz] Crisler announced that Ernest McCoy, former Michigan basketball captain, will be added to the coaching staff to assist in three sports.

NAME 15 TO RUN TODAY IN $20,000 FLAMINGO STAKE

Woolf Bids for 3d Victory in Wide Open Race.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP).—Fifteen 3 year olds will go a mile and a furlong for $20,000 tomorrow at Hialeah in the 13th running of the Flamingo stakes. A near record throng is expected to pack the Widener plant to add further luster to an already prosperous season.

First important 1940 test for 3 year olds in the east, the Flamingo is overshadowed in importance at Hialeah only by the $50,000 added Widener handicap on the closing date of the meet, March 2.

Woolf Tries with Entry.

Herbert M. Woolf of Kansas City, owner of the Woolford farm, will be trying to capture the Flamingo for the third consecutive year. Woolf won in 1938 with Lawrin, which later went on to capture the Kentucky Derby, and again in 1939 with Technician. This year the Woolford colors will be carried by the entry of Inscolad and Prompt Pay at 116 pounds.

Mrs. Payne Whitney has entered her Greentree stable's Red Dock, winner of the recent $5,000 added Bahamas handicap, while her son, John Hay Whitney has nominated Woof Woof. Barring last minute scratches, the 15 entries will bring a gross purse of $29,475, with $22,950 for the winner.

SEABISCUIT TRIES AGAIN

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 23 (AP).—Seventeen candidates for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap March 2 were named to run in the $10,000 added San Antonio handicap tomorrow at Santa Anita.

Final major engagement before the running of the handicap, the San Antonio drew top weighted Kayak II. and Seabiscuit from the C. S. Howard stable; Ra II., Preceptor II., and Comet II. from the Binglin stable; George W. Stratton's feared Heelfly, and Whichcee, Sun Lover, No Competition, Wedding Call, Vino Puro, Can't Wait, Viscounty, Anthology, Hysterical, Arjac, and Step By.

Admirers of Seabiscuit may be able definitely to decide whether the 1938 stake king's comeback is anything but an empty dream. Pointing toward his third try for the $100,000 purse, Seabiscuit in two races has shown little of his old time form. Turf experts expect Kayak II. to display vast improvement over his lethargic race of a week ago.

HARPER SHOOTS 67; TAKES LEAD AT NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, La., Feb. 23 (AP).—Chandler Harper, 25 year old pro from Portsmouth, Va., shot a brilliant 32—35—67 over the long, windswept City Park links today to tie the course record and lead the first round of the $10,000 New Orleans open golf tournament.

One of the last players to finish 18 holes, Harper bettered the 36—32—68 which put Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., in second place and the 35—34—69 which gave Tony Long of Inwood, N. Y., the third spot. Five players were tied at 70 and four at 71, making a total of 12 entrants to beat the course par of 72.

Low amateur was Wilford Wehrle of Chicago, with 37—36—73, followed by Fred Haas Jr. of New Orleans at 39—35—74.

Tied at 70 were Lloyd Mangrum of Oak Park, Ill.; Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y.; Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y.; Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., and Ralph Guldahl of Chicago. Gene Sarazen, the venerable Connecticut farmer, cracked out a 71 to tie with Sam Snead; Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., and Bud Williamson of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Di Re and Weiler Upset in Y. M. C. A. Handball

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 23 (AP).—Detroit's brilliant handball team—Dr. Milton Lappin and Al Zerbo—advanced into the finals of the National Y. M. C. A. handball tournament tonight. They will meet Richard Daviss and George Miller of Toledo, surprise victors over Robert Weiler and George Di Re of Evanston, Ill., 21-11, 21-14, for the title tomorrow.

PURDUE DEFENDS BIG TEN LEAD IN WISCONSIN GAME

N. U. Plays Iowa in Patten Gym Farewell.

College Basketball

GAMES TONIGHT.

Chicago at Indiana.
Michigan at Illinois.
Purdue at Wisconsin.
Iowa at Northwestern.
Minnesota at Ohio State.
Chicago Teachers at Indiana State.
Michigan State at Marquette.
Bradley at Augustana.
Concordia [River Forest] at Illinois Wesleyan.
Carleton at Beloit.
Monmouth at Lawrence.
American P. E. at George Williams.
Lake Forest at North Central.

The closely bunched Big Ten basketball race enters the stretch drive tonight with a full schedule of games. Purdue will attempt to protect its one game hold on first place against Wisconsin's improved quintet in Madison while Indiana's second place five entertains Chicago in Bloomington. Illinois and Ohio State, tied for third place, face respective invasions by Michigan and Minnesota.

Sentiment instead of championship aspirations revolves about the game between Northwestern and Iowa in Patten gymnasium since it will be the last basketball game to be held in the gymnasium which is to be torn down soon to provide space for the new technological institute.

Athletic Center 30 Years.

For 30 years, Patten gymnasium has been the site of Northwestern's indoor athletic contests and the Purple cagers would wish for nothing more than to leave the historic structure with a victory. Several hundred tickets are still available and will be on sale until game time.

Iowa displayed vast improvement while holding Indiana to a 46 to 42 victory Monday night. In Vic Siegel, sophomore forward, the Hawkeyes possess one of the outstanding marksmen in the conference. He ranks seventh in scoring with 75 points. Erwin Prasse, captain of last fall's football team and a former Schurz High school star, will start at guard for the Hawkeyes.

Wisconsin's luckless quintet will attempt to salvage a disappointing season by upsetting Purdue.

Purdue, which resorted to defensive tactics Monday to conquer Michigan, 25 to 17, owes its first place position more to team balance than individual brilliance. Don Blanken, the team's leading scorer, is ninth in individual scoring with 69 points.

Illini, Ohio Still in Race.

After playing two hard games against Northwestern and Iowa last week-end, Indiana faces a relatively easier opponent in Chicago. However, the Maroons displayed unexpected power in winning their first game of the season against Minnesota.

Illinois will attempt to stay in the title running against Michigan, which has dropped four out of its last five conference games. Ohio State, which turned on a furious second half attack to defeat Northwestern Monday night, needs a victory over Minnesota to remain in the race.

One hundred residents of Edwardsville will celebrate Handlon Night, honoring Colin Handlon, senior guard on the Illini. Coach Doug Mills probably will start Capt. Bill Hapac and Walt Evers at forward, Vic Wukovits at center, and Handlon and Henry Sachs at guard, but Harold Shapiro, Joe Frank, and Johnny Drish will also probably see action.

Lane Tech Swimmers Lead in Trials

Lane Tech of Chicago led the preliminary qualifiers in the annual state high school swimming meet last night in New Trier Township High school in Winnetka. The finals will be held this afternoon in the same pool.

Amundsen led the Lane squad by establishing the best time in both the 50 and 200 yard free style events. Lane made best times in the 150 yard medley relay, 200 yard relay, 100 yard breaststroke, and 100 yard free style. Qualifiers follow:

The Hirsch juniors defeated Harper, 50 to 23, in a Chicago Public High School league game yesterday at Harper to tie with Englewood and Hyde Park for second place in the south section.

A play-off will be necessary to decide which will enter the quarter-final series. Each has won five and lost three. Parker is the section champion.

In the north section Roosevelt's juniors were assured a playoff berth when they whipped Lake View, 42 to 26, at Lake View. Roosevelt has one more game next week, and the other sectional qualifier will be decided when Waller meets Lane.

The Roosevelt and Schurz seniors won to remain tied for second place in the senior battle, each with seven triumphs in nine starts. Roosevelt beat Lake View, 35 to 34, and Schurz triumphed over Steinmetz, 32 to 30. Lineups:

FENSKE AGAINST THE FIELD SETUP IN A. A. U. MILE

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—The National A. A. U. track meet will be held in Madison Square garden tomorrow night with a cast that includes individual defending champions in all but two events.

The competitors come from as far away as Torrance, Cal., home of Lou Zamperini, who is expected to offer the strongest threat to Chuck Fenske's string of five straight mile-running victories. From the New York A. C. clubhouse, a few blocks up the street, comes a mass entry which is likely to weld another link in the chain of winged-foot team championships.

For the first time since 1932, the racing part of the program returns to yards, and, for the first time in its history, the meet will be run with six point-scoring places.

Fenske is an odds-on choice to win his first national title. Yet there would be strong precedent if he did lose. Glenn Cunningham came into the nationals in his first major indoor season, in 1933, with an almost equally impressive record, and still was beaten by Gene Venzke.

Venzke, who set the meet record at 4:15 in 1932, and Cunningham will be in against Fenske and Zamperini. So will Archie San Romani.

Four Changes Made in Prep League Lineup

August H. Pritzlaff, director of physical education of the Chicago Public High School league, yesterday announced four changes in the makeup of sectional groups for the 1940 football season. The decision to shift the teams into new competition was reached at a meeting of board of control representatives in the board of education offices.

There will be four sections as in the past, but only eight teams in each. One of the changes involved Schurz, perennially a title contender in the north section. Schurz's team, coached by Robert Koehler, former Northwestern star, is located at 3601 Milwaukee avenue on the northwest side of Chicago, but next fall it will compete in the west division.

Taft, a new member of the league, will replace Schurz in the north zone. Farragut, which participated in the west section last year, will move to the central, and Hyde Park, which once ruled the central section, will shift to the south. Here's the way the teams will line up next September:

NORTH SECTION.

Amundsen. Senn.
Lake View. Sullivan.
Lane Tech. Taft.
Roosevelt. Waller.

WEST SECTION.

Austin. Marshall.
Crane Tech. McKinley.
Foreman. Schurz.
Kelvyn Park. Steinmetz.

CENTRAL SECTION.

Du Sable. Kelly.
Englewood. Lindblom.
Farragut. Phillips.
Harrison. Tilden Tech.

SOUTH SECTION.

Bowen. Hirsch.
Calumet. Hyde Park.
Fenger. Morgan Park.
Parker. Parker.

The placing of Schurz into the west section will make this zone the strongest in the league, in the opinion of several coaches. Schurz, which lost to Fenger in the finals for the 1939 title, will have as rivals Austin, for two years city champion; Crane Tech, Steinmetz, and Marshal, which always produce formidable squads.

THREE SEEDED STARS LOSE IN INDOOR TENNIS

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—Three seeded players in the national indoor tennis tournament were eliminated today as Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., Edward Alloo of Berkeley, Cal., and Joe Fishbach of New York lost to unranked opponents in second round matches.

Cooke, a finalist at Wimbledon last year, and rated behind topseeded Bobby Riggs in the draw, lost to Marvin Kantrowitz of New York, 6-3, 2-6, 9-7. His defeat came a few moments after the sixth seeded Fishbach had dropped a 7-5, 3-6, 9-7 encounter to Alfred Jarvis of Tenafly, N. J.

In the concluding duel of the day, Alloo, who preceded Fishbach in the seedings, was swept aside by Frank Froehling of Chicago, 6-4, 6-4. Riggs rested today and will make his bid for a spot in the third round tomorrow when he faces Lester Kabacoff, Alloo's fellow townsman.

UNIT OF MIDDLE WEST DISCLOSES PRICE OF BONDS

Kentucky Utilities to Offer Large Issues.

Prices at which Kentucky Utilities company proposes to issue $26,000,000 of bonds were disclosed yesterday in Washington, D. C., by P. L. Smith, president of Middle West corporation. Middle West controls Kentucky Utilities.

Testifying before the Securities and Exchange commission in connection with the offering, Smith said the Kentucky company will offer its $20,000,000 of first mortgage 4 per cent bonds due 1970 at a price of 102 and accrued interest.

Offer 4½s at 101½.

The $6,000,000 of 4½ per cent sinking fund mortgage bonds due 1955 will be offered at 101½, Smith said. He also disclosed that the company proposes to pay 3¾ per cent interest on a $6,000,000 bank loan which it plans.

Wisconsin Electric Power has filed an application with the Securities and Exchange commission covering an issue of 282,098 shares of new 4½ per cent series preferred stock and 141,049 shares of common stock.

Exchange of Stock Proposed.

The company's plan calls for an exchange of each share of its outstanding 6 per cent preferred stock for one share of the new preferred and one-half share of common plus a cash adjustment in dividends of about 27½ cents a share of 6 per cent preferred stock. The unexchanged 6 per cent preferred will be called for redemption on June 1 at $110 per share, plus accrued and unpaid dividends, the exchange to be effected only if at least 60 per cent of the stock held by others than the parent company, is deposited.

The new preferred stock would be convertible into common stock until June 1, 1952, at the rate of five shares of common for each share of preferred.

25 PCT. OF BANK ASSETS PUT IN FEDERAL LOANS

Deposits Set New High Record.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—National banks had nearly 25 per cent of their assets in United States government obligations on Dec. 30, 1939, when their assets and deposits reached new peaks, according to a report issued today by Preston Delano, controler of the currency.

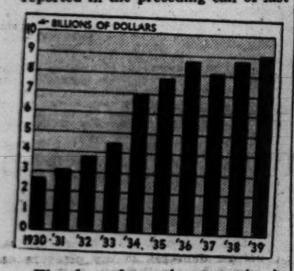
Preston Delano.

The gorging of banks with inactive funds and increased investment by banks in government obligations, as other investment sources shrank, are shown in the statistics presented. The administration's easy money policy and general oppression of business are blamed by administration critics for this condition, representing stagnation of the capital markets.

New High Marks Set.

Delano announced that total assets and deposits for the 5,193 active national banks in the continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and the Virgin Islands, on Dec. 30, the date of the latest bank call, were higher than on any previous call date.

Total asests of the banks were 35 billion, 319 million dollars, an increase of 635 millions over the amount reported in the preceding call of last



The chart shows the steep rise in national banks' holdings of government securities.

Oct. 2, and 3 billion, 653 millions higher than on Dec. 31, 1938.

Deposits on Dec. 30 totaled 31 billion, 613 million dollars, an increase of 632 millions over Oct. 2, and 3 billion, 562 millions higher than on Dec. 31, 1938.

Holdings Much Larger.

Investments in United States government obligations, direct and fully guaranteed, totaled 9 billion, 74 million dollars, the highest on record for a year-end report. This total was an increase of 32 millions since last Oct. 2 and an increase of 368 millions for the year. Direct government obligations last Dec. 30 amounted to 7 billion, 117 million dollars, and indirect obligations but fully guaranteed by the treasury amounted to 1 billion, 957 million dollars.

Since 1930 the rise in government bond holdings has been steep, as shown in the following figures on total holdings by national banks at the close of the calendar years [in millions of dollars]: 1930, 2,655; 1931, 3,176; 1932, 3,761; 1933, 4,469; 1934, 6,960; 1935, 7,812; 1936, 8,686; 1937, 8,073; 1938, 8,706; 1939, 9,074.

Financed Deficit Spending.

This increase in government loan holdings assured the administration of financing for its deficit-spending policy, which has doubled the federal debt to a total of more than 42 billion dollars thru a string of successive deficits.

Other bonds, stocks, and securities held by the banks last Dec. 30 amounted to 3 billion, 738 million dollars, including 1 billion, 785 million in obligations of states and political divisions. These other investments were 83 million dollars lower than last Oct. 2 and 16 millions less than those held on Dec. 31, 1938.

Loans and discounts, including overdrafts, amounted to 9 billion, 44 million dollars at the close of 1939, an increase of 279 millions since last October and up 555 millions for the year.

Figures on Deposits.

The deposits on the last call date consisted of demand and time deposits of individuals, partnerships, and corporations of 14 billion, 941 million dollars and 7 billion, 717 millions, respectively. Savings deposits, included with the time deposits of individuals, partnerships and corporations, totaled 6 billion, 910 million dollars, and represented 16,157,329 accounts.

United States government deposits amounted to 559 million dollars, and deposits of states and political divisions totaled 2 billion, 81 millions.

Fels-Naptha Soap Company Grants Bonus to Employes

New York, Feb. 23 [Special].—Samuel S. Fels, president of the Fels Naptha Soap company of Philadelphia, today announced payment of a bonus to all employés for 1939, a practice uninterrupted from the start of the century. Today's payment, combined with that made at Christmas time, ranges from a minimum of 13 per cent to a maximum of 40 per cent of annual wages or salaries, the general average being 20 per cent, the amount being based on length, type, and quality of service.

Expulsion Club Waved in Stock Market Fight

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—Members of the New York Stock exchange who voluntarily deal publicly on out-of-town exchanges, such as the Chicago Stock exchange and the Boston Stock exchange, in stocks also listed here, may be expelled from the New York membership, it was learned today.

Robert L. Stott, chairman of a special committee looking into the practice which has resulted in great loss to some members here, turned in his report today. Reliable sources said the report urged upon the board of governors of the exchange rigid enforcement of an existing rule calling for suspension or expulsion as the penalty for such dealings.

Doesn't Ban Specified Orders.

However, it was said this would not interfere with a member carrying out the order of a customer in specified manner.

It has been charged that, in order to escape the New York state transfer tax, New York Stock exchange registered securities have been dealt in some other exchanges, based on New York ticker tape prices. The Chicago exchange, for example, has formally regularized the practice, with the result that such trades now constitute about one-third of the Chicago business. In Boston they amount to 10 per cent.

AWAIT OFFICIAL WORD.

Chicago Stock exchange officials said last night that they had not learned the contents of the report. Until they receive official word, they said, they will not take action.

NEW YORK ANNOYED.

New York, Feb. 23 [Special].—Members of the New York Stock exchange tonight were reported to be irked by statements issued by other stock exchanges on hearing that the "big board" plans to forbid its members to act as dealers on other exchanges in stocks listed in New York. The statement issued by Arthur Betts, chairman of the Chicago Stock exchange, was said to be particularly annoying.

Some stock exchange members have labeled recent statements of outside exchanges as "intentionally misleading." They say it is entirely incorrect to give an impression that the impending action of the New York exchange would prevent its members from executing customers orders on other exchanges.

STANDARD GAS BYLLESBY SUIT RULING DELAYED

New York, Feb. 23 [Special].—Supreme Court Justice Aron Steuer today reserved decision on motions to dismiss a suit for an accounting of more than $44,000,000 against H. H. Byllesby & Co., Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., six other corporations, and 32 individuals.

The suit, which was brought by former United States Senator Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware as special trustee for the Standard Gas and Electric company, alleges that the defendants enriched themselves at the expense of the corporation and that they wasted and diverted its assets between 1923 and 1930.

In their motions to dismiss attorneys for the defendants argued that the suit should be brought in Delaware and that the New York court was without jurisdiction. They also pointed out that the action was outlawed by the statute of limitations.

REPORT ACHESON MAY BE NAMED UTILITY TRUSTEE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Reports circulated in the capital today that Dean Acheson, former undersecretary of the treasury, likely would be one of the trustees for the billion dollar Associated Gas and Electric Utility system. The system, once headed by Howard C. Hopson, went into bankruptcy Jan. 10, and the selection of trustees is now before Federal Judge Vincent L. Leibell in New York.

Speculation over who will get the appointments has centered largely on John W. Hanes, like Acheson, a former undersecretary of the treasury. Mention of Hanes has drawn criticism from several important New Deal sources. Hanes still is regarded as a probable selection, but as one of four to be chosen rather than as a single trustee.

Acheson is looked upon favorably by some of those who have objected to Hanes. He now is practicing law in Washington.

FEDERAL PROBE IS STARTED ON GYPSUM MAKERS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Attorney General Jackson announced today that a broad investigation of the gypsum industry had been undertaken as a part of the nation-wide anti-trust inquiry into buildings costs. Gypsum is a basic constituent of wall plaster.

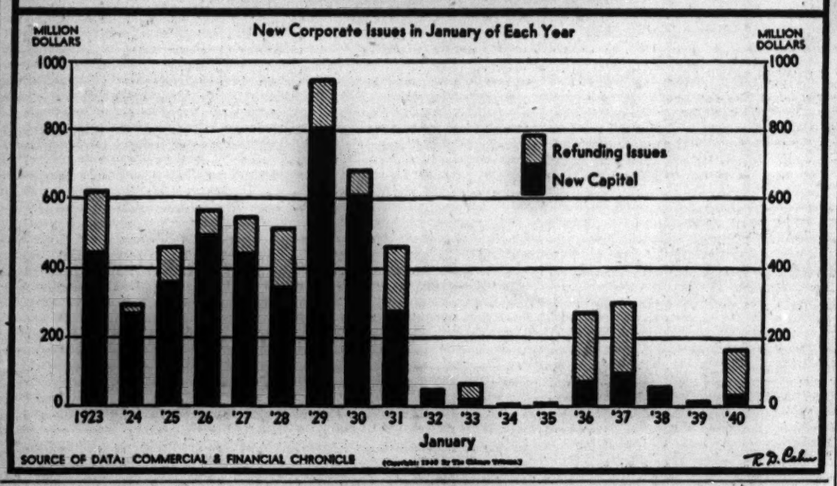
Jackson said subpenas had been issued directing 12 of the leading national producers of gypsum products to appear before a special grand jury here Monday. Those subpenaed were not named.

The investigation was prompted, he said, by numerous complaints that prices for gypsum had been "high, uniform and rigid for a period of many years" despite a decline in the prices of most other building materials during the depression.

Abbott Laboratories Sales 16 Pct. Above Year Ago

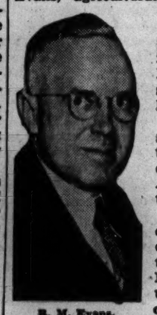
Sales of Abbott Laboratories last month increased 16 per cent from a year ago, James F. Stiles Jr., vice president and treasurer, announced yesterday. February business so far is also higher than a year ago, he said.

Addition to New Corporate Capital in January Totaled Only 32 Million Dollars



War Declared Destroyer of Farm Markets

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 23 (AP).—R. M. Evans, agricultural adjustment administrator, today sounded the keynote for the opening session of the National Farm institute here when he said:



R. M. Evans.

"War is destroying, rather than building foreign trade for American agriculture."

Others in the opening battery of speakers, notably Dr. J. D. Black, Harvard university economist, and Earl C. Smith of Chicago, vice president of the American Farm Bureau federation, came to about the same conclusion.

In his discussion of the need for smaller corn production this year, Evans declared, "it now seems clear that the one person in America who isn't going to profit from this war is the farmer." He cited expansion of arable land in belligerent countries, blockade, and rationing as indications that "the aim of this war is to starve and not to feed."

Views on War Effects.

Dr. Black told the institute that:

1. War-born inflation would cause a sudden general wage increase when our society has not yet digested the last one."

2. No great new outlet for farm products can be sighted even in 1942 if the war lasts that long.

3. A domestic allotment plan, under which surpluses are sold on the world level and the domestic quota at artificially maintained prices, is desirable for the success of a federal farm program.

Smith said the empires may be expected to use their dollar exchange to buy war materials in this country but "as far as possible will buy their food products elsewhere."

Urging full parity payments to farmers, Smith declared the "restoration of agriculture" is a greater fundamental to the welfare of the nation "than are armaments of any other character."

Advises Against Crop Increase.

"Certainly there is no present need to plant or breed another pound of grain, fiber, or meat because of any war orders in sight," Chester Davis, member of the federal reserve board of governors, said.

"American farmers haven't completed the adjustments made necessary by the last war," he contended. "If they expand their plantings in anticipation that higher prices and enlarged demand will result from this one, they will be headed for more trouble than this generation is going to be able to mop up."

INDICT EASTERN FIRMS, UNION IN MILLWORK QUIZ

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 23 (AP).—A federal grand jury investigating the millwork industry here today indicted 50 firms, associations, and individuals, including the president and nine other officers of an American Federation of Labor carpenters' international union, on charges of conspiracy to maintain high costs.

The investigation of the millwork industry was one phase of a general inquiry into the construction business in th Pittsburgh area. It is part of the government's nation-wide antitrust campaign. Millwor includes window sash, frames, and doors.

The jury previously had indicted 57 organizations and individuals in the electrical contracting industry who were fined for a conspiracy to defraud the government thru collusive bidding on public works projects.

Utility Would Sell More Property to Bonneville

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Sale of additional property to the Bonneville administrator was proposed to the federal power commission today by the West Coast Power company. It would sell a part of a 13,200 volt submarine cable in Clatsop county, Oregon, now used for transmitting electric energy from Westport, Ore., across the Columbia river into Washington state.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC DIPS AGAIN, DUE MAINLY TO WEATHER CONDITIONS

Declines in shipments of coal, less than carlot merchandise, and miscellaneous freight caused the second successive contra-seasonal drop in revenue freight loadings last week, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

A total of 607,924 cars was loaded during the week ended Feb. 17, the association said, a decrease of 18,979 cars, or 3 per cent, from the preceding week. Last week's total was 31,279 cars, or 5.4 per cent, more than a year ago, however.

The decline was attributed largely to shipping delays caused by unfavorable weather. The report showed changes from the week and a year ago as follows:

WALLACE TRIMS EARLY ESTIMATE ON SUGAR NEEDS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Secretary Wallace announced today a reduction in the agriculture department's estimate of American sugar requirements for 1940 from 6,725,100 short tons [as announced Dec. 29] to 6,607,745 tons.

This decrease of 117,355 tons, made under provisions of the sugar act of 1937, necessitated a reduction in marketing quotas of various producing areas.

Sugar division officials said a factor in the reduction was delivery of large supplies of sugar to the American market late in December while quotas had been temporarily suspended by President Roosevelt.

Foresee Higher Prices.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 23 (AP).—A spokesman for the Mountain States Beet Growers' Marketing association predicted today that action of Secretary Wallace in reducing American sugar requirements might lead to an increase in the price of sugar and a consequent boost in returns for producers.

Allege Hopson Firms Get Big Utility Profits

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—The federal power commission heard today that 18 service companies owned or controled by Howard C. Hopson, utility magnate, and members of his family, collected $11,000,000 of service charges from the Associated Gas and Electric utility system between 1934 to 1938. Government accountants estimated that of this amount the Hopson family received $4,000,000.

The testimony was given by Jeremiah J. Enright and Victor C. Gough, accountants, who prepared a voluminous report for the commission's investigation of fees made by the Hopson service companies to Associated Gas subsidiaries in Pennsylvania. The commission is endeavoring to learn the effect of the service company charges on the consuming public.

Vast Control Alleged.

Enright identified a chart which he said showed that the Hopson family owned or controled one-half of the huge Associated Gas system and all of the 18 service companies which served the subsidiary utility corporations. With the aid of the two accountants, Lambert McAllister, commission counsel, put into the record the 800 page report showing the intricate financial operations of the Hopson service companies.

Enright testified that the Public Utility Investing corporation, of Delaware, which provided investing and accounting service, collected a 40 per cent fee from the 17 other service companies on their gross revenues. He estimated Public Utility's income from this source for the five-year period 1934-'38 at $1,442,383.

Witnesses and counsel had difficulty keeping track of the various companies which frequently changed names in the course of the testimony.

Firm Has Several Names.

One service company which Enright said underwent a chameleon-like change of names was the Operating and Financial corporation, of Delaware. This was originally H. C. Hopson & Co., Inc., he said, and then became the Jones Operating and Financial corporation, the Jones Operating and Finance corporation, and finally dissolved in 1936 after collecting $777,294 of revenues between 1934 and 1936.

Altho this company provided engineering service, Enright said its bills went out on the letterhead of Edward J. Cheney, who was identified as an "employé." The accountant said Cheney had a contract under which he received one-half the gross profits of the company in addition to $1,000 a month. He estimated Cheney's income for the three year period, 1934-'36, at $210,890.

State Report Ruled Out.

An attempt by McAllister to put into the record a report submitted to the New York state joint legislative committee which investigated utilities in 1933 was blocked by an objection from C. E. Paxson of New York, attorney for Associated Gas Pennsylvania operating subsidiaries.

Examiner Frank A. Hampton sustained Paxson's objection, holding admission of such reports of state agencies would be "too grave a relaxation of the rules."

The hearing was recessed until March 4 despite objections from Paxson this was insufficient time to study the big report.

Hampton observed that "counsel undoubtedly is familiar with some of the contents" of the report.

"No," replied Paxson, "we never had access to these service company books."

"I believe he's right," broke in McAllister with a grin, "they haven't known what's been going on for some time."

STORES' SALES CLIMB 13.4 PCT. ABOVE YEAR AGO

Department store sales in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district increased 13.4 per cent over 1939 during the week ended Feb. 17, the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Trade in the four weeks ended the same date was 10.9 per cent higher than a year ago.

Chicago department store sales were slightly above the district average, recording a gain of 13.9 per cent. In the four weeks Chicago store's sales gained 12.2 per cent.

CONTAINER CO. EARNINGS SOAR FOR LAST YEAR

St. Joseph Lead Also Boosts Profit.

Container Corporation of America increased its profit in 1939 to $1,448,900 from $29,470 in 1938, the company reported yesterday in a summary of a printed report which will be made available in the next few days.

Last year's net income was equal to $1.85 a share of common stock, compared with 4 cents a share in the preceding year. Container corporation, which has executive offices in Chicago and plants in several states, is the largest domestic manufacturer of paperboard products. These include shipping containers and folding cartons.

St. Joseph Lead Earns More.

St. Joseph Lead company reported that its 1939 net income climbed to $5,292,907, equal to $2.70 a share, from $1,331,256, or 68 cents a share, in 1938.

Campbell, Wyant & Cannon Foundry company, a Michigan enterprise, returned to a profit basis last year, earning $321,379, equal to 93 cents a share on its capital stock. In 1938 the company had a net loss of $112,207.

Worthington Pump and Machinery corporation's 1939 net income rose to $816,706, equal, after a write-off of $134,838 for obsolete inventory and the annual dividend requirements on the preferred stock, to 52 cents a common share. The preferred stock is in arrears. In 1938 the company's profit was $29,711, with no earnings applicable to the common stock.

Electric Auto-Lite Earnings.

Electric Auto-Lite company announced it had net income of $5,653,839, equal to $4.72 a common share, compared with $1,836,149, or $1.53 a share, in 1938.

The 1939 earnings were the largest the company has had since 1929, when its profit was $10,514,369, equal to $11.37 a common share.

Mack Trucks, Inc., returned to a profit basis last year, the company's report on 1939 operations disclosed yesterday. Consolidated net income after charges amounted to $682,987, equal to $1.14 a common share. In the preceding year the company had a net loss of $929,171.

White Motor company estimated 1939 net profit at $100,000, against loss of $1,825,275 in 1938. A 1939 first half loss of $469,000 was more than offset in the last six months.

Lambert Earnings Smaller.

Lambert company, manufacturer of toilet preparations, reported a moderate decline in earnings. Its consolidated net income in 1939 was $1,261,836, equal to $1.69 a common share, compared with $1,277,798, or $1.71 a share in 1938.

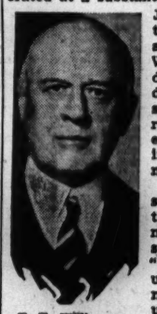
The National Industrial Conference board reported that combined profits of 228 industrial corporations in 1939 were $740,188,000, compared with $338,828,000 in 1938, an increase of 90 per cent. The board said the gain reflected the quickening of business as a result of the European war.

Week's Auto Production Rises to 102,670 Units

Automobile production this week was estimated yesterday by Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc., at 102,670 passenger cars and trucks, compared with 95,050 last week and 75,660 in the corresponding 1939 week. The increase, which was larger than seasonal, was attributed to consistently good retail sales of automobiles. Ward's lifted its February estimate to 380,000 cars and trucks.

N. Y. Central's Traffic Yields January Profit

The New York Central railroad operated at a substantial profit during January with traffic running at a good level, F. E. Williamson, president, said yesterday. Heads of several other carriers also reported improvement in business last month.



F. E. Williamson.

"The road was substantially 'in the black' last month," Williamson declared. "The current volume of traffic is not showing the usual seasonal advance, however, and the trend is uncertain. Traffic has been retarded considerably by storm conditions in the east. February operating results will not be as good as January on a daily basis because of higher operating expenses and also because of smaller freight car loadings."

Snows Aid Crop Outlook.

Recent heavy snows thruout much of the area served by the Santa Fe railway have materially improved the outlook for the wheat crop, declared E. J. Engel, president. Current traffic is at about the same level as a year ago, which is regarded as "a relatively good showing," Engel said.

January net income of $275,750, compared with net income of $45,179 in January last year, was reported by the Nickel Plate railroad. Operating revenues last month totaled $4,056,059, against $3,330,002 a year ago.

Lehigh Valley railroad had January net income of about $125,000, according to R. L. Williams, president. Net income in January, 1939, amounted to $36,000. February traffic has been at about the same level as that of last year, he said, altho officials of the road had expected a substantial increase. Williams said, however, that 1940 would be a "good year" for the road, depending on European conditions and whether the volume of export traffic increases.

Reading Earnings "Good."

Reading company showed "good earnings" during January, E. W. Scheer, president, reported. Traffic during February, however, had declined slightly from the level of recent weeks and had been retarded by storm conditions, he said.

Traffic of the Atlantic Coast line was materially affected by the recent severe cold weather extending deep into southern territory, George B. Elliott, president, reported. Movement of a substantial part of the citrus crop, which had to be replanted, will be delayed about six weeks, he said.

Boston and Maine and the Maine Central railroads both earned their fixed charges for January, E. S. French, president, said.

USE ORE FOUND BY MME. CURIE IN NEW SPARK PLUG

Akron, O., Feb. 23 (AP).—Perfection of a new spark plug utilizing polonium, substance dicovered by Mme. Curie, was announced today by Firestone Tire and Rubber company.

Use of electrodes containing polonium, which emits 4,000 times as many alpha rays a second as an equal amount of radium, gives the new plug ability to speed acceleration and operate more economically, the company said.

The technical explanation offered is that the alpha rays accomplish a breakdown which maintains the air between the negative and positive electrodes in a condition conducive to instant sparking.

COUNTY'S RAIL ASSESSMENTS LIFTED 5.5 PCT.

First Valuation Rise Since 1928.

Cook county railroad assessments for 1939 increased to $103,990,238, a gain of 5.5 per cent from the 1938 total of $98,588,214. This was announced yesterday by Charles K. Schwartz, chairman of the state tax commission, which has just completed the 1939 railroad assessment thruout the state.

Charles K. Schwartz.

The assessed values for the entire state in 1939 increased 3/10 of 1 per cent to a total of $347,526,471 from $346,230,900 in 1938.

The 1939 assessment marked the first time since 1928 that railroad valuations in Cook county have increased. Schwartz said factors influencing the gain were higher earnings and higher stock and bond prices for many of the railroads with properties in Cook county.

Considers Three Factors.

He explained that the commission in making the assessment considers three factors: earnings of the railroad, market value of its stocks and bonds, and physical value of the properties, based on valuations by the Interstate Commerce commission. Five year averages are used for earnings and securities' prices.

The Chicago Burlington and Quincy railroad had the highest valuation, $43,906,350, compared with $45,895,000 in 1938, when it also topped the list. In second place was the Illinois Central at $28,201,428, against $27,840,000 in 1938. Figures cover the roads' properties thruout the state.

Total railroad assessments outside of Cook county declined from $347,642,566 in 1938 to $243,536,233 in 1939. The drop was due largely to changes in equalization factors used by the commission in the various counties, commission officials said.

How Values Are Set.

The tax commission computes the full values of the properties in each county. It then arrives at the assessed values by equalizing the full values, multiplying by a percentage which it finds the local assessor uses for other types of property.

The policy of using the equalization factor found in each county was begun last year in order to put railroad property on the same tax basis as other taxable property in each county. Previously a flat rate of 37 per cent had been applied to full values to arrive at assessed values.

The full value of railroad properties in the state was $928,000,000 in 1939 compared with $948,600,000 in 1938. The assessment covers 78 steam and electric railroads. These include 31 class I steam railroads—those with

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—Stocks stepped downward today in half-hearted dealings notable chiefly for the absence of many traders from Wall street. Most of them had absented themselves from the exasperating market on the excuse that the Washington birthday holiday and Sunday were so close together that there wasn't much use of working the two intervening days. Offices in the financial district were, as a result, pretty well depopulated.

Even the few shares which had served as leaders in an attempt at an upswing earlier in the week dropped today from lack of interest.

Aside from the transfer of a few large blocks of Loft and Seaboard air line, both at lower prices, nothing much happened during the morning, and the rest of the day was even less active.

Transactions totaled 650,760 shares, compared with 782,850 yesterday. Gaps of as much as a minute elapsed between sales during part of the day.

Included in the downgrade list were United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Eastman, Sears-Roebuck, Anaconda, American Smelting, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas corporation, Pennsylvania railroad, New York Central, and Johns-Manville.

bonds.

Among the few which gained a bit were Fajardo Sugar, General Electric, Westinghouse, and Brooklyn and Queens Transit preferred.

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP).—The stock market overcame early irregularity today to finish on a firm price footing. New support was given government bonds.

Prices gave way after a steady opening on the Paris bourse. Uncertainty was created by speculation over government action regarding to recent rise in the cost of living.

Prices on the Amsterdam bourse were firm. American stocks improved thruout the session, but gains were small.

New York Bonds.

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—Persistent declines in rails unsettled the bond market today. Altho losses for most active issues were held to fractions, sizable drops in various loans were sufficiently numerous to give the list a definitely spotty appearance at the close.

Offerings in the rail group increased in the afternoon as a result of the weekly car loadings report of the American Association of Railroads showing a decline in loadings larger than had been expected. This situation was not helped any by statements of some rail executives, including Frederick E. Williamson, president of the New York Central, that he expected a tapering off in revenues soon.

A few foreign dollar loans likewise retreated readily under light offerings.

Chicago Stocks.

Zenith Radio shares rose ¾ point for the largest gain among the volume leaders on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. They closed at 16. Other active issues included Commonwealth Edison, which finished unchanged; Aviation and Transportation, unchanged; Chicago corporation, unchanged; Bendix, down ⅝; Armour & Co., down ¼, and Sundstrand Machine Tool, unchanged. Of the 101 issues traded, 42 were lower, 31 unchanged, and 28 higher.

Bank Stocks.

Northern Trust shares advanced 3 points in bank stock trading yesterday to a closing bid of 568. Continental Illinois gained ½ point to 89. First National shares declined 2 points to 243. Other issues were steady.

Darryl F. Zanuck sets up trust.

Darryl F. Zanuck, the motion picture producer, according to the summary, has transferred 30,000 shares of common stock of Twentieth Century-Fox Film company, of which he is a vice president, to irrevocable trusts under which his minor children are beneficiaries. The transfer, which was made in October, was not reported until Jan. 2.

Stock Quoted Around $12.

The common stock is currently quoted at around $12 a share. The gift leaves the film magnate with 93,130 shares of common stock in the movie company and 21,946 shares of $1.50 cumulative preferred.

Other important transactions reported to the commission for December included delivery of 11,000 common shares of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. by Pierre S. du Pont, chairman of the board, in payment of a loan. His direct holding was reduced to 86,094 shares.

William S. Knudsen, president of the General Motors corporation, sold 1,133 shares of common stock in the company, leaving his direct holdings at the end of the month at 8,669 shares.

Gift of Distillery Stock.

A gift of 49,990 common shares of Owings Mills Distillery was reported by Jacob J. Lansburgh, Baltimore. Lansburgh, who is president and a director of the enterprise, also sold 20,000 shares of the issue during the month, reducing his holdings to 17,550 shares.

John R. Morron, New York, a director of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, disposed of his holdings of 2,700 shares of preferred. He held 2,500 shares of common stock, however.

Charles W. Nash, Los Angeles, sold 10,000 shares of Nash-Kelvinator corporation $5 par common, leaving his holdings at 154,000. Nash is chairman of the board of the company.

Gift of Stock to College.

Another large gift, which was announced in December by attorneys for the estate of Clara A. Abbott, was also included in the report. The C. A. Abbott Trust gave away 20,730 shares of Abbott Laboratories common stock, currently quoted at about $69 a share, to the University of Chicago, Northwestern university and to other institutions.

Large corporation transfers included purchase of $1,665,000 of 4 per cent first mortgage bonds of Inspiration Consolidated Copper thru an exercise of rights by the Anaconda Copper Mining company. Tri-continental corporation canceled an option on 200,000 shares of Selected Industries, Inc., common stock and bought 2,500 shares of common.

FARMERS SELL LARGE AMOUNT OF LOAN WHEAT

Farmers who have large profits in the wheat pledged as security for government loans started to take them on a big scale yesterday. Hedging sales by elevator interests against the cash grain proved effective in bringing about a rather sharp reaction in the market after an early upturn of about 1⅜ cents, which carried the September delivery to a new high price for the season.

There was also liberal profit taking by speculators who had bought at lower prices, and altho the public was a liberal buyer, closing sales on the Chicago Board of Trade were well below the high point, with net gains of ¾ cent.

Corn prices held within narrow price limits and made a poor response to the firmness in wheat, closing ¼ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher. Export business was reported to be light.

September oats sold at a new high price for the season, with commission houses fair buyers. Closing trades were ⅛ to ⅝ cent higher. Rye finished ⅛ to 1 cent higher, the former on the May delivery. Reports of a better demand for soy bean meal at higher prices led to scattered buying of futures and the close was 1 to 1¼ cents higher.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Best grades of light hogs, which were scarce, maintained a steady price basis yesterday, while all other hogs lost the gains made in Thursday's lively session. Stock over 220 pounds fell fully 10 to 15 cents during the day, with some of the heaviest "lard hogs" as much as 20 cents under the best sales of the preceding day.

Most cattle offered were plain in quality and sold off 15 to 25 cents. A few good lots were steady. A feature of the trade was the sale of a part load of 790 pound yearlings at $12.25.

All interests gave the $10.00 top for lambs yesterday. Prices were fully steady with the preceding day.

[All prices are in dollars for 100 pounds.]

COTTON

Cotton markets were fairly active yesterday. Trading was featured by aggressive buying by spot firms, which carried the January delivery into new ground since the middle of last month. Liquidation by holders of March contracts restricted the upturn. Closing trades on futures were unchanged to .09 cent a pound higher.

Farmers were reported steady sellers of equities in 1938 loan cotton. Official returns indicated that there is about 3,355,000 bales held in the loan, a decrease of 268,000 bales during the preceding two weeks, and stocks are 557,000 bales less than on December 1.
